ESTABLISHED 17 YEARS.
ARTHUR CUBITT,
MISSING FRIENDS, NEXT OF KIN, AND PRIVATE INQUIRY OFFICE, BRIDGE-STREET, SYDNEY, N.S.W., desires to inform the public that his is the first establishment of the kind instituted for the above purpose in New South Wales, and that during
SEVENTEEN YEARS' EXPERIENCE
he has been instrumental in RESTORING MORE LOST FRIENDS and MISSING RELATIVES to their kith and kin than any other person in the colony.
HIS PRIVATE INQUIRIES have been attended with a large amount of success, arising out of business
FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.
Twenty-six years' residence and 17 years engaged in this occupation have secured to the advertiser
THAT LOCAL KNOWLEDGE and EXPERIENCE which cannot be enjoyed by those whose advent to this colony IS BUT AS YESTERDAY.
ARTHUR CUBITT would further intimate that he has no person representing his interests in Sydney, but CONTINUES TO RESIDE HERE, and to give all business HIS PERSONAL ATTENTION, thereby insuring between himself and clients
THAT CONFIDENTIAL RELIANCE not otherwise to be obtained, and which is at all times so desirable.
PRIVATE INQUIRIES cautiously conducted. CERTIFICATES obtained of Births, Deaths, and Marriages.

NOTES OF THE WEEK.

Two brothers, Duncan and Frank Reilly, were committed at the Mudgee police court to take their trial for robbing the bank at Coolah. The notes in their possession were identified, and their appearance corresponded in every way with the description given of the men who broke into the bank.

The Rev. James Jefferis, LL.B., who for many years officiated in Adelaide, has undertaken the pastorate of the Pitt-street Congregational Church in this city.

The Hon. G. A. Lloyd, Minister for Mines, was re-elected a member for Newcastle without opposition.

A meeting was held at the Exchange to consider the question of a bridge to connect the North Shore with Sydney.

Mr. L'Estrange, the Australian Blondin, made a successful experimental trip on his tight-rope across an inlet of Middle Harbour.

The Surry Hills Wesleyan Certified Denominational school, examined on March 29, manifests satisfactory progress amongst the scholars.

The drought has had a disastrous effect in the Bland and Cowal country, great numbers of cattle having perished from thirst, but in most other parts of the country abundant rain has fallen.

Sacred readings and a concert were given at the Victoria Theatre on Good Friday night. The members of the Sydney Musical Union performed Haydn's "Creation" on the same night in the Guild Hall.

Two remarkably clever pen and ink drawings by Mr. Sergeant, the photographer, a likeness of the late Archbishop Polding, and a scene from "Gil Blas," have been finished for the Intercolonial Exhibition.

A movement is on foot at Glen Innes for getting up a prize of £200 to be awarded to the proprietor of a model farm of 100 acres.

The yield of wheat in the Mudgee district is reported to be most satisfactory, the return being 50 bushel to the acre on Mr. Lawson's farm, and at an average of 20 bushels on an area of 306 acres belonging to Mr. Lee.

Richard Rylett, a carpenter and joiner, lately in the employ of Mr. Booth, Balmain, was accidentally killed on the railway near Liverpool, through being run over by the train.

Mr. Bachelder's interesting panorama of American scenery has made its second appearance in Sydney.

Nearly 4000 Volunteers took part in a review at Sunbury, Victoria, on April 2.

A nugget, containing £56 worth of gold, was found at Scabbing Flat, in the Bathurst district.

The sports and amusements on Easter Monday were attended by a large number of people. The weather was very fine.

A man named Ward was apprehended in the city, in whose possession was found twenty imitations of the £5-note of the Australian Joint Stock Bank.

The Court of Quarter Sessions opened at Darlinghurst on April 3, by Mr. District Court Judge Dowling, with a list of 65 cases for trial.

The Hon. Richard Driver, Minister for Lands, was elected unopposed, a member of the Legislative Assembly for the electorate of Windsor.

The Hon. F. B. Suttor, Minister of Justice and Public Instruction, was elected unopposed, to the Assembly for the Bathurst electorate.

Baron F. von Mueller has completed his descriptive notes of the plants collected last year in New Guinea by Signor D'Albertis and Mr. Goldie. It appears that some of the vegetation of that country is identical with that of Australia.

The annual yearling sales were held at the Randwick Racecourse on April 3. The result was considered satisfactory. The Bay colt Roo' Dee, the property of the Hon. E. K. Cox, was sold to the Hon. J. White for 1150 guineas.

There has been a splendid fruit season at Braidwood, but for want of a market a large part of the crop has been left to rot on the ground, or used to feed pigs. Grapes were hawked at 2d. per lb., apples at a few pence per bushel, and the best plums at 1s. 6d. and 2s. per bushel. A fruit-preserving factory is recommended to be established in the locality.

The extension of the Great Western Railway from Blayney to Orange will be opened on the 24th instant.

A boy, about four years of age, fell into deep water near Dawes' Point baths, and would have been drowned but for the assistance rendered by Mr. Kevin, assistant training-master at Fort-street school, who plunged into the water without divesting himself of his clothes.

During the month of March, 3081 dinners, and shelter in 2025 instances, were given to destitute persons at the City Night Refuge. Situations were obtained for twenty-five persons, and various assistance rendered to others.

A fire broke out on the premises of Mr. Hardy, Barcom Glen-street, caused by the children igniting the bed curtains, but it was extinguished by the inmates before much damage was done.

The monthly meeting of the Horticultural Society was held on April 4. There was a good collection of plants, but a small attendance of members.

The Government offers a reward of £25 for the discovery of the incendiary who burned Mr. Long's wheat and shed at Stringybark.

The Government offers a reward of £50 for information leading to the arrest of Alfred Engstrom, charged with murder.

There was a service of sacred song in Pitt-street Congregational Church on April 5. The Rev. James Jefferis, LL.B., the pastor of the church, presided.

The Hon. Mr. Hoskins, Secretary for Public Works, was re-elected to Parliament for Tumut without opposition.

The foundation-stone of a new Public school building was laid in Moama, on April 5, by Mr. George Maunsell. Moama has hitherto been chiefly indebted to Melbourne for educational assistance.

CUSTOM-HOUSE.—Entered Outwards, April 6: Macedon (s.), 532 tons, Captain Stanford, for Melbourne; Metaris, barque, 500 tons, Captain Lyons, for South Sea Islands; City of Adelaide (s.), 824 tons, Captain Walker, for Melbourne; Noumea, schooner, 144 tons, Captain Scaplehorn, for Noumea; James Paterson (s.), 387 tons, Captain Wynn, for Rockhampton.

The Wentworth (s.), for New Caledonia, and You Yangs (s.), for Melbourne, left the port yesterday afternoon.

The clipper ship Thermopylæ, whose success as a sailing vessel has completely eclipsed everything afloat, arrived yesterday from Melbourne, whence she took her departure on the 2nd instant, making as usual a splendid run up the coast. She will load a cargo of coal, and from this port proceeds to Shanghai.

The Tasman (s.) left Hobart Town at 6.25 p.m. on the 3rd instant, passed Cape Barron at 6 p.m. on the 4th, and arrived in Sydney at 10 a.m. on the 6th. Experienced strong westerly winds and heavy sea to Cape Howe, and from thence light southerly airs.

THE REPORTED WRECK AT THE LACEPEDE ISLANDS.—Concerning the wrecks at the Lacepede Islands, Messrs. L. A. Manning and Co., the agents of the Merchant Shipping and Underwriters' Association at Fremantle, telegraph to the effect that the Cingalee, Helen Malcolm, Aboyne, Albert Victor, and Isabella were all totally wrecked at the islands in a hurricane which visited the locality on 18th February. The Mary Smith was also driven on shore, but was expected to be got off again at the next full tide. Mrs. Swan, her two children, the carpenter, and two boys, were drowned, but all the rest were saved, and taken on to Fremantle in the Prince Arthur. The Emily and the Amur slipped anchors and put to sea, where they probably rode out the hurricane in safety.

The following is a list of the passengers, per R. M. S. Zealandia, to San Francisco, leaving this afternoon:—Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson, Miss H. C. Thompson, Mr. G. E. Thompson, Dr. and Mrs. George Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. James Primmer, Miss M. E. Jebb, Miss A. Jebb, Mr. C. W. Jebb, Rev. W. Henderson, Mr. H. Levin, Mr. F. M. Cartwright, Rev. C. E. Eleum, Messrs. M. Fane, Charles Perry, E. Gwynn, Rev. R. S. Philpot, Mr. R. P. Davys, Mr. P. R. Bell, Rev. W. Rice, Rev. J. Nelan, Mr. C. Wade Browne, Dr. Goode, R.N., Messrs. G. Child, J. Matthew, D. Gibson, H. R. C. Wallace, W. Sedgwick, David Gibson, and 82 in the steerage. For Auckland: Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Stewart, Messrs. E. Stone, A. Benos, W. P. Wood. For Kandavu: Mr. W. F. Parr and Mr. A. J. Swann.

The Easby (s.), from the southern ports of New Zealand, arrived at Newcastle on the 4th instant, after a good passage of five days eight hours from Wellington. Passengers—Mrs. and Miss Patterson, Mr. Miller, and 26 in the steerage. Cargo: 800 sacks bran, 5 tons scrap iron, 9 cases cheese, 85 casks resin, and sundries. We are indebted to Captain Anderson for forwarding our files to Sydney.

The Macedon (s.) cleared Port Phillip Heads at 7 p.m on the 3rd instant; passed Wilson's Promontory at 5.20 a.m. on the 4th; Gabo Island at 1.45 a.m. on the 5th; and entered Sydney Heads at 1 a.m. on the 6th. Experienced moderate variable winds to Gabo, and from thence strong southerly breezes. Passed the Barrabool (s.) at 6 p.m. on the 4th instant, 80 miles S. W. of Gabo Island.

The ship Inch Kenneth, from Glasgow, reports:—Left Greenock on January 9, cleared the Channel and took departure from Mine Head on January 12, at 4 p.m. Experienced strong head winds and bad weather as far as 40° north latitude, which was not reached until January 22; thence to 5° north (when the trade wind was lost) strong to moderate north-east, east, and south-east winds. Crossed the equator on February 8, in longitude 27·30 west; passed the meridian of the Cape of Good Hope on March 7, in latitude 48° south, upon which parallel the easting was made, with most propitious winds and beautiful weather. Made Cape Wickham, King Island, March 30, being then 79 days from Greenock, since when little else than head winds have been contended with; worked through Bass's Straits, passing out between Beagle Reef and Craggy Island; on the coast as far as 35·30 south strong north winds, with a southerly current, when the wind changed to the southward, bringing the ship to the heads at 9 p.m. on the 5th, 84 days from the Channel.

PREVENTION OF COLLISIONS AT SEA.—At a meeting of the Inventors Institute lately, a paper was read on the above subject by Mr. F. Nickholl, C.E., who said that generally when a collision was to be avoided, one vessel waited to see what the other was going to do; but it should be remembered that two vessels in approaching each other at a rate of 15 knots per hour travelled a mile within two minutes. Collisions were caused by this hesitancy, and he had invented a plan by which, if the ship put her helm a-starboard, her masthead light would be altered from white to green, and that if the helm were ported, the light would be altered to red. He had also a day indicator, which worked equally well in showing what was done with the helm of each approaching vessel. The invention was illustrated by a model, which showed clearly what the inventor meant. The paper was spoken of in the highest terms by Admiral Selwyn and others.

The Sydney Morning Herald.

SATURDAY, APRIL 7, 1877.

IT is natural and very proper that in the Australian colonies, where small populations are engaged in the work of settling and developing the resources of large territories, there should be some curiosity about the methods employed in other new countries under similar conditions. It would perhaps be well if a deeper and a more practical interest were taken in inquiries bearing upon such matters, and if the influence of old associations and traditions which lead to too close an adherence to the practices of the old world were somewhat weaker. It is not to be taken for granted that upon every question of railway engineering, for instance where English and American systems differ, the American must necessarily be the better, or even the better adapted for Australian purposes. But it is just as true that the American practice should not be viewed with doubt or suspicion simply because it differs from the English. Reports, more or less formal, on the peculiarities of American railway construction, have appeared from time to time in the Australian colonies; and whilst there have been indications that the professional official mind has discerned comparatively little worthy of adoption here, non-professional observers have been confident in their assertions that the American example might be followed in Australia with advantage. The latest report of the latter class is that submitted by Mr. ANGUS MACKAY, the late Commissioner for Queensland at the Philadelphia Exhibition, as the substance of experience gained and ideas formed, on railway and bridge building, during his recent visits to the United States and Canada.

Mr. MACKAY, as a Queenslander, was familiar with the sight and working of narrow-gauge railways; but it is well known that, although the experiment of adopting a 3 feet 6 inch gauge has been tried in Queensland, it has not been tried under altogether favourable conditions. Mr. MACKAY furnishes particulars respecting several narrow lines in the United States and Canada, and considers that he has given evidence enough to show that better railways than those of Queensland are built, and maintained there for much less money. However satisfactory the evidence may be upon the question of first cost, no materials whatever are given for a judgment upon the questions of maintenance and working expenses. But these are points that are essential in the comparison of high-cost with low-cost systems of construction; and the value of Mr. MACKAY's report is, therefore, seriously lessened by its defectiveness in this respect.

Mr. MACKAY says that in Colorado, Utah, and Canada, low-cost railways are quite common; but that, except when they are feeders, they are out of the way of ordinary lines of travel. And this is the reason he supposes why persons "of presumed skill" sent out to report on such works, seem to have missed those which appeared to him most suitable for Australia. There is an evident reference here to the recent report by Mr. HIGINBOTHAM, the Engineer-in-chief of Railways in Victoria, who has not described some of the lines which Mr. MACKAY notices. But it is to be observed that Mr. HIGINBOTHAM, when referring to such of the narrow gauge low-cost lines as came within his observation, furnishes information upon points materially affecting the issue which is not to be found in the paper before us. Mr. MACKAY, however, is not an engineer, and, although his letter states many facts of interest, he hardly appears to have grasped the complex conditions of the railway problem, and has naturally failed to supply an exhaustive or conclusive solution.

One of the out-of-the-way lines he describes is the Santa Cruz and Felton Railway in California. It follows the bends and windings of the mountain sides through a country which he appears to consider at least as wild and dangerous as any part of the Queensland Main Range Railway. It crosses fearful chasms on trestles; it has been cut for a considerable distance out of the face of a granite precipice; in laying out some part of it the surveyor had to be let down by ropes, and to scarp away a shelf in the precipice in order to get standing room for his instrument. The survey expenses made up 6½ per cent. of the entire cost of the work. But the total cost was less than £3000 per mile. The gauge is 3 feet. The line is worked by an engine weighing, with tender and all, 12 tons. When Mr. MACKAY travelled upon it, there had been a fortnight's rain, and the first trip was made upon rails coated with ice and greasy clay; but with a steam pressure of 90 lbs. the load a construction train, carrying men and materials (weight unspecified), was drawn at a speed of ten miles per hour. The engines, which are capable of taking 50 tons up gradients of 1 in 30, and with an actual rise of 120 feet in a mile, cost £1160; platform goods trucks cost £90; closed-in goods trucks, £100; and passenger cars, 25 feet long, £630. Turn tables cost £20.

The Monterey and Salinas line cost £2400 per mile, "all over." The rolling stock upon it is rather heavier and more costly than on the Felton line; the engines weighing, with their tenders, 20 tons. The Denver and Rio Grande line was described to Mr. MACKAY by an engineer as being "as solid as a church," both in construction and financially. Mr. MACKAY himself speaks of it as being far superior to the lines running from Brisbane. Its cost, including all buildings and appliances for a heavier business than that of Queensland, was under £3000 per mile. The road is filled in with stone obtained on the spot; the rails weigh 30 lbs. to the yard, but, with a sufficiency of sleepers, make a solid road. The engines weigh from 10 to 16 tons; the passenger cars, seated for 34 persons, 8 tons; the goods trucks, 2 to 3 tons, and carry from 5 to 8. It may be well to remark that of this very line Mr. HIGINBOTHAM was told that no dividend had been paid; that all the earnings above expenses were being laid out in improving it; and that when he saw it, the rails, evidently too light, were wearing out very fast, though the line had been only two years open. The Toronto and Bruce Railway, in Canada, is briefly mentioned by Mr. MACKAY as a 3 feet 6 inches line, through a rough trying country, and constructed at a cost of £2500 per mile. Mr. HIGINBOTHAM did not describe this line in his report, deeming that a description of the Toronto and Nipissing Railway, constructed by the same engineer, and on the same principles, would suffice for both. He gives the cost, including rolling-stock, &c., at £3700 per mile, and states that the experience of a year and a half's working had convinced even the most earnest advocates of the cheap system, that the saving in first construction in this case had been a false economy.

There are other features of interest in Mr. MACKAY's report, but we must defer our notice of them to a future issue.

IN the addresses and speeches of Ministers on their re-election there is no reference to any intention to place the ordinary revenue of the country upon an adequate and satisfactory basis. If it be important that the present surplus should be better used than by lending it to the banks, it is equally important that future income from the extraordinary demand for land now existing in the colony should be reproductively invested, and not thrown into the general account. According to Mr. STUART's estimate we expect the land revenue to reach the enormous sum of two and a half millions for the present year, and the gross taxation of the colony not to exceed a million and a quarter. The mere statement of these facts is enough to show that this is an abnormal condition of things, and wise statesmen would take the opportunity of our easy circumstances to introduce gradually a system of taxation sufficient to meet the general cost of government, based upon those maxims of political economy which modern criticism has established as axioms, and susceptible of application to the young life of this country more easily than in any other part of the world. We have attempted several times to make our readers acquainted with the financial condition of other countries in comparison with our own, both for the sake of warning and example, and in this article we propose to analyse and classify the revenues of France and England for the purpose of assisting our public men to deal with the financial problems of this country in the light of competent information.

Our readers are already aware that the revenue of France for the current year is the most extraordinary in the whole history of that nation. At a time when her hereditary foemen expected her to be bankrupt she has shown an elasticity of resource perfectly marvellous. In 1869, the year before the war with Germany, her revenue was only £73,885,404; about the same as that of the United Kingdom for the same year. But after paying four hundred millions of war expenses and losing two of her richest provinces France is raising this year, and raising without distress, half as much again as she did in 1869, and half as much again as England is raising for the current year. Such an extraordinary state of things is worthy the attention of all financiers, and of none more than our own, who have the singular felicity of being able to initiate a financial policy almost de novo, with all the experiments of the world at their command.

In the subjoined table we give the particulars of the French revenue so far as they have come to hand. We have arranged them under appropriate heads for the sake of comparison with the United Kingdom, and with New South Wales. In the case of England, the revenue is the actual one for 1876, as published in the Gazette; for France and for this colony, it is the official estimate for 1877. It is difficult to make a close comparison between revenues so differently raised; but we have made the classification as near as we could, and it is close enough for all practical purposes.

Taxation per head of population: France, £2 11s. 2d.; England, £1 19s. 5d.; New South Wales, £2 0s. 8d.

Nearly one-fourth of the revenue of France is derived from the tax on land and its sale, chiefly owing to the modern law of succession, another proof of the extent to which the soil of France is passing into the hands of the people. The fees on registration and mortgage alone are estimated to yield no less a sum this year than £18,655,160. This is one way in which the "unearned increment" in the value of landed property arising from the general progress of society may be shared by the public without confiscation and without invoking direct legislation. Some of the other forms of taxation are very objectionable and would not be resorted to by sound political economists. The door and window tax is a tax on air and light and almost deserves to be designated barbarous. It is not very long since the window-tax was abolished in England; but since then sanitary science has made such rapid advances that not a sane man in the country could be found capable of proposing the reimposition of such a tax, not even if the kingdom were on the brink of bankruptcy. The personal tax, and the impost on income from personal property, yield nearly four millions to the French revenue—a little less than the property and income taxes together yield in England. Formerly there was a capitation tax levied at the rate of three days' service to the State from each citizen, for which the present personal tax is a substitute. The amount raised by excise on alcoholic drinks is £15,115,560, a very large amount when it is considered that the native light wines are the ordinary beverage of the people. It amounts to 8s. 6d. per head of the whole population of France, though that is less than half the proportionate amount yielded to the revenue from this source through the Customs in New South Wales. The yield of the duty on tobacco also seems enormous—twelve and a-half millions, or nearly one-eighth of the whole revenue. As compared with England, the great mother of "ships, colonies, and commerce," it is worth noting that France derives nearly one million sterling from her one colony of Algeria. We may be thankful that England does not desire to make her colonies a direct source of revenue, but leaves us to spend our own taxes by vote of our own Parliaments. That we should also have left us in the uncontrolled possession of this great continent with no restrictions on the sale of the public estate is an instance of liberality which probably no other country in the world would have equalled.

A comparison of our revenue with the figures given above for France and England, shows that we are dependent upon a very few items of taxation, and far too dependent upon the public estate. The fiscal policy of France is capable of great improvement, and no doubt will be improved when the enormous war debt has been brought within bounds. We need not imitate the objectionable features of it, for we have no war debt, and are not likely to have for a long time to come. But we do need a little more variety in our system of taxation, and we require it to be made capable of expansion when the abnormal land revenue can be relied upon no longer. As our local taxation is comparatively insignificant, we are about the lightest taxed people in the world, notwithstanding the immense area which has to be governed by so small a population. It is true we have to build cities, make roads, and construct all the other works which civilized life requires, and such as Europe has been thousands of years in creating. But, on the other hand, we are free from the war debts and other burdens which Europe has accumulated in the past, and the balance of advantage is greatly on our side. It is something to know in what that advantage consists; it is still more important to be able to make a timely and wise use of it for accelerating the progress of the colony.

DISTRICT COURT.—A number of undefended cases were disposed of at the District Court, yesterday, by Mr. District Court Judge Wilkinson. The following is the business paper for Monday, April 9: Hardy v. Brown, Hardy v. Quinn, Cook v. Miller, Cook v. Sadler, Riley v. Donohoe, Wheatley v. Pauley, Mannix v. Penny, Mannix v. Walker, O'Toole v. Bruce, Bethel v. Sutherland, Haswell v. Perrott, Haswell v. Brown, O'Brien v. Willis, Simcoe v. M'Beath, Hollingdale v. Jackson, Municipality of Waterloo v. Powell, Municipality of Waterloo v. Kimber, Borough of Woollahra v. Hayes, Emanuel and another v. Holmes, Symons v. Knight, Keating v. Simpson, Farrell v. M'Kean, Farrell v. Wilson, Summerfield v. Lahiff.

QUARTER SESSIONS CASES.—Yesterday forenoon, the chairman of the sessions (Mr. Dowling) made known to the jury which had just been empanelled the unwelcome intelligence that their services were to be required for several days. There had been seventy cases sent for trial to the present sessions, and although the work had been got through as speedily as possible, there had yet to be tried some forty-six cases.

ARRIVALS DURING THE PAST WEEK.—During the last seven days the arrivals from intercolonial ports, as well as those from ports other than Australian, have been more than usually numerous, and include three fine vessels from England, the British Monarch, the Brish Peer, and the Inch Kenneth, exclusive of the Escurt, Ocean Gem, and J. S. Stone, from America, with Canadian and American goods for our Exhibition. The barque Jubilee, also from England, came in during the week. The passenger traffic on board steamers from Melbourne and Queensland ports has been very great, as the following will show:—From Melbourne, the steamers Wotonga, You Yangs, City of Melbourne, City of Adelaide, and the Macedon, brought to Sydney no less than 350 passengers, exclusive of children; the Alexandra, Boomerang, Egmont, Lady Bowen, and James Paterson, conveyed from Queensland ports 156 passengers, exclusive of children. The Thermopylæ, from Melbourne, entered yesterday morning, and the arrivals of barques and schooners from Melbourne, Adelaide, and from Tasmania, have reached more than the ordinary number in the same period.

ST. ANDREW'S CATHEDRAL.—Order of musical service for first Sunday after Easter, 8th April:—Magnificat, Attwood in C; Nunc Dimittis, Attwood in C; Anthem, "Christ is risen from the dead," G. J. Elvey.

THE PROTECTION OF GAME.—A correspondent at Yass writes in a condemnatory tone of the wanton destruction of game, which he says is going on in the colony for the want of a proper Act to protect birds during a portion of the year. The Act that expired in January last year did not, in his opinion, meet all requirements, inasmuch as the close season should not be made to commence at the same time in all cases. He suggests that every sportsman having a firearm should pay a license, and that youths under the age of seventeen years should not be allowed to have firearms unless in company with an adult, because of the many fatal accidents resulting from a careless use of them; and he also is strongly of opinion that shooting on Sunday should be strictly prohibited. The writer concludes by hoping that in the next Game Act the features he has indicated will be embodied.

KEEPERS OF DISORDERLY HOUSES.—The police of the Central Metropolitan Division are making strenuous efforts on behalf of public morality, to root out the houses of ill-fame, or of a disorderly character throughout the city, which have come so prominently under their (the police) notice as to afford, with the assistance of honest neighbours, a probability of securing a conviction of the keepers of such houses. On Thursday one woman, residing in Foxlow-place, was convicted as a keeper of a disorderly house, and yesterday the keeper of a house of like character in Castlereagh-street, was brought up, convicted, and sentenced to six months' hard labour in Darlinghurst gaol. The jury in the last mentioned case, through their foreman, said, "We commend the police for their efforts to root out such hot-beds of vice." At the present sessions there are yet to come on for trial three cases of a similar character.

NEW ZEALAND.—From Southern papers to the 29th March we take the following items:—The annual meeting of members of the Wellington Chamber of Commerce was held on the 28th, and the report discloses a highly satisfactory condition of affairs. The institution itself is in a most flourishing condition, not only as regards financial resources and a goodly list of members, but as having on more than one occasion been in a position to do the work which it is the privilege, and which it should be the duty, of such institutions to effect.—A lunatic inquiry, the first of its kind at Christchurch, came before his Honor Mr. Justice Johnston and a jury. It was an inquiry into the sanity or otherwise of William Arthur Gray, an inmate of the Sunnyside Asylum, who contends, despite medical testimony, that he is sane. The jury decided he was not fit to be at large, and it was agreed he should be confined in a private asylum. Mr. William Hooper, late editor of the Temperance Times, Dunedin, intends prosecuting that paper for libel if an apology be not made.—A Gazette extraordinary further prorogues Parliament till the 15th June; but nothing is said about meeting for the dispatch of business.—The Moanatairi claim at Grahamstown is turning out wonderfully rich; the Times telegram, dated March 27, states that the yield was 6164 oz. smelted gold; 500 cwt. specimens were brought in. This morning fifteen cwt. was broken down, one stone weighing about 50 lbs. being enormously rich, and estimated to be about half gold.—A rumour is current in Dunedin that Sir Dillon Bell and Mr. Pearce are to be called to the Legislative Council.—With respect to the white fish recently imported we believe Dr. Hector has received a letter from Dr. Farr, of Christchurch, reporting the total loss of the shipment sent to Canterbury to be hatched out.—When Mr. Severn delivered his science lectures in Auckland, the Board of Education there paid entrance money for their pupil-teachers, and the teachers themselves a nominal sum, so that the whole series cost to them not quite one penny a lecture.—The great native meeting between the Native Minister and Rewi Maniapoto (Manga) and the Queen and King natives of Taupo and Ngaruawahia tribes was concluded on March 25, with results which will take time to develop, but which must be deemed satisfactory as eliciting the intentions and views of the numerous and influential Ngatiraukawa tribes regarding their attitude towards the King party and the opening up and development of the interior of the North Island.

MORE ENGLISH SONGSTERS.—The efforts of Mr. W. Bradley and some friends to promote the acclimatisation of feathered warblers common to the old country have added another batch of birds to those previously liberated. A number of goldfinches and linnets received from New Zealand were liberated on Good Friday at Randwick, and have since been seen or heard in the neighbourhood.

EXPORTATION OF LOAFERS.—Yesterday's Echo has the following:—"Now that four shiploads of emigrants are announced, we hear from some quarters a cry that men are out of work, and cannot obtain it. It is perfectly true that there are persons to whom this description applies, and it is likely to remain true as long as they remain in Sydney. [illegible] light, or the distance from town has been too far for them. [illegible] the streets, lounge on the seats of the Park and the Domain, and do their best to create the [illegible] that the labour market is glutted, and that there is no work to secure. We might import 60,000 well-selected emigrants, [illegible] and yet the familiar faces would be seen in their old haunts. The Americans, in their elegant idiom, call men of this class 'bummers,' and a 'bummer' is defined as a man who outwardly is calling out for work and inwardly praying that he may never find it. But the Americans are good taskmasters, and understand better than Englishmen, or Canadians, or Australians how to handle this class of people. The Government [illegible] a stroke of business if they could [illegible] a return freight to one of the American emigrant ships. Next to the benefit of importing two hundred men, willing as well as able to work, would be the benefit of exporting two hundred able men unwilling to work. All commerce is reciprocity, and it would be a great thing [illegible] in surplus, is the true exchange in trade. [illegible] and it would certainly be a great relief if we could [illegible] for hard labour, find it difficult to fit them [illegible] There are doubtless some cases where [illegible] and there can be no doubt that the colony is [illegible] supplied with men to whom a fair day's work is [illegible] abhorrent."

ROWDYISM AT PETERSHAM.—A lady living at Parramatta Road, writes complaining that on last Sunday afternoon the neighbourhood she lives in was the scene of unusual riot. A number of roughs, she says, congregated there for at least two hours, and in the absence of policemen during the whole of that time, their proceedings culminated with a pitched battle in a paddock near between two of the biggest of them, [illegible] a large number of women and children is concerned a policeman or two sent in their direction would be of great service [illegible]

TASMANIAN COMMISSIONER TO THE EXHIBITION.—Mr. T. C. Just, one of the Commissioners appointed by the Government to represent Tasmania at the forthcoming Exhibition, arrived in Sydney by the City of Adelaide (s.), on the 5th instant.

SPELLING REFORM.—A correspondent at Randwick suggests that in view of the efforts made in England for the introduction of a new system of orthography, some steps for the sake of saving time and trouble should be taken here in the same direction. Unfortunately, although the writer may fancy he has discovered a fault, he does not submit a substantial remedy beyond those that have been tried with but small general success.

FATAL BOAT ACCIDENT. — About 7 o'clock on Thursday evening, Mr. Twemlow, dentist, residing at Figtree Point, Middle Harbour, was proceeding in a boat with an assistant, named Henry Homer Ellis, when a heavy roller-wave capsized the boat midway between the Lightship and Middle Head. Ellis was pitched into the water and was not afterwards seen. Twemlow stuck to the boat, which filled, but did not sink. By great exertion he succeeded in loosening a bag of potatoes, which remained in the boat after she had turned over. The boat then drifted slowly to Dobroyd Beach. This occupied about two hours, during which time Twemlow was immersed in the water up to his middle. The Water Police were yesterday for a long time in search of Ellis, but could see no signs of him, and there is no doubt that he has been drowned.

THE S. A. S. CLUB.—The monthly meeting of the Sydney Amateur Sailing Club was held at the Exchange Hotel last night, when Mr. F. Thomas occupied the chair. After the minutes of the previous meeting were confirmed, Messrs. David Solomon and E. G. Sayers were elected members, and four new names submitted for membership. The treasurer reported that since the last meeting a collector appointed to gather subscriptions had met with tolerable success, and the funds of the club were in a prosperous condition. Nine members who refused to pay further subscriptions had their names struck off the list. The principal feature of the meeting was the handing over of Messrs. Lamb and Fairfax's cup trophy, to Mr. Robert Moodie of the Lottie, who won the first-class race on the 3rd ultimo. The prize, a very handsome affair, was received by the winner with graceful terms. It was then resolved that before the closing of the season races should be held on the 21st instant, first and second class boats competing for club trophies, and third-class boats for a prize guaranteed by a member of the club. Mr. J. Macdonald was elected secretary, Mr. H. Stevens a member of the sailing committee, and Mr. R. Moodie a member of the managing committee, to fill vacancies in those offices caused by the resignation of Mr. W. Johnson.

A "CANNY" SCOT.—The prosecutor in a case heard yesterday, where two women were charged with stealing from the person, was a seaman by profession, who had been some two years a gold miner, and who, judging from his speech, had evidently come originally from the "land of brown heath and shaggy wood." His examination and evidence caused a good deal of amusement. The money stolen from him was contained in what prosecutor called a "purse," but it was a pouch of such dimensions that the Judge (when it was produced in Court), looked incredulous and said that it seemed to him to be more like a lady's reticule. Judge: "How came it that you carried about with you such a large purse?" Prosecutor: "Jest because I waud aye be sure that I could ne'er fill't." Judge to prosecutor (who had expressed his joy at having recovered the pouch, which he evidently looked upon as an old friend) —"Where did you get the purse?" Prosecutor: "I bocht it in Princes-street, E'mbro'." Being cross-examined by the two women, prosecutor gave them some hard hits, of which the following are specimens, after the proverbial style of Poor Richard, or Martin Tupper:—"Ye're better luking than ye're weel doing" (to one of the women); and to another, "I met you mair by ill luck than by guid guidance." He attributed his misfortune in some measure to his having partaken "o' that teetotaller's drink—'hawf-an-hawf.'" He confessed that his cherished pouch had been in jeopardy once before, and only recently, when he was in Auckland, New Zealand, when £17 were stolen from him.

THE THIRD DAY OF THE COMBINATION CRICKET MATCH.—The Argus of Wednesday says: The Australian team fully justified yesterday the expectation that they would show courageous and determined play in the second innings. The success they met with was due chiefly to the excellent commencement made by Gregory and Thompson. For the first two men to stay in until they got 88 runs was by no means a commonplace achievement. Hitherto Gregory has certainly not done himself justice. For so good a batsman to hold back until the last moment of the innings, as he did, not only on Saturday, but the first match, was an act of modesty which almost amounted to a sacrifice. Though his defence was somewhat rough, his hitting was excellent. Thompson and he took all the life out of the bowlers. It only remained for vigorous hitters to go in and complete the work they began. For a time the score promised to rise not merely to 200, but to 300. Bannerman found three of the bowlers fagged, and proceeded to cripple. Such magnificent hitting as he treated the spectators to for about a quarter of an hour has seldom been seen anywhere. But Lillywhite then brought forth Ulyett, the finger-splitter, and Bannerman succumbed. Though, perhaps, not aware of it himself, it was evident to a large number of onlookers that he has not yet got over the effects of the late painful blow. The rashness with which he launched out at the first ball from Ulyett hardly commended itself to approval. It was all very well to say the ball should have gone for five, but to us it seemed that Bannerman trusted to his luck in preference to his nerve. Some first-class play was shown by Kelly, whose score consisted almost entirely of 4's. Midwinter played in fetters. No doubt he thought he should best serve the cause by steadiness, but he cramped his play too much. At the time he was put out the light was bad. As the game stands at present, the Australian team have 68 runs to the good, and three wickets to fall. Lillywhite and Southerton proved to be the most successful bowlers. Comparatively few runs were scored off Shaw, but he had no success. The Englishmen fielded excellently, if we overlook a few lapses. If they had not been as nimble and watchful at the close as they were at the commencement, the score must have reached 250. The two who most distinguished themselves were Greenwood and Charlwood. The latter deprived Gregory of the satisfaction of getting even one run for what he considered one of the finest off-drives he ever made in his life.

AN ARTESIAN WELL.—The Timaru Herald gives a description of an artesian well which has been bored through the solid rock underlying the clayey soil of Timaru with success. Mr. Yardley has a shaft on his premises at the edge of the cliff, 26 feet deep, with a tunnel on a level with the bottom of the railway extending to the face of the cliff. In the portion of the tunnel underneath the shaft, he dug a well 30 feet deep, the bottom being the solid rock. Through this rock he bored for 46 feet—the last 16 feet of which was alternately porous bluestone and red sandstone. When this depth had been bored the water gushed up so quickly that it rose a distance of 61 feet 6 inches in twenty minutes, or a distance of 15 feet 6 inches up the well, the distance from the top of the water to the level of the tunnel and railway being 14 feet 6 inches. The depth of the whole sinking is thus 102 feet from the surface of the cliff, and the water rises to within 40 feet 6 inches of the top of the cliff. The water is perfectly clear, and entirely free from brackishness and altogether pure.

THE ROYAL STATE COACH. — The State coach in which her Majesty proceeded to the Houses of Parliament on February 8th is thus described by the Times:—"It has just had a complete overhauling and been regilt. It was constructed in 1761. The builder was Sir Thomas Chambers, and the paintings were executed by Cipriani. It is richly ornamented with laurel and carved work, the whole being elaborately gilt. The length of the body is 24 feet; it is 8 feet 3 inches wide, and 12 feet high. Four large Tritons support the body by four braces, covered with red morocco leather, ornamented with gilt buckles. Of these two support the driver's seat in front of the carriage. They are represented in the act of drawing by cables extending round their shoulders, with cranes and sounding shells to announce the approach of the Monarch of the Ocean. Two Tritons at the back carry the Imperial fasces, topped with tridents. The driver's footboard is a large scallop shell ornamented with bunches of reeds and other marine plants. The pole represents a bundle of lances, the splinter-bar being composed of a rich moulding issuing from beneath a voluted shell, the ends terminating in the head of a dolphin. The wheels are imitations of those of the ancient triumphal chariot. The body of the coach is composed of eight palm trees, which, branching out at the top, sustain the roof, and four angular trees are loaded with trophies allusive to the victories obtained by Great Britain. These are supported by four lions' heads. On the centre of the roof stand the figures of three boys, representing the genii of England, Scotland, and Ireland, supporting the Imperial Crown of Great Britain, and holding in their hands the sceptre, sword of state, and ensigns of knighthood. Their bodies are adorned with festoons of laurel, which fall thence towards the four corners. On the panels and doors are painted emblematical devices."

A CURIOUS CHARGE OF CRUELTY TO ANIMALS IN A LONDON POLICE COURT.—A case of some interest to the owners, riders, and drivers of horses in Australia, minus shoes, was heard on the 13th February, at the Highgate Police Court, near London, in which a point was raised (although not the one upon which the decision was given), whether the horse suffered most by being shod or left without shoes. The defendant was charged with cruelty to a horse by working it without being shod. The horse (says the Pall Mall Gazette) was seen standing outside the defendant's house by a policeman, who, on examining it, found that it had only one shoe on, that being on the off hind foot. The defendant, on being remonstrated with by the policeman, said he had ridden horses hundreds of miles in Australia without any shoes, and believed he had a right to do so here. The magistrates, however, disabused him of this notion; for, although they let him off with payment of costs, they exacted from him as a condition of this leniency a guarantee not to use the horse again until it had been shod and certified by a veterinary surgeon to be in a fit condition for work. The science of road-making and road-repairing must advance far beyond the point it has already reached in England before the use of horse-shoes can be dispensed with, as in Australia; but it cannot be denied that the present system of horse-shoeing is, strictly speaking, a cruelty to horses, inasmuch as it is the main cause of lameness and of many of the diseases of the foot to which these animals are liable. At some future and it is to be hoped no distant day the barbarous plan of ruthlessly cutting and rasping the hoof will be discontinued, and the shoe will be made to fit the foot instead of as at present the foot being made to fit the shoe.

POLICE COURT PRACTICE.—Mr. William Redman appeared yesterday at the Central Police Court to prosecute an information for an alleged breach of the Publicans' Act. Mr. Forster, who appeared for the defence, took an objection to Mr. Redman, that unless he had been duly retained by Mr. Rush he had no locus standi. He believed that Mr. Rush did not pay Mr. Redman; and therefore, as no provision had been made in the Estimates for the employment of a professional man by the officers of police, it followed that the only consideration that could accrue to Mr. Redman must be in the form of such costs as, in the event of conviction, the Bench may think proper to award. Several attorneys had had the offer of police business on such terms, and it had been declined by them as irregular. If Mr. Rush would say that he had retained Mr. Redman, well and good; there would be an end of the matter. Mr. Redman rose to reply, but was stopped by Mr. Oatley, who said that the Bench overruled the objection—it was not a matter for them to inquire into.

FIRE.—Yesterday afternoon, a foul chimney caught fire on the premises of Henry Moore, fruiterer and confectioner, 29, Oxford-street. Soon after the alarm was sounded, three engines were on the spot, and the Insurance Brigade, who were the first to arrive, directed a stream of water up the chimney by means of the hand-pump belonging to their engine, while buckets of water were poured down. Half-an-hour of this work sufficed to extinguish the fire, which threatened to become serious, as the house was roofed with Hobart Town palings, on which sparks of fire were descending. As it was, no damage was occasioned.

A GOLDEN WEDDING.—A telegram from Moruya states that a very large picnic party, in commemoration of their golden wedding, was given yesterday, at Kyla Park, by Mr. John Howden and his wife, pioneers of the district. The greatest respect was shown to the venerable lady and gentleman by all present.

THE RUMOURED VISIT OF THE PRINCE OF WALES TO AUSTRALIA.—"Atlas," in the London World, says:—I understand that the Prince of Wales has fully determined to carry out the project of paying a visit to Australia and New Zealand, which the success and pleasure of his Indian tour first led him to conceive. The subject has not yet formally taken shape; but I believe that the Prime Minister is cognisant of, and approves of, the projected visit to the antipodes.

A SHOCKING ACCIDENT.—Shortly before 6 o'clock on Tuesday night (the Melbourne Argus reports), a one-horse buggy belonging to Mr. Dixson, tobacco manufacturer, was drawn up in front of his factory, in William-street. He was having some parcels put into it by one of the men, and while he had left it for a moment to fetch out some more the horse moved off in the direction of its stable, which is on the Sydney Road, near the Brunswick toll-gate. A little daughter of Mr. Dixson's was in the buggy, but she had not taken the reins in hand, and they fell to the ground. The horse started off slowly, and would probably soon have been overtaken by the man, who ran out on hearing the vehicle moving, but several persons also rushed forward, and alarmed the animal, which increased its pace to a gallop. It proceeded at full speed without coming into collision with any passing vehicles; but just at the highest part of Peel-street a number of little children were in the roadway, and the animal dashed over two of them. One, a boy, little more than two years old, was picked up senseless, and bleeding profusely from a wound on the head. It was carried round to its mother, and medical aid was at once procured; but, as the skull had been fractured either from a kick or from being trampled on by a hoof, there could be no hope given of its recovery, and probably it is now dead. The other child, Esther Lane, aged 4 years, the daughter of a cab proprietor in Peel-street, had a leg fractured, and was taken to the hospital, where she was attended to. The horse pursued its course along the Sydney Road towards home, and would possibly have gone straight there without doing further damage had it been let alone, but when nearing the entrance to the Royal Park a number of men and boys returning from the picnic rushed into the road, and tried to stop it. This caused the animal to swerve and run up the road towards the new cemetery, and on towards the top of Madeline-street. Then it was turned against a fence, and the collision broke a shaft, and threw Miss Dixson out of the buggy. Fortunately she sustained only a few immaterial bruises.

THE MARQUIS OF NORMANBY AND A MASTER OF THE CEREMONIES.—A New Zealand journal relates the following incident as having occurred at a ball at Westport, given by his Excellency the Marquis of Normanby:—"It seems that the gentleman who had the general direction of the reception arrangements thought the ball would be incomplete without a master of ceremonies, and accordingly appointed to that office a youth not unknown to Reefton and Lyell, of the name of 'Teddy Clemens.' On the vice-regal party entering the ballroom and taking up position to open the dance, the music struck up, when the redoubtable 'Teddy' cried out, 'Top lady and bottom gent., swing in the centre.' This piece of direction, it seems, was not acted upon with sufficient alacrity, whereupon the indefatigable 'Teddy,' who had taken up a position at the elbow of his Excellency, gave the latter an unmistakable push forward. The Marquis, instead of diving ahead into the arms of his lady vis-a-vis at the command, turned round and looked unutterable things at the diminutive M.C.; but 'Teddy,' was not to be 'put away' by even the darkest of the vice-regal frowns, and accordingly took no notice of his Excellency, but repeated the direction in a much louder tone of voice. At this stage his Excellency beckoned to his aide-de-camp, and a few minutes later 'Teddy' was quietly yet ignominiously 'scruffed' out of the room. How the dancing got on without 'Teddy,' history does not relate; but he having declined to leave the precincts of the ballroom until he was paid his fee, obtained the amount, and proceeded to have 'a fly round.'"

THE PROBABLE EVASION OF LISTENING TO PARLIAMENTARY BORES.—The London Examiner says:—That indispensable luxury, the telegraph, is not unlikely to be employed this season for the reduction of Parliamentary boredom, if not the annihilation of Parliamentary bores. It is proposed to have a machine in or near one of the Houses of Parliament, which will send nightly accounts of the doings and sayings in both, to clubs or private houses, on the payment of a certain sum. Nothing will be easier than for a member, while sipping the coffee of meditation, to make himself master of the important speeches in a debate, at the same time that he escapes its inanities, and then drive to Westminster, and with the aid of what Thackeray calls "the fine things one thinks of in the cab," damn a bill, or make a great political reputation.

CREMATION.—The Examiner states that the Town Council of Gotha, in Germany, which some time ago resolved upon permitting fire-burial, has now also decreed the erection of a "columbarium." It will be set up in the projected new graveyard, and is to consist of an open peristyle connecting two halls, in one of which the dead bodies are to be temporarily deposited, whilst in the other the cremation will take place. The walls near this colonnade are to receive the urns with the ashes of the cremated; together with any votive tablets, or other sculptures, that may be added by the family or the friends of the departed. The apparatus, constructed by Mr. Siemens, will be built into this fire-burial hall, for the reception of the coffins. The Ancient Germanic practice of cremation is thus to be combined with a Roman institution, and Gotha will have the first columbarium of the modern world.

AMATEUR CHORAL UNION.—This society has completed arrangements for giving the second concert of its first season, at the Guild Hall, on Wednesday next, the 11th instant; and judging from the acknowledged talent that will appear on that occasion, the affair is likely to prove very attractive and agreeable.

SCHOOL FESTIVAL.—On Tuesday last, the annual festival in connection with the Dural school was held. About 300 persons lunched in a tent erected for the occasion, and in the afternoon rustic sports of all descriptions were indulged in and prizes given to the children. At tea time an adjournment was made to the schoolroom where a lecture on "John Gough" was delivered by Mr. Alfred Allen, the chair being taken by Mr. S. Crawford. A vote of thanks to the ladies and gentlemen who promoted the affair, and the singing of the National Anthem, concluded a much enjoyed day.

THE AUSTRALIAN BLONDIN.—It will be seen by advertisement that Mr. L'Estrange has arranged to perform his great feat of crossing Middle Harbour on a rope, on Saturday next, April 14th. This evening he will give one of his usual performances in the Domain, and on Monday will give an entertainment for the benefit of the Sydney charities.

"FAUST."—This drama has occupied the boards of the Royal and Victoria Theatres during the week, and is still announced to continue until further notice. Good audiences have attended every evening, and the performances have been highly appreciated.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Last night the performance at this place of amusement consisted of the nautical drama, entitled "Black-eyed Susan," in which the principal characters were effectively sustained by Madame Marie Duret, Mr. Joseph Rayner, and Mr. William Andrews, who were repeatedly applauded by their auditors. The night's entertainment closed with the burlesque, "The Bride of Abydos."

BACHELDER'S COMBINATION AMERICAN PANTASCOPE.—Last night there was a good attendance at this entertainment in the School of Arts. The magnificent views of American scenery which pass before the spectators are a never failing source of pleasure and profit, and ere long the people of the colonies will be as familiar, as good pictorial representations can make them, with all the most interesting sights of America. The distribution of presents formed an attractive feature of the programme.

WILSON'S CIRCUS.—There was a large attendance at this popular place of amusement last evening, the pit being quite full, and the stalls nearly so. The feats were the same as those which have been already noticed. Mr. W. Airey, one of the clowns, created a great deal of merriment by giving a burlesque representation of a candidate for Parliamentary honours soliciting the suffrages of the electors. This afternoon a performance is to be given, to which schools will be admitted at reduced charges. The performances of the educated mule, the mirth-provoking eccentricities of the clown, and the excellent horsemanship should prove attractive to the youngsters, for whose benefit this afternoon's programme will be especially arranged.

THE LATE KENSINGTON PARK RACES.—We have been requested to state that the Grimwood disqualified at the late abovenamed meeting is not Mr. Samuel Grimwood, the bookmaker, and member of Tattersall's in Sydney and Victoria.

OUR BRISBANE LETTER.

MONDAY, MARCH 2.

I HAVE no means of knowing the sentiments of Sir Arthur Kennedy upon the subject of his quarantine; but, unless he has some remarkably good personal or public reason for desiring to take possession of the government and for getting housed, it does not appear upon the surface that he stands in need of sympathy. He is in fact doing now, under circumstances highly favourable to the formation of an unbiassed judgment, what he must do at an early stage of his tenure of office, namely, making himself acquainted with the Bay and its various places of public interest, its townships, its villas, channels, public institutions, capabilities of defence, &c. Some of these he must at present study at a distance, but what he now sees will better enable him to understand them on landing hereafter for their inspection; while upon others he will be able to form a decisive opinion which, in all that relates to them hereafter, cannot fail to be of great service to himself at least. The Government have spared no pains to make the enforced detention as little unpleasant as possible, having proclaimed the Government steamer a lazaret for the official use of the Governor, his family, and servants; and having fitted her up with additional cabins and with every appliance to make her a pleasant place of residence. They have also told off the caterer of the Parliamentary refreshment rooms to see that the commissariat is worthy of the occasion. But beyond all this, they have prevailed on the deputy Commissioner of Police, a gentleman formerly in the Navy, who knows every channel, nook, and corner of the Bay, and who has the character of being a gentlemanly and well-informed man, to share the Governor's imprisonment on board the Kate, and see that everything is done that is possible to prevent the time hanging on his Excellency's hands. Nets, lines, rifles, and other appliances for sport have been sent on board without stint, and altogether Sir Arthur Kennedy may be regarded as an object of envy rather than of sympathy by the lieges. Nor is music to be altogether absent, to while away one evening at least, for the device has been conceived of offering a serenade to the Vice-regal party this evening from the deck of the steamer Lady Bowen, which has been chartered for the purpose. The promoters of this project are the rev. incumbent of St. John's Church and the Peal-of-Bells Committee, who, wise in their generation, see so great a charm of novelty and fun to be got out of a moonlight serenade of a quarantined Governor as to ensure a respectable addition to the languishing fund for the erection of their noisy pets—an addition which, although that is probably kept in the recesses of their own hearts, will be swelled by the grateful contributions of the serenaded in due course, when the concert and its objects are explained to them.

Parliament has been again prorogued, this time until the 17th April, without being called together for the dispatch of business. It was rumoured, upon good grounds, that it was intended to convene Parliament for the 2nd May; but the present prorogation is understood to be in courtesy to the Governor, who, and not the present Administrator, will have to preside over the session, and to whom it is therefore thought due that it should be left to him to exercise the prerogative of calling Parliament together for the dispatch of business. There is nothing to prevent this being still done for the 2nd of May, presuming pratique to be granted to the inmates of the Kate at the end of the prescribed sixteen days; and indeed, in view of the age of the financial year, the recess cannot be conveniently much prolonged beyond that date. I am told, however, that a photographer, who was going to take an interior view of the Legislative Assembly Chamber for your great Exhibition, was met by the sight of a forest of scaffolding poles which, if all the work be done which they are said to indicate, can hardly be away in a month's time.

The Western railway reserve land sale has not resulted so as to meet the expectations of any one, or of any party. Those who prophesied that the upset prices were so high that the land would not sell at all have been quite out of their calculations, inasmuch as 90,000 acres, realizing about £136,000, have been sold at an average not much below 30s. an acre. This ought to settle the question of the value of the land; but I doubt if it will, as the purchasers were chiefly the occupants of the runs, who will doubtless assert that they were forced to buy to save themselves. That the land has fallen into the hands of capitalists will be a source of complaint by the rabid advocates of free selection; but there is the consolation against this of that excrescence upon society, the man of capital, having had to pay nearly six times as much as he would fain persuade the Legislature that the land is worth. That there was no competition for the land proves nothing at present, as the railway which will give it value has not yet approached near enough to have created any such effect. Meanwhile the sum realized will be a respectable instalment of cash with which to carry on the railway works; while the prices obtained will, in some measure, all interested opinions to the contrary notwithstanding, determine the value of the remainder of the lands, which, by judicious handling, may be made to do all that the Act requires, namely, construct our Western railway extension without adding to the public debt. That small men will come to the front and compete for the lands, or take them up as conditional purchases or homesteads, as the line of railway approaches Roma, there can be little doubt; that they have not done so yet is not surprising, among other reasons, for the very good one that the first and only sale has afforded them no opportunity.

"Conte Giuseppe Franceschi" offers a laboured, and somewhat illogical, statement of his reasons for refusing to allow the "Phylloxera" Commission to examine his vines for traces of the disease. The reasons are twofold, viz.: first, because the vines were so young that the examination would have revealed nothing pertinent to the inquiry; and secondly, because to make it satisfactory, it would have been necessary to examine every vine without exception, and for this purpose to dig them up, a process which would have destroyed the whole collection, which he regards as one of the choicest of the best grape vines of Italy, if not of all Europe; and which, by the way, I learn that he values at the choice price of £600, or for fifty vines £12 a piece. The report of the Board, however, as published, shows that they only asked his permission to examine six of the whole number, taken, it is presumed, from here and there, as fair samples of the lot; and, had he consented, any conclusions they might have drawn from such an imperfect examination, whether for or against the existence of the disease, would have been taken for what they were worth, while there was no necessity whatever that the vines examined should have suffered any material check, much less total loss, by the process. But whatever the conclusions of the Board, the owner of the vines could have been placed, in the absence of any law upon the subject, under no compulsion to suffer loss; so that in any case he was safe from the enforced sacrifice of his property. That he prefers selling to the Government is not surprising, if they are willing to buy; but we have not hitherto been in the habit of valuing our vines at such a rate per vine, while we have been until now reposing in the evidently vain belief that the collection of vines in Queensland could not be much improved upon. It is to be hoped that both the Government and the wine-growing interest may profit by the lessons taught by the distinguished foreigner, who has come so far for the purpose, if they can only agree upon what those lessons are. For my own part I would make very short work indeed, and so would many whose opinions I have heard upon the subject, of any one, be his colour or creed what it may, and be he ever so distinguished, who, regardless of everything but his own opinions or profit, accompanies his advent amongst us with the danger, to many hundreds of colonists of utter ruin, and to an important industry of its effectual destruction.

Mr. Angus Mackay's report on low cost railways and bridges in America, which has been looked for with much interest, is now before the public. Knowing, apparently, the opposition which any recommendations he may make are likely to encounter from the conservatism and prejudices of professional men, and from the self-interest of manufacturers and suppliers of material, to whom far less metal and timber in our bridges and culverts and no fencing or ballast on our railways has the sole significance of less money spent for their benefit, Mr. Mackay advances his facts and offers his opinions with even more than the usual diffidence and modesty which are so characteristic of the man. He is, evidently, strongly impressed with the belief that Queensland may, with enormous advantage to her colonists and economy to her public revenues, take example from much that is undoubtedly excellent in design and economical in structure in the American system of carrying out public works of the kind with which his report deals; and he therefore handles his subject so as to challenge as little contradiction and stir as little bile, whether professional or political, as possible. He distinctly deprecates any claim to professional accuracy of detail, and states that he writes simply as a colonist—he might have added, had his natural modesty allowed him, an exceptionally observant and intelligent colonist—who has had unusual opportunities of experiencing the difficulties which settlers in a new country experience from the want of facilities of traffic, and is impressed with the fact that in proportion as communication is easy and constant, and carriage beset with no difficulties of swamp, gully, or river, so is the prosperity of the settler assured, other things being equal. It is quite useless for me to attempt to review, within the space which I can here allot to it, an exhaustive report full of interesting detail, pledging myself to this that it is honestly worth every line of space which it will occupy. Mr. Mackay is not contented with reporting what he has seen and himself approves; but having done this shows that he has the courage of his opinions, and makes certain specific, tangible, and sensible recommendations, which, if not accepted in their entirety, a courageous Government, who are not the slaves of their professional officers, might well make the basis of at least tentative action.

Mr. P. R. Gordon's draft bill, dealing with the marsupial pest, which has been circulated for the purpose of eliciting opinions from those most competent to judge in the matter, is beginning to bear fruit. The first comments come from a body somewhat ostentatiously calling itself the "Queensland Pastoral Society," which holds its meetings at Springsure, the town of a large district, but which still is hardly Queensland. The grass-destroying powers of the kangaroo family have been widened in that part of the country as strongly as anywhere, and the opinions, therefore, of this society are entitled to some respect. They point out difficulties likely to arise in the working of Mr. Gordon's bill, and suggest sundry alterations in its details, and it appears not unlikely that the abrasion of mind against mind in this matter may result in making it hard lines upon the marsupials. The purely pastoral mind of this association is somewhat horrified at the prospect of having to pay for getting rid of the unwelcome visitants to their pastures, and what appears to be intended for the leading feature of their communication to the Minister for Lands is an expression of opinion that as the question not only affects the pastoral interest, but indirectly all other interests, the main expense of carrying out such an Act should be borne by the consolidated revenue of the colony.

AUSTRALIAN JOCKEY CLUB AUTUMN MEETING.

PATRON: His Excellency Sir Hercules Robinson, G.C.M.G.; president, Sir E. Deas-Thomson, C.B., K.C.M.G.; judge, Mr. W. B. Walford; starter, Mr. H. C. Dangar; handicapper, Mr. J. A. Scarr; clerk of the course, Mr. James Herald.

THIRD DAY, FRIDAY, 6TH APRIL.

Yesterday being the "off day," the attendance was not very large, but the racing was good, and the following is an account of the proceedings.

The All-Aged Stakes.—Sweepstakes of 10 sovereigns each, 2 forfeit, with 150 sovereigns added. Second horse, 20 sovereigns from the prize. One mile.

Sir H. Robinson's bl c Tocal, by the Barb—Sweetheart, 3 years, 8 st 2 lbs (Huey) ... 1
Mr. H. Phillip's b f Adelaide, by Panic—Myth, 3 years, 8st (T. Hales) ... 2
C. Edward's ch c Royalty, by Tim Whiffler—Young Ludia, 2 years, 6 st 3 lbs (Batherwaite) ... 3
H. Osborne's ch c, by the Drummer—Romping Girl, 2 years, 6 st 3 lbs (Howard)
J. S. Smith's b f Expectation, 2 years, 6 st 1 lb (Richardson)
A. Bowman's ch h Sunlight, aged, 9 st 2 lbs (G. Thompson).

Betting: 2 to 1 v. Royalty; 5 to 2 v. Adelaide; 4 to 1 each on Tocal and Expectation.

After some delay caused by the anxiety of Thompson, the word was given to a pretty good start, Sunlight on the inside getting off in front, and being very quick on his legs soon had an advantage of three or four lengths, Royalty, Expectation, and Tocal following in order. Tocal ran up third on the inside when passing the seven furlongs post, and Sunlight led Royalty two lengths along the far side, Tocal a length away, and a length in front of the other pair who were together. Royalty, pulling hard, went up to Sunlight at the bend, and when halfway round cut down the old horse, and turned into the straight with about a length advantage of Tocal, who was closely waited upon by Adelaide. Tocal caught the two-year-old at the distance, and won easily by half a length from Adelaide, who just beat the colt, who tired very much, on the post for second place. Expectation was three lengths off fourth, and then came Sunlight six lengths behind her, and about the same distance in front of Masquerade. Time, 1 minute 47 2-10 seconds.

The Free Handicap of 100 sovereigns, with a sweepstakes of 1 sovereign each, to go to the second horse. One mile and a quarter.

Mr. Thomas Ivory's b m Miss Kingston, by Yattendon—Lady Kingston, 5 years, 7 st 11 lbs (Pigott) ... 1
W. Archer's r g Rookwood, by Gemma di Vergy—Princess, 5 years, 6 st 4 lbs (Connor) ... 2
W. C. Freeman's b h Laertes, by Maribyrnong, 4 years, 6 st 12 lbs (Aspinall) ... 3
J. S. Smith's b h Speculation, 6 years, 9 st 12 lbs (T. Brown)
G. Livingstone's br m Barmaid, 5 years, 8 st 5 lbs (Lang)
Thomas Ivory's bl h Sultan, aged, 7 st 14 lbs (Gainsford)
J. Paterson's br h Meteor, 4years, 7 st 12 lbs (Raning)
A. Loder's bl m Hybla, 6 years, 7 st 11 lbs (Battye)
J. Tait's bl h The Barb, 5 years, 7 st 9 lbs (Scrivener)
Sir H. Robinson's b f Queen's Head, 3 years, 7 st 7 lbs (Huxley)
Mr. R. G. Yeoman's bl f Kitty (late Negress), 3 years, 7 st 5 lbs (S. Davis)
W. Kite's br h Dockwood, 4 years, 7 st 2 lbs (Willis)
J. Farraher's gr h The Card, 4 years, 6 st 7 lbs (Sealey)
W. J. Dangar's ch f Signora, 3 years, 6 st 7 lbs (James)
R. Harvey's br c Falcon, 3 years, 6 st 4 lbs (Conlan)
W. F. Collier's br g Valetta, 3 years, 6 st (Wiene)
W. Markwell's br c The Judge, 3 years, 6 st (Harper)
J. Tait's br c Amendment, 2 years, 5 st 7 lbs (Wilkinson).

Betting: 5 to 1 each v. Queen's Head and Miss Kingston: 6 to 1 v. Speculation; 8 to 1 each v. Hybla, Kitty, and Laertes; 10 to 1 v. any other.

Mr. Dangar, having an interest in one of the competitors, deputed the flag to Mr. Clibborn for this race, and the worthy secretary dispatched his horses away well together, Speculation, against the rails, being the first to show, Queen's Head, Rookwood, and Amendment next in a heap. Rookwood led over the tan-crossing by a short length, Queen's Head and Speculation following, and so they went past Cutts', where Amendment was fourth, The Judge fifth, and Mr. Ivory's pair and Signora next. Amendment went to the front at the mile-post, and led Signora a couple of lengths along the back of the course, The Judge going on third, attended by Rookwood, Speculation, and Laertes, the others in a cluster, with Falcon last. Signora heading Amendment at the foot of the hill showed them the way up the hill, leading Rookwood a length, and after the Bathurst horse came Speculation, Laertes, Miss Kingston, and Queen's Head. Signora died away at the turn, and Rookwood took up the running, looking all over a winner, and led between the rails, followed by Signora, Speculation, Laertes, Miss Kingston, and The Card. Pigott called upon the mare at the distance, and, shooting up on the outside, won cleverly by about two lengths from Rookwood, who beat Laertes by three lengths for second place. Signora was four lengths away from the son of Maribyrnong, fourth, then two lengths away came Speculation, succeeded by The Card, Dockwood, Barmaid, and Queen's Head, The Barb making the last joint of the tail.

The Sires' Produce Stakes, a sweepstakes of 10 sovereigns each, half-forfeit, 2½ sovereigns if declared by 5th March, 1877, with 320 sovereigns added. For two-years-old; colts, 8 st. 10 lbs.; fillies, 8 st. 8 lbs.; no allowance to geldings. The second horse 10 and the third 5 per cent. on the gross amount of the prize, to be deducted therefrom. 7 furlongs.

Hon. E. K. Cox's b c Chester, by Yattendon—Lady Chester, 8 st 10 lbs (G. Donnelly) ... 1
Mr. H. T. Bowler's ch c Waterford, by the Marquis—Al, 8 st 10 lbs (W. Yeomans) ... 2
H. Kennedy's br c Cap-a-pie, by Maribyrnong—Miss Magus, 8 st 10 lbs (T. Brown) ... 3
Sir H. Robinson's b c Lorton, 8 st 10 lbs (J. Ramsay)
Mr. J. Tait's br or br c, by The Barb—Mavourneen, 8 st 10 lbs (Ashworth)
——— b f Moira, 8 st 8 lbs (Hatch)

Betting: 6 to 4 on Chester, 6 to 4 v. Waterford, 5 to 1 v. any other.

The official starter having again taken the flag, the signal was given to a good start, Waterford and Chester showing in advance, but after going a couple of hundred yards Cap-a-pie popped to the front, and rattled along the back of the course with a command of three lengths; Waterford second, with Chester at his girths, and Lorton a length off, Mr. Tait's pair last, and beaten. Waterford got within a length of the beautiful colt, and Lorton joining Chester, the pair then went on within a length of the leaders. Waterford ran past Cap-a-pie at the bend, and led round the turn by more than a length, while Chester went up second. The favourite gradually drew on Waterford, and getting on terms with him at the distance, headed him when opposite the St. Leger Stand, but Waterford was not yet done with, and coming again with the greatest gameness, the two brilliant colts settled down to a grand finish. They raced head and head up the straight, while Cap-a-pie had his black muzzle on Chester's quarter. Stride for stride they came on, locked together, and Chester again catching his gallant opponent, won a great battle by the shortest of necks, and Cap-a-pie finished with his head against Chester's saddle flaps. Lorton was an indifferent fourth; and the other two beaten a long way. Time, 1 minute 32 2-10 seconds.

The Cumberland Stakes, a sweepstakes of 10 sovereigns each, 2 forfeit, with 200 sovereigns added. For three-years-old and upwards. Second horse 50 sovereigns from the prize. 2 miles.

Mr. R. T. Reid's b c Pride of the Hills, by Talk-o'-the Hills—Black Gipsy, 3 years, 7 st 12 lbs (T. Hales) ... 1
C. B. Fisher's br c Robinson Crusoe, by Angler—Chrysolite, 3 years, 7 st 12 lbs (S. Davis) ... 2
R. Rouse's b m Viva, by Yattendon—Atalanta, 6 years, 9 st 2 lbs (J. Ramsay) ... 3
J. Tait's b h Melbourne, 5 years, 9 st 4 lbs (J. Ashworth)
C. B. Fisher's br h The Painter, 4 years, 8 st 13 lbs (W. Lang).

Betting: Even on Robinson Crusoe; 5 to 4 v. Pride of the Hills; 5 to 1 each v. any of the others.

The Painter and Melbourne were first away, Pride of the Hills being the last to leave the post, but as soon as they got on their legs Mr. Fisher's pair were seen at the head of affairs. The Painter, who was evidently sent to carry Robinson Crusoe along, just led him up the hill, Melbourne next, with Pride of the Hills and Viva last. The two leaders led Melbourne between the rails by a couple of lengths, Melbourne four lengths off, and two lengths in advance of Pride of the Hills. The Painter led Melbourne half a length past the stand, Robinson Cruso about three lengths off, and the same distance in front of Pride of the Hills, who was two lengths in advance of Viva. Melbourne challenged The Painter at Cutts's, and they went round the rocks turn together, Robinson Crusoe following, three lengths from them, and nearly the same distance separating him from Pride of the Hills; Viva still last, and going well within herself. Something happened to Robinson Crusoe when passing the two-miles post, and he went back suddenly, and Hales, making a slight call upon Pride of the Hills, the colt assumed the command and rattled round the bend at a wonderful pace, four lengths in front of Melbourne, who was led by Robinson Crusoe and The Painter by a length or more. From this point out the champion had it all his own way, and won in a canter by half a dozen lengths from Robinson Crusoe, who finished well. Ramsay brought Viva with a great rush in the straight, and a fine race took place for third place, Viva beating Melbourne by a neck, and The Painter close up. Time, 3 minutes 39 2-10 seconds.

The City Handicap, a sweepstakes of 10 sovereigns each, 2 forfeit, with 150 sovereigns added. For three year olds and upwards. Second horse, 20 sovereigns from the prize. A winner of a handicap after the declaration of the weights to carry 10 lbs. extra. 1½ mile.

Betting: 2 to 1 v. Kingfisher; 5 to 1 each v. Victor, Tocal, and Adelaide; 10 to 1 v. Speculation.

They were dispatched to a good start, Irish Stew, Ringwood, and Speculation being the first to show, and Ringwood showed the way past the stand, attended by Adelaide, Democrat, Victor, Speculation, and Tocal; Woolstone and Maria last. Maria fell after getting over the tan crossing, but Williams was not hurt; Democrat led by Cutts's, but soon retired, and at the back of the course Ringwood was at the head of the van, and the next to him were Irish Stew, Adelaide, Tocal, Kingfisher, Speculation, and Coventry. Soon after topping the hill Adelaide fell, throwing Hales against the dangerous and objectionable rail, giving him a very severe fall; but fortunately no bones were broken. Speculation took up the running at the turn, and won rather easily from Tocal, who finished three lengths in front of Kingfisher, and then followed Coventry, Irish Stew, Victor, Woolstone, and Democrat. Time, 2 minutes 42½ seconds.

ST. PAUL'S, BURWOOD.—Churchwardens for present year: Elected by congregation, Messrs. J. B. Howell, J. Menzies; nominated by clergyman, Mr. J. Plummer.

ST. JOHN'S, PARRAMATTA.—Trustees' warden, R. Harper; people's, F. T. Wickham; clergyman's, W. J. Stephenson.

ST. JAMES'S, SMITHFIELD.—Trustees' warden, H. Whitaker; people's, J. Kenyon; clergyman's, G. Bellinger.

ST. MARK'S, PICTON.—Churchwardens elected on Easter Tuesday: Clergyman's warden, Mr. J. C. Irving; people's wardens, Mr. W. M. Trenerry, Mr. W. B. Campbell, sen.

ST. MATTHIAS' CHURCH, PADDINGTON.—At the vestry meeting held on Tuesday, the 3rd instant, Mr. F. Oatley was re-elected the trustees' churchwarden; Mr. J. B. Durham was elected the people's churchwarden; and Mr. R. King was appointed minister's churchwarden.

RYDE AND PENNANT HILLS.—St. Ann's, Ryde: Trustees' warden, Mr. G. C. Watson; people's, Mr. R. R. Terry; clergyman's, Mr. J. Martin. St. Paul's, Pennant Hills: People's wardens, Mr. R. Cowell, sen., and Mr. Philip Hockley; clergyman's, Mr. W. Spurway.

WATERLOO AND BOTANY.—On Tuesday evening Messrs. Clarke White, T. Crane, and W. Thorne were elected churchwardens for St. Silas, Waterloo; and Messrs. W. Stephen, S. Whisker, and S. Butler, for St. Matthew's, Botany.

ST. LUKE'S, BURWOOD.—At the vestry meeting, held in the parochial schoolhouse, on Easter Tuesday, the 3rd instant. Messrs. H. J. Rucker and John Dawson were re-elected churchwardens. The incumbent nominated Mr. John Flavelle. It has been determined to proceed with the enlargement of the church, so as to afford additional accommodation. It was likewise resolved to allow (until a parsonage is built) £120 per annum towards house rent. The salaries and gratuities of last year were voted. The meeting opened and closed with prayer.

ALL SAINTS' CHURCH, PETERSHAM.—The annual meeting for the election of churchwardens was held in the schoolroom, on Tuesday evening, 3rd instant—the Rev. H. A. Palmer, incumbent of the parish, presiding. The chairman nominated Mr. S. A. Stephen as his warden for the ensuing year, and Messrs. G. Mullen, and A. E. Jaques were elected as trustees' churchwardens. The annual meeting of the Parochial Association was also held, at which the treasurer's and secretary's reports were read and adopted, and the following gentlemen elected as the committee for the ensuing year:—Rev. H. A. Palmer, president, the churchwardens, and Messrs. Atkins, Cape, Helm, Hore, Kennedy, Marshall, Murray, Newcombe, Norton, G. M. Stephen, Turton, and Warner. A vote of thanks was accorded to the choir for their services during the past year, and also to the lady collectors of the association. A vote of thanks to the chairman was moved by Mr. R. A. Cape, who, in a few well-chosen words, referred to the very high esteem and regard felt for the incumbent by all classes of his parishioners. This was suitably acknowledged, and the meeting closed with the benediction.

SALE OF FAT STOCK.—Mr. W. Fullagar reports having sold for Mr. Single, 10 cows at an average of £5 11s. 6d. each; 82 bullocks at an average of £7 2s. Also for Messrs. Gilchrist, Watt, and Co., 47 cows at an average of £6 8s.; 56 bullocks, at an average of £7 13s.; 5 culls, at an average of £4 10s. 6d.

SYDNEY INFIRMARY.—The following cases were yesterday received for treatment. A man, name unknown, who was almost in a state of unconsciousness, apparently from the effects of drink, was admitted as suffering from a wound on the scalp; Annie Douglas, injury to the hand; John M'Keogh, suffering from a dislocation of the shoulder and other injuries; Kate Morgan, who had received a wound on the scalp.

SCENE BETWEEN EDHEM PASHA AND M. DE BOURGOING.—The Times of the 14th February gives the following account of the dispute between the above representatives at one of the sittings of the Conference:—"The Bulgarian massacres were flung in Edhem's teeth. Stung to the quick and wishing to display his knowledge of history, Edhem recalled the massacres of St. Bartholomew, the First Revolution, the Commune, &c. M. de Bourgoing immediately rose and reproached him with being wanting in the regard due to France, and M. de Chandordy, not wishing, doubtless, to seem to abandon his colleague, joined him. This episode, however, surprised everybody. Till then there had rather been amusement at these citations, and a diplomat sitting near Lord Salisbury, and seeing him smile, leaned towards him and said, 'Wait a bit; your turn will come presently, and he will remind you of the murder of the children of Edward IV.' Edhem himself was surprised at the effect he had produced. He excused himself, declaring he had only wished to make use of an historical argument, and it was at his instance that the incident did not figure in the protocol."

The revenue returns were not issued to-night.

The R.M.S. Bangalore will be released from quarantine to-morrow.

Wheat is firm at 6s. 3d. Kerosene is selling more freely. Pig iron has sold at an advance. Business is dull.

SAILING.—Cheviot (s.), for Sydney.

QUEENSCLIFF.

FRIDAY.

The ship Linguist, ninety-one days from Liverpool, reports the death of George Wheelan, an able seaman from smallpox on the 29th January. Two cases of chicken-pox broke out on the 15th of February, both patients were well on the 22nd. Their clothing was all thrown overboard, and the ship was disinfected throughout. All those who were sick were placed in a room by themselves. The ship has been sent into quarantine by Dr. Spark, acting Health-officer, pending instructions from the chief medical officer.

The health of those on board the R.M.S. Bangalore continues good.

ADELAIDE.

FRIDAY.

It now turns out that not a single death from small-pox occurred aboard the British Enterprise.

Messrs. Morgan, Crozier, Baker, English, Ingleby, and Hughes have been elected to the Legislative Council.

A farmer named Johnston stabbed his wife in a fit of drunkenness, and the woman is in a dangerous state.

The Inch Kenneth, from Glasgow, with a general cargo, arrived this morning.

In the Stock and Share market there was an improved demand for bank shares and a larger proportion of sales than usual was reported in the business done. City advanced to £9 8s., Commercial to 95, and New Zealand to 21, sales. New South Wales wanted at 52, sellers at 53. Mercantile and National of Queensland changed hands at previous quotations. Insurance shares firm, 30s. refused for New South Wales, 33s. asked; United wanted at 21s. 6d., sellers at 22s. 6d.; Mutual sold at 4s. 6d. Steam quiet; Australasian brought 18¼. Shale Oil dull, sales at 18s., and offered, buyers at 17s. 6d.; Coal, copper, and gold quiet.

In the Import markets there was nothing fresh to report in the way of business. Sales were nominal, and no improvement is looked for until after the opening of the Intercolonial Exhibition. Regarding our quotations for bulk ale to-day we are informed that Marrian's can be purchased now as low or lower than it has been this season. The increased manufacture of colonial and the heavy margin of duty on imported act strongly against the latter. Later circulars from Mauritius report the May loading sugar for New Zealand, the Amalia for Hobart Town, and the S. F. Caller for Adelaide.

Calcutta advices are to February 28. The Ellora was then loading for Melbourne, with rice, jute goods, &c. Seeta rice was quoted at 4 to 4·2 rupees; cornsacks were lower, sellers at 29 rupees f.o.b. Castor oil weaker; the price of good seconds dropped from 12·4 to 11·8 rupees. Coals wanted; 11 rupees would be paid for Australian. Exchange on London, 1s. 9 d. for six months' sight.

Catalogues of hides and tallow were submitted for public competition to-day by Messrs Mort and Co.; Messrs. Maiden, Hill, and Cl[illegible]; Messrs. Harrison, Jones, and Devlin; Mr. Bridge, and Mr. Barker. There was a large supply of hides, and as the only description in even moderate request were sound, heavy, and extra weights, the greater portion of the offerings were bought in. Best realised 4¼d. to 4½d.; medium, 3½d. to 4d.; light and dry, 3d. to 4½d.; inferior 1d. to 2¼d.; horse hides unaltered, good sold at 6s. to 8s. 2d.; inferior, 3s. 4d. to 5s. 6d.; calfskins, 1s. to 2s. 9d.; yearlings, 3s. to 5s. 3d.; kangaroo, 9d. to 2s. 9d.; goat 10d., wallaby 4d. There was a good demand for tallow, and nearly all the lots for sale were cleared at late rates. Mutton sold at £36 to £36 10s.; best beef, £33 to £34; medium, £32 to £32 15s.; inferior, £28 5s. to £31 15s. Cow hair, 10d to 12d.; mixed, 12½d. to 14½d.; tail, 17d; horns 18s. to 30s.; shank bones, £8 to £13; beeswax 12½d. Quotations for local produce remain steady. Sales of maize at 2s. 8d. to 2s. 10d.; oaten hay, £5 10s. to £6 10s.; lucerne, £3 10s. to £4 10s.; bacon, 8d. to 10d.; Warrnambool potatoes, £4 15s. to £5 5s.

Messrs. Richardson and Wrench sold by auction and private contract, during the week the following properties:—

Three houses, Nos. 1, 2, and 3, Francis-terrace, John-street, Pyrmont, £1490—Mrs. A. Glover, purchaser; the Nell Gwynne Hotel, Cowper Wharf and Bourke-street, Woolloomooloo, £1350—Mr. M'Mahon; two houses and allotment of land, Grose-street, Camperdown, £[illegible]0—Mrs. Hughes; allotment of land, Queen-street, Newtown, £5 per foot—Mr. Rembold; allotment of land, corner Walker and Mackenzie streets, North Shore, 40 feet, at £6 per foot—Mrs. Dangar; allotment, corner Walker and Blue streets, North Shore, 40 feet, at £6 per foot—Mr. W. Thomas; cottage, corner Liberty and Cavendish streets, South Kingston, Newtown, £455—Mr. Nicoll; corner block of land, Liberty and Cambridge streets, ditto, £155—Mr. Nicoll; allotment land, Falcon-street, North Shore, 44 feet, at £2 per foot—Mr. Coleman; 12 acres and 12 perches land, east of the Burwood Road, Burwood, £480—Mrs. Kater. And the following allotments of the South Scarborough Estate, Botany:—Section 1—lots 16 and 17, 132 feet, at 14s per foot—Mr. Gannon; lot 32, 66 feet, at 10s 6d—Mr. Linsley; lot 1, 66 feet, at 9s—Mr. G. Pile; lot 31, 66 feet, at 10s 6d—Mrs. Symons; lots 15 and 18, 132 feet, at 10s—Mr. Gannon; section 2—lot 17, 66 feet, at 15s—Mrs. Forsyth; lots 1 and 32, 132 feet, at 12s 6d—Mr. Jolly; lot 16, 66 feet, at 10s 6d—Mr. Henry; lot 18, 66 feet, at 11s—Mr. Henry; lots 2 to 5, 28 to 31, 528 feet at 10s—Mr. Garran; lot 19, 66 feet, at 10s—Mr. Henry; lot 15, 66 feet, at 10s—Mr. Henry; section 3, lots 16 and 17, 132 feet, at 8s; lots 1 and 32, 132 feet, at 5s 6d—Mr. Symons; lots 2 to 15, 18 to 31, 1848 feet, at 3s—Mr. W. Andrews; section 4, lots 16 and 17, 132 feet at 9s 6d; lots 1 and 32, 132 feet at 6s—Mr. Symons; lot 2, 66 feet, at 5s—Mr. Sullivan; section 5, lots 7 and 8, 11 and 12, 264 feet, at 5s—Messrs. Paterson and Webb; section 6, lots 1 and 32, 132 feet, at 5s—Mr. Gannon; section 7, lot 1, 66 feet, at 20s—Mr. Neill; section 8, lots 1 and 18, 132 feet, at 5s—Mr. Symons.

The Melbourne Argus of Wednesday says:—

In the import market business has been quiet, and the day looked as if holiday-making was not yet quite over. In some instances merchants' offices were not opened at all, while others which opened for business were closed at a very early hour. Under such circumstances, therefore, much activity could scarcely be expected in commercial circles. We report, however, a moderate trade inquiry, and it is fully anticipated that with an improving demand something like animation will be experienced ere long. Breadstuffs do not move with any freedom. Flour has been sold for actual requirements at £13 12s 6d to £13 15s, and the feeling is scarcely so firm as at the close of business on Thursday last week. We retain late quotations of 5s 2d for wheat, but we have no transactions to report, there being so very little offering for sale. Oats are without any special inquiry as yet, but the market is steady, and full prices are asked. We quote from 3s 6d for feeding to 3s 9d and 3s 10d for fine heavy feeding and milling qualities. Sugars have scarcely had an inquiry, but there is a very firm market, and with the opening out of business a good trade is expected to be done. Sales of Tasmanian hops, 1876, are reported at 1s 3d. Soda crystals are moving at £9. Liquids are quiet, and without interest. Regarding brandy, London advices to 16th February state that the market, though quiet, was creeping upwards. Hennessy's and Martell's could not be put f. o. b. under 8s 6d, half-hogsheads and half-quarters, that figure being about 2d under what could be done from Charente direct. From Cognac to 13th February we learn that the phylloxera was giving rise to considerable discussion, and science was being brought to bear on the subject in order, if possible, to discover a remedy against its ravages. The weather was wonderfully mild, and not at all reassuring for the spring.

COMMERCIAL.

PRODUCE CIRCULARS.

MORT AND CO.—Wool: We have not much to report regarding this market. The arrivals are limited, and the market quiet. The sales this week do not exhibit any features calling for special comment, and did not comprise any very attractive lots. Quotations: Washed fleece, faulty, 12½d to 15d; medium to good, 16d to 18½d; no superior offered; greasy, inferior conditioned, 6¼d to 7½d; medium, 8d to 9½d; scoured skin, 16d to 19½d; no good lots forward. Sheepskins in good demand, and moderate supply at about late rates. We held no sales this week. Hides: There was no improvement in prices at the sales to-day. Good heavies are scarce, and can be disposed of at from 4½d to 4¾d per lb.; light to medium, 3½d to 4½d. We sold GG, 33 hides at 3½d, 21 at 3½d, 15 at 3½d; M, 40 at 4½d, 30 at 3½d; B, 29 at 3½d; M, 38 at 4½d, TB, 31 at 4½d; LG, 24 at 3½d; FH, 53 at 3½d; PM, 47 at 3½d, 1 at 4½d; T, 19 at 4½d; JG, 22 at 3½d; RT, 19 at 3½d; JM, 25 at 3½d; TMcI, 20 (damaged) at 2d; C over L, 13 at 3½d; AQ, 15 (inferior) at 2½d; JM, 2 at 3½d. Horse-hides: Small and inferior lots are difficult to quit; large sizes are worth from 5s to 7s each. Tallow: There is a moderate demand for parcels suitable for shipment, but trade lots are hardly so firm. Quotations—Beef, £32 to £34; mixed, £29 to £31; and mutton, £34 to £36 10s per ton. We sold RCB, 1 cask at £30 15s; GG, 1 at £30 15s; W, 12 at £33 7s 6d; AFCD, 2 at £31 5s, 1 at £28 5s; DS, 4 at £30 10s; GGI, 1 at £31 15s, H, 11 at £34; B, 11 at £30 10s; AFCD, 1 at £32; N, 6 at £29; FJ, 6 at £34 10s; H, 6 at £32; EG, 1 at £29. Leather: The demand for sole of good tannage still continues, but without any improvement in prices. For parcels of well-dressed kip, of light weight, an advance on recent rates has taken place. Quotations—Sole, 8d to 10d; kip, 13d to 16½d; harness, 12d to 14d; calf, 30d to 36d; cow tweed, 23d to 16d; horse ditto, 22d to 24d per lb. Horse Hair: Prices are without alteration; tail is worth from 14d to 17d; mixed, 13d to 15d; and mane 10d to 12d per lb. Horns: At the sales to-day prices were hardly so firm. Quotations—Medium to large sizes, 22s to 23s per 100; small and inferior are dull of sale. Shankbones are worth from £8 to £12 per ton, according to condition and quality. Kangaroo Skins: Most of those brought forward are weevilly, and of an inferior description, which are difficult of sale; but for well cured skins, in sound condition, a good demand exists at from 24d to 30d each.—April 6.

HARRISON, JONES, AND DEVLIN.—Wool: 580 bales offered, 348 sold. Since our last report we are in receipt of the news of the closing of the London February sales, and, considering the state of the London market, the prices ruling here are satisfactory. Good lots of all classes of wool meet with brisk competition; but the medium and lower classes of wool are low in price, as it is on these wools the late fall has been the greatest. The range of sales was—fleece, average to good 15d to 17½d, medium 11d to 13½d; greasy, average to good, 7½d to 8½d, medium 6d to 7d; scoured, average to good 17d to 21d; medium 11d to 15d. We catalogued 480 bales, selling—A over Darby, 46 fleece at 17d, 6 pieces at 10½d, 1 clip at 10d; WC over Kangaroo Hills, 26 fleece at 16d, 6 pieces at 11d; S P Youngs, 2 locks at 4½d, pieces at 6d, greasy at 8d; MT over Manero, 6 fleece at 12d; PM, 10 at 12½d, 1 clip at 5d; L, 12 fleece at 12½d; MJW, 33 greasy at 8d; CxS over 0107, at 8d; C over J, 12 at 8d, 5 lambs at 8½d; JHN, 11 greasy at 8d, 1 pieces at 3½d; HG, 26 greasy at 7d; BG over Argyle, 9 washed at 13d; ditto, 9 bellies and pieces at 4½d; RAW Co, 73 greasy at 8½d; EB over DW, 8 scoured at 21d; JD over New England, 14 fleece at 16½d, and 118 bales in odd lots. Sheepskins: These still maintain very full prices, and all lots are readily taken at late rates, and as the wool is now commencing to fall off, we look for further improvement. The sales this week ranged—Scoured, 7d to 7½d; best, 5½d to 6d; medium, 4d to 4½d; pelts and short-woolled, 2d to 3½d. We sold a very heavy catalogue of 41 lots at these prices. Tallow: 173 offered, 114 sold. The demand for both trade and shipping lots is very good, and all the catalogues were cleared at the following range of prices:—Mutton, 35s 6d to 36s 6d; beef, 32s 6d to 33s 6d; mixed and station, 29s to 32s. We sold mutton, SMP Co., 27 at 36s 6d, M, 40 at 36s 6d; WT 5, at 35s 6d; beef, C, 3 at 33s; M, 30 at 32s 3d; DH, 4 at 32s 3d; mixed, JAM, 4 at 32s; ST, 2 at 32s, JP in circle, 2 at 31s; JAM, 4 at 32s; ST, 2 at 31s, FL, 2 at 31s; pink tape, 2 at 32s, WD, 2 at 31s 6d; M&A, 2 at 32s 6d; FB, 2 at 33s. Hides: 7066 offered, 1818 sold. Rather a small attendance of buyers in consequence of the holidays, and biddings rather languid except for really well-cured parcels, which realized late rates; in all other classes prices were lower. The sales ranged, extra heavy, 4½d to to 4½d; heavy, 4d to 4½d; medium, 3½d to 3½d; light and middling, 2½d to 3½d. We sold SMPC, 130 at 4½d; pink tape, 48 at 4½d; green hide, 24 at 3½d; LL, 73 at 3d; WH, 40 at 4½d; JHn, 15 at 4½d; WD, 26 at 3½d; J&G, 20 damaged at 2½d; T, 10 at 3½d; Rope, 20 at 4½d; RC, 43 at 3½d; leather, 19 at 4d; Y and W, 35 at 4d; S, 10 at 3½d; HCI, 4 at 3½d; M and H, 30 at 4½; AS, 18 at 3½d; pink tape, 49 at 4d; HB, 57 at 4d; B, 59 at 4½d; WB, 43 at 4d; JAM, 80 at 4d, and odd lots; calf and yearling, 2s 10d to 6s; kangaroo, 20d. Leather: The attendance this week was rather small, caused by the holidays and races, but for all lots of good quality late prices were readily given, especially for prime dressed leathers, which are rather scarce. Harness is a little more in demand. Sole is scarcely so firm, as the English news is hardly so good. Quotations—Sole, best, 8½d to 10d; medium, 8d to 8½d; kip, best, 15d to 16d; medium, 13d to 14d; cow tweed, 20d to 21d; horse ditto, 21d to 24d; harness, 11d to 13d; bag, 10s 6d to 13s 6d; bridle, 11s to 13s 6d; calf, 28d to 36d. We sold a few lines, viz.:—Sole: 80 sides at 8½d; 41 sides at 10½d; 62 sides at 9½d.; bag at 1/s 6d; harness, 11d to 12½d; but held over nearly the whole of our catalogue till next week. Tin Ore: 3044 bags, equal to 160 tons, are the arrivals of this week. The market remains without any very material alteration, and all ore offering is taken at the last ruling rates, although the quantity for sale is not so much as of late, as the greater portion is now being smelted on owners' account. Tin: Latest London telegram—"Metal wanted; unchanged"—(Viz., metal dull at £71.) The market has been rather bare of metal, and those sales that have been made were at last ruling prices. There are buyers for all offering, but the great scarcity of freight is against a very large amount of business being done. Our sales have been 50 tons at last quotations.—April 6.

RICHARDSON AND WRENCH.—Wool: This market during the past four weeks has been fairly supplied, 4472 bales having been catalogued for public sale. Of this number 2111 were sold under the hammer, the remainder being held over, having failed to reach owners' reserves. The latest news from England per wire shows a decline in price on the February sales from the rates ruling at the closing sales of last year; but when it is remembered that the rise in the November sales was unusually rapid, and without any apparent reason, a falling-off in the following series might be fairly expected. The season is now nearly over for fleece wools, and the sales for the next few months will have to depend on balances of outside clips yet to come forward, and fellmongered skin wools. The shipments to date, including the cargoes of the Duke of Sutherland, Eastminster, and Wave of Life, amount to 110,831 bales, against 117,138 at a similar period last year. Tallow: A quiet business has marked the month at prices about equal to last month's—say, beef, £29 to £32 per ton; and mutton, £34 to £36 per ton. The trade bought the principal lines offered. Hides: The demand for this class of produce has not improved, and the market is somewhat dull. Heavies are worth 4d; medium, 3½d; light up to 3d per lb.—April 6.

STOCK AND STATION CIRCULARS.

HARRISON, JONES, AND DEVLIN.—Stations: Since our last report several stations have been offered in the Northern districts, but failed to find purchasers. We have a station property under offer which we hope to report the sale of in our next. Fat Cattle: 973 yarded. Owing to the Easter holidays and the Randwick races following, only one sale of cattle was held during the week, and notwithstanding there were fewer offered than for some weeks past, prices showed little advance on last week's quotations. This may be attributed to the carcase butchers being fully stocked and few country buyers present. Prime beef may be quoted from 22s 6d to 25s; medium, from 16s to 21s. Fat Sheep: 11,718 yarded. The market being now pretty well free from low quality sheep, the carcase buyers being purchasers, better prices are likely to rule. 56-lbs. of which there are very few offering, are worth from 11s to 12s, lighter weights in proportion. Store cattle: Owing to the continued dry weather in the Southern districts, little or no business is being done. We have several prime drafts now en route for southern markets, but find little chance of making a sale until we get rain. Store Sheep: We find there are buyers now for good framed wethers, and prices may be quoted slightly better; vendors are asking from 6s 6d to 7s.—April 6.

G. M. PITT AND SON.—Stations: We have had a few inquiries for stations during the week, and have placed a cattle run in Northern Queensland under offer, and the buyer has started to inspect. We are also in treaty for two properties in the Gwydir district, which we hope to bring to a satisfactory issue. Fat Cattle: 450 yarded. On account of Monday being a holiday, and the end of the week being devoted to the races, only one cattle sale was held, but the trade was well supplied with outside purchases which prevented any great improvement taking place in the market. The supply, however, from this out is only very limited, and we anticipate a marked advance in a few weeks' time. We quote best beef worth 24s to 25s per 100 lbs. Our sales have been 75 bullocks (Davison's), at £8 6s; 103 mixed (S. Cox's), on £6 8s; also, on account of the A. A. Company, delivered on their Warrah station, 200 cull cows at £5 5s. Fat Sheep: This market continues very firm, and sales have shown great animation, at a slight improvement on late ruling rate. Prime wethers are very scarce, and command extreme prices, and there is also much better demand for medium and inferior lots. We look for higher prices as the season advances. Our sales have been 1581 wethers (John Corrigan's), at 6s 4d; 1491 ewes, ditto, at 6s. Store Stock: We have a great many inquiries for good fattening wethers, and could place 20,000 to 30,000 at satisfactory prices. The season from the Namoi northwards is all that can be desired, and we anticipate doing a large business during the next few months. We quote best wethers 6 and 8 tooth, worth from 6s to 7s, all depends on condition and place of delivery.—April 6.

T. S. CLIBBORN AND Co. report having sold at Fennelly's Bazaar the balance of yearlings catalogued for sale on the third instant. The prices realised were as follows:—On account of Mr. F. Reynolds, Tocal: Bay colt, by Kelpie (imported) out of Emery, 200 guineas. On account of Mr. J. T. Tindale, Bylong, Mudgee: Bay or brown colt, by Gemma di Vergy (imported) out of Black Bee, 46 guineas; brown or black colt, by Gemma di Vergy (imported) out of Midnight, 50 guineas. On account of Mr. S. H. Terry, Box Hill: Bay colt, by Maribyrnong out of Spendthrift, 270 guineas. On account of Mr. J. S. Smith, Magnre, South Creek: Brown colt, by Maribyrnong out of Queen Bee, 53 guineas; brown filly, by Maribyrnong out of Patti, 35 guineas; brown filly, by Maribyrnong, dam by Magus, 35 guineas; bay filly, by Tim Whiffler out of Sunshine, 55 guineas.—April 6.

WILLIAM INGLIS.—Fat Cattle: The supply was scarcer this week, and prices are very firm, with an upward tendency. I sold 30 head light (G. H. Hall's), from £6 to £8 9s. Best beef is worth about 24s per 100 lbs. Sheep: Good wethers are scarce, but there is an over supply of inferior, prices are very little different since last week. Milch Cows: There was a very good sale, large numbers in, and a very good attendance of buyers. I sold 53, from £5 5s to £10 12s 6d. Calves: Supply much larger this week. I sold 23 (Cooper, Brothers), 26s 6d to 48s 6d; 20 (Lawson), 17s 6d to 25s; 29 (Whitehead), 19s to 33s 6d; and 40 others from 10s to 39s. Lambs: The market is bare of good ones that would sell well. Pigs: Supply scarcer, and prices high. I sold 104, from 14s 6d to 59s. Horses: There is a brisk demand for all kinds of good horses. I have an exceedingly fine lot (M'Connell and Welch's) advertised for sale, at Camperdown, on Monday.—April 6.

ASTRONOMICAL MEMORANDA FOR APRIL 7, 1877.—Sun rises at 6.17, sets at 5.47. SYDNEY MARKETS.

CATTLE MARKET.

THERE were no cattle for sale at Homebush on Thursday, it being understood by the buyers that owing to this being the race week none would be offered on that day; but on the previous Tuesday there was a tolerably good supply. At Thursday's Homebush sales as many as 7000 sheep were sold; they showed a slight decline in price, the highest figure being 8s 4d. The following were the latest results of sales:—Bullocks, £5 15s to £7 10s; sheep, 6s 2d to 8s 4d; lambs, 6s to 11s; calves, £1 to £2; pigs (scarce), £1 2s to £2 18s 6d; the last three not having varied materially in price for some time.

SYDNEY PRODUCE PRICES CURRENT.

Breadstuffs are at last week's quotations, and large shipments have come to hand, which, however, have not depressed the market. Holders of stocks anticipate a decided improvement, and are not inclined to part in other than small quantities. Adelaide flour is quoted at £16 0s to £15 10s for town and country brands. Adelaide wheat is worth 6s 6d to 6s 9d. Bran and pollard are selling at from 1s 2d to 1s 3d. The maize market is brisk, and large parcels have changed hands at from 2s 6d to 2s 10d, according to samples. The home consumption being so heavy, there has been very little exported. Potatoes are to hand from Warrnambool, in fair order, and large parcels sell at from £4 1 s to £5 5s per ton. The butter arriving is still of inferior quality, some of it being hardly salable. Both oaten and lucerne hay are in fair demand. The following are the latest quotations:—

Flour.—Silk-dressed (ton of 2000 lbs.), £15 10s to £16 10s; fine, £13 0s to £14 10s.

Bran (bushel), 1s 2d to 1s 3d.

Biscuit.—Cabin (100 lbs), 23s; navy, 16s.

Bread (2-lb loaf), 4d.

Poultry.—Fowls (couple), 3s to 3s 6d; ducks, 4s to 4s 6d; wild ducks, 4s; teal, 1s 6d; geese, 6s to 8s; turkeys, 8s to 24s; pigeons, 1s 6d.

Rabbits (pair), 2s 6d to 3s.

Roasting pigs (each), 5s to 7s.

Dairy Produce.—Butter (per lb.), 1s 3d to 1s 6d; cheese, 8d to 9d; bacon, 8d to 9d; lard, 8d; eggs (dozen), 1s 2d to 1s 4d.

Vegetables.—Potatoes (per cwt.), 5s to 6s; onions, 6s to 8s; cabbages (dozen), 2s to 5s; lettuces, 6d to 1s; pumpkins, 4s to 10s; marrows, 1s to 3s; cucumbers, 1s to 2s; turnips (dozen bunches), 2s; carrots, 1s to 1s 6d; parsnips, 1s to 1s 6d; beetroot, 3s; rhubarb, 1s to 1s 6d; celery, 8s to 9s; green peas (bushel), 8s to 10s; French beans, 2s. to 2s 6d.

Fruit.—Oranges (case), 3s to 5s; lemons, 8s to 10s; apples, 4s to 8s; pears, 4s to 10s; peaches, 6s to 10s; plums, 8s to 10s; quinces, 4s to 5s; greengages, 12s; water melons (dozen), 6s to 7s; rock melons, 6s to 8s; bananas, 6d to 8d; grapes (lb.), 6d to 10d.

Honey (lb.), 4d to 4½d.

Forage.—Straw (ton), £3 10s to £3 15s; grass, £3; lucerne, £3 15s to £4; oaten, £3 15s to £5 10s; maize (bushel), 2s 6d to 2s 10d; oats, 3s to 3s 6d; barley, 3s to 4s; wheat, 6s 6d to 6s 9d; green food (dozen bundles), 8d.

TIMBER MARKET.

The following are the wholesale prices obtained during the past week for colonial timber:—Hardwood, in logs, per 100 super feet, from 8s to 10s; cedar, in logs, ditto ditto, 12s to 18s; pine, in logs, ditto ditto, 7s 6d to 10s 6d; Maryborough pine, dressed, 20s to 21s.

MERCANTILE ROWING CLUB.

THE usual quarterly meeting of the above-named club was held last night at the Oxford Hotel, King-street. Mr. C. W. Rudd occupied the chair, and Mr. W. R. Benson, the secretary, read the following quarterly report:—

"In consequence of the annual meeting having been held so very recently, your committee have a brief but satisfactory report to lay before you this evening. Gardiner Cup Law Suit: The club-crew were, as you are aware, nonsuited on the technical point raised by the defendants in the late action for the recovery of the Gardiner Cup trophies. Your committee have not yet definitely decided what steps they will take to further test the legality of the action of the Balmain Committee in connection with the late Gardiner Cup race. Boats: Several outriggers are now being built for the club in Melbourne. Caretaker's Cottage: Two additional rooms have been added to this building, and it is now a most suitable residence for the custodian of the club property. Coach: You committee have engaged a professional coach for the purpose of instructing those members who may wish to cultivate rowing. Picnic: The club picnic took place on the 24th of March last, and was a complete success. Club Races: The following are the prize winners in club races for the past quarter:—Messrs. Brett and Mounteastle (double sculls), Messrs. Brett, Mounteastle, Smart, and Murray (maiden four oars). Anniversary Regatta: The committee have to congratulate the members for securing every prize open to the rowing clubs at this regatta. In conclusion, your committee would point out to you the desirability of reducing the amount of overdraft at the bank, and they hope that some scheme will be devised this evening for the object named."

The remainder of the evening was occupied in discussing club matters, and after a vote of thanks having been awarded to the chairman, the meeting was adjourned.

THE LATE MR. A. ANDERSON.—We notice by the Melbourne Herald of March 24, that on Sunday afternoon last an interesting, though sad, ceremony took place at the General Cemetery of that city. It consisted of the dedication of an ornamental tombstone, subscribed for by the personal friends and admirers of the late Mr. Alfred Anderson, R.A.M., and erected to his memory. As an additional tribute of esteem an epitaph, kindly composed by Mr. Garnet Walch, was inscribed upon it. The people of Sydney who knew Mr. Anderson will gladly learn of the high respect in which he was held by the citizens of Melbourne as a musical genius and a genial friend.

Estates in arrear under 9th rule of Court, official assignees to be heard thereon.

QUARTER SESSIONS.

FRIDAY.

BEFORE Mr. District Court Judge DOWLING.
Mr. W. J. Foster prosecuted for the Crown.

SENTENCES.

Patrick Hall, who, on the previous day, had pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny, was sentenced to six months' hard labour in Darlinghurst gaol.

Robert Blackwood, who, on the previous day, had pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny from his employer, John Wilson, was sentenced to six months' imprisonment, with hard labour, in Darlinghurst gaol.

LARCENY.

Mary Clark was charged with having, on the 27th of January last, at Sydney, stolen a purse, with £2 16s. in money, the property of Thomas Shortell. Prisoner pleaded not guilty, and was undefended. Prisoner had been residing in the prosecutor's house, and had stolen the money from his wife's dress while she was in bed. The money was found in prisoner's possession. The jury returned a verdict of guilty, and prisoner, who had been eighteen times convicted of stealing, was sentenced to eighteen months' imprisonment, with hard labour, in Darlinghurst gaol.

UNLAWFULLY PAWNING.

William Pacey was charged with having, on the 2nd of March, unlawfully pawned a saw and plane, the property of Henry Burfield. Prisoner pleaded not guilty, and was undefended. The prisoner had gone to prosecutor, who is a cabinetmaker, and asked for the loan of a saw and plane for an hour. Burfield lent them; but they were not returned as promised, prisoner, on being asked for the articles on several occasions, making excuses of various kinds. At last it was found that the saw and the plane had been pawned with a pawnbroker named Miller, for a sum of 4s. The jury returned a verdict of guilty without leaving the box, and were of opinion that this case should have been disposed of in a lower Court. His Honor said that in this case the lower Court had not the power to decide. Prisoner was sentenced to three months in Darlinghurst gaol with hard labour.

KEEPING A DISORDERLY HOUSE.

Bridget Sheehan was charged with being the keeper of a disorderly house in Castlereagh-street. She pleaded not guilty, and was undefended. The witnesses who sustained the case for the Crown were senior-sergeant Kerr, senior-constable Butler, Eliza Caproni, and Antonio Caproni. The jury returned a verdict of guilty, and through their foreman commended the police for their efforts in rooting out such hot beds of vice. Prisoner was sentenced to six months' hard labour in Darlinghurst gaol.

PERJURY.

James Quigg was charged with having committed wilful and corrupt perjury, in having sworn upon his oath as a witness at the Police Court, that one John Brandt had struck him (James Quigg) on the head, whereas Brandt had not so struck and assaulted him. Prisoner pleaded not guilty, and was defended by Mr. Buchanan, instructed by Mr. A. M. Castle. The assault, for which Brandt had been punished at the Police Court, together with a man named Strange, took place on the Canterbury Road, and prisoner had sworn positively that he had been struck both by Brandt and Strange. Witnesses were called, principally Brandt and Strange, to show that the former had not struck the prisoner. Quigg was ably defended by Mr. Buchanan, and the jury without leaving the box returned a verdict of not guilty, a verdict in which his Honor expressed his concurrence. Prisoner was thereupon discharged.

FORGING AND UTTERING.

William H. Booth and Robert C. Crawford were charged with having at Sydney, on the 13th February, forged a warrant for £42. A second count charged the prisoners with having uttered the cheque knowing it to be forged. Prisoners pleaded not guilty, and were undefended. The prisoners, on the day named in the information, went into the shop of William Howes, tailor and outfitter, and there selected some clothing, for payment of which Booth offered a cheque for £42, purporting to be drawn by E. Vickery and Co., in regard of certain work done at the beche-de-mer fishery. One of the prisoners represented himself as having just come from Fiji. While they were both in the shop inquiries were made about the cheque which had been presented, and it was discovered to be a forgery. The police were at once communicated with. Police-constable George Milne arrived and took both men into custody. Booth said to the officer, after the usual caution had been given, "Crawford gave me the cheque." Crawford said, "I gave the cheque to Booth." Both of the prisoners said to the constable that they did not know that the cheque was a bad one. Both prisoners were found guilty on the second count, and remanded for sentence until Monday next.

STEALING FROM THE PERSON.

Mary Ann Jones and Ann Pontifex were charged with having, on the 26th of March last, stolen a purse with £3 15s., the property of John Ross. Prisoners were charged on a second count with having received the property, knowing it to have been stolen. Prisoners pleaded not guilty, and were undefended. They were arrested at their residence by constables Sproule and Williamson when they were counting the money, which they had just taken. Jones was found guilty of stealing, and Pontifex of receiving. Both prisoners were remanded for sentence.

The Court was adjourned till 10 o'clock on Monday forenoon next.

CENTRAL POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY.

BEFORE Messrs. Jolly and R. C. Murray.

Ten persons were fined for drunkenness.

Henry Carter, charged with using obscene language, was sentenced to pay a penalty of 10s., or to be imprisoned four days.

Michael Tobin, charged with having wilfully damaged the fence of Hyde Park, by pulling down several palings, pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to pay a penalty of 40s., or to be imprisoned fourteen days.

Mary Ann Sullivan was summarily convicted of having stolen a carpet-bag, valued at 12s. 6d., the property of Emanuel Emanuel, of King-street, and was sentenced to be imprisoned two months.

Henry Sweetman, charged with cruelty to a horse by using it while suffering from sores, pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to pay a penalty of 20s., or to be imprisoned seven days.

Henry Moore was charged with having stolen a pair of trousers and a shirt, valued at 12s. 6d., the goods of Edward Cleary, of King-street. Sergeant Hyem, passing along King-street about 7 o'clock last evening, saw the larceny, and followed and apprehended the thief. To be imprisoned two months.

Before Messrs. Oatley and Ridge.

On the summons paper were thirty-five cases. John Fitzroy and Patrick Houlahan, found guilty of using obscene language, were ordered to pay 10s. each. Philip Fitzpatrick, James Egan, James Leonard, and John Hourigan, charged with breaches of the Publicans' Licensing Act, severally pleaded guilty, and were fined 10s. each. Eight persons were fined, some 5s. and others 10s., for drunkenness; and six were fined, some 2s. 6d. and others 5s., for offences against the Police Act. Mary O'Brien was fined 20s., for using obscene language. Of the rest, two were dismissed, eight were postponed, one was struck out for want of prosecution, and in one a warrant was issued for the apprehension of the defendant.

Before Messrs. Holsham and Perdriau.

Ah Toy, on remand, was charged with being the keeper of a disorderly and ill-governed house in a place off Goulburn-street, known as "The Chinaman's Retreat." The prosecution was conducted by Mr. Redman, and the defence by Messrs. Roberts and Greer. Sergeant Lawless and three constables, and Thomas Clampett, a resident in the vicinity, were examined in support of the prosecution. For the defence, Ah Sing deposed that he is and has been for three or four years, the tenant and master of the house described; Ah Toy does not live in it nor exercise any control or authority in it. Ah Su, Ah Kong, and John Mitchell (a Christian Chinese), gave evidence in support of Ah Sing's deposition. Mr. Redman recalled, Mr. Greer objecting, sergeant Lawless, who deposed that on the 6th March Ah Sing told him, defendant not being present, that Ah Toy was the master of the house. Defendant was committed to take his trial at the Quarter Sessions. Bail allowed in £50, with two sureties in £25 each.

LICENSING BUSINESS.—Before Messrs. Palser and Graham.—Four publicans obtained permission to transfer their licenses—Alfred Greenwood to Bridget Greenwood, George Braben to James H. Hillyer, Charles Gill to James Gill, and Joseph Turner to George Everett. The application of Benjamin Reeve to transfer his license to Joseph Davison was opposed by sub-inspector Anderson on various grounds. Mr. Roberts, who appeared on behalf of the parties, said that this matter came on a few days ago before other two Justices, who considered that it should be heard by a greater number of magistrates, and on that ground postponed it. He (Mr. Roberts) had now to apply for a postponement, the applicants' witnesses, who were in attendance the other day, not being there to-day. Their Worships refused to postpone, whereupon Mr. Roberts withdrew the application. Shortly afterwards Mr. Roberts returned into Court, and said that he had been informed that their Worships had ordered the clerk to mark the application as refused. If so, he now asserted that such false record should be rectified. Mr. Palser replied that the record would not be altered. Mr. Roberts said that he would call the attention of the Minister of Justice to the record, as an incorrect statement of the matter before the Court.

WATER POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY.

BEFORE the Water Police Magistrate and Messrs. Lester, Senior, and Goodridge.

Three persons were fined for drunkenness.

Mary Hayes and David A. S. Cooper were brought up for protection on suspicion of being of unsound mind, and were sent to the receiving-house at Darlinghurst.

Henry M'Gowan, alias Williams, and George Edwards, alias Martin Hands, arrested by constables Costigan and M'Vane, were charged with having been found loitering in Plunkett-street for the purpose of committing a felony. Constable Costigan stated that he was on duty in Plunkett-street about half-past 3 o'clock this morning; he saw the two prisoners and another man of suspicious appearance there; he watched them, and saw one of the prisoners go down a right-of-way to the back of a dwelling-house, while the other prisoner went to the front door and tried the handle; the third man kept watch on the kerbstone, not ten yards away; when the men saw witness appear they ran away; they were arrested by witness and constable M'Vane, and upon each of them an article of female apparel was found. Sergeant Mulqueeny stated that he had known the prisoners for several years as convicted thieves and suspected characters. Both prisoners were sentenced to three months' imprisonment, with hard labour.

Martin Gabbins was fined 10s., or four days' gaol, for riotous behaviour in George-street.

SUMMONS CASES.—John Summons was fined £2, with costs, for suffering manure and filth to remain on premises occupied by him in Hutchinson-street. John Tierney, of 368, George-street, was charged with suffering muck and filth to remain upon his premises. Inspector Seymour stated that he visited defendant's place on the 22nd ultimo, and found a very dangerous smell; in the kitchen, where they were cooking food, the smell was even worse; the cook himself said it was not fit for a human being to inhabit. Henry Prince, merchant, stated that he knew defendant's premises only too well; his private office was separated from them by a lane; he became very ill from the miasma arising from defendant's place, and was obliged to leave; he complained to the Inspector of Nuisances. Defendant was fined £5, with £1 6s. costs. George Leening was charged, on the information of one Jesse Conley, with suffering a nuisance to exist on premises owned by him in Albert-street, Woollahra. George James, overseer to the Municipal Council of Woollahra, stated that on the 31st March last he visited defendant's property, and found an extremely bad smell proceeding from a drain connected with a cesspit; the drain led into Point Piper Road; defendant did not live there, but owned the property. Mr. Hinton, the tenant, said it had been found necessary to cut the drain in consequence of a recent heavy storm. Defendant was fined £5, with costs.

LICENSING BUSINESS.—A special auctioneer's license was granted to Robert B. Daubarn.

BALMAIN VOLUNTEER RIFLES.

THE annual meeting of this company was held in the Hall of the Balmain School of Arts, on the evening of the 27th ultimo, Captain Longfield in the chair. A statement of accounts for the past year was read and adopted, and also the following report:—

1. The number of members now on the roll is 75, of whom 69 were efficient on 1st January last. These attended during the year 1876 an average of 29 parades each, being 15 in excess of the number required for efficiency, and 3 parades more than the average of 1875. This result cannot be regarded as otherwise than satisfactory when it is remembered that recruiting has been disallowed for nearly four years, and that no encouragement whatever is offered to induce members of the Volunteer Force to continue their services after receiving their Land Orders. 2. It is also satisfactory to observe, that the greater number of those who have received their Land Orders are still serving as efficient members of the company. At the date of last annual meeting there were on the roll 43 efficient members who had previously received their Land Orders, of these only 4 have since resigned, and your committee venture to hope that all those who have within the past two months received their orders, will continue to serve as efficient Volunteers, and thus further help to refute the charge so often brought against members of the force as being only "Land order men." 3. During the past year the company sustained a severe loss in the death of Captain Cameron. Apart from the great interest he took in the company, this officer had, by his uniform courtesy and consideration, endeared himself to every member, and your committee feel assured that his memory will always be honoured and respected by those who served under his command. Consequent upon the death of Captain Cameron, the officers who then held the junior positions in the company, viz., Lieutenant Longfield and Ensign Stack have been appointed to the rank of captain and lieutenant respectively. The vacancy for ensign has not yet been filled. 4. The financial position of the company is still very satisfactory, it being as follows:—Balance in hands of Captain Longfield per account submitted, £20 7s. 3d.; balance of capitation allowance for 1875 (shortly to be received) £110 12s. 10d.; capitation allowance for 1876, 69 efficients at 30s., £103 10s.; fines due by members of the company, £6 8s., making a total credit of £240 18s. 1d. The liabilities of the company are nil, but the members are about to be supplied with new trousers, which will absorb about £70 of the capitation allowance for 1876. 5. During the past year your officers and committee have endeavoured to encourage and promote rifle shooting in the company, and with a successful result. In addition to quarterly company prizes, special trophies have been presented as follows, viz.:—One from Captain Longfield, for quarter ending 30th September last; one each from Major Jacques and Lieutenant Stack, for quarter ending 31st December; and one from Captain Longfield for present quarter; and Ensign Tidswell, one of your honorary members, has announced his intention of presenting one for the ensuing quarter. Great interest has been manifested by the members of the company in the competitions for these prizes, and the following are the winners:—Quarter ending 30th September, 1876.—Company Prizes: 1, private J. H. Read; 2, quartermaster-sergeant Tinley; 3, corporal Woodley; 4, colour-sergeant Killeen; 5, private A. Lane; 6, Lieutenant Stack. Special prize: Quarter-master sergeant Tinley. Quarter ending 31st December, 1876.—Company's Prizes: 1, Private T. Wright; 2, Major Jaques (hon. member); 3, private G. E. Phillips; 4, private T. Jennings, jun.; 5, Lieutenant Stack; 6, Captain Longfield. Special prizes: Private T. Wright, private T. Jennings, jun. The competitions for the present quarter are not yet completed. 6. The company occupied a prominent position in the annual musketry course for 1876. 52 members competed, of whom 29 are first-class (15 being marksmen), 11 second-class, and 12 third class; and the official report of the musketry instructor shows that the Balmain company was the sixth best average of the whole force, and first of the 2nd Regiment. 7. Your committee cannot close this report without expressing a hope that ere long the Volunteer Force may be placed on a more satisfactory and permanent basis than it is at present.—Balmain, March 27.

A committee was then elected for the ensuing year, consisting of quartermaster-sergeant Tinley, sergeants Russell and Phillips, corporal Lesley, and private E. Schofield.

The meeting terminated with three loyal and hearty cheers for her Majesty the Queen.

PARRAMATTA.

[FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.]

KILLED BY FALLING DOWN STAIRS.—The District Coroner (Mr. J. E. Bowden) held an inquest at the Government Asylum for Infirm and Destitute at Parramatta, on the 6th instant, on view of the body of John Veitch, aged 73, one of the inmates. William Fleet, a wardsman in the asylum, stated that about twenty minutes to 1 o'clock in the afternoon he saw deceased in the act of going down the stairs to the mess-room, and about two or three steps from the top; suddenly he appeared to lose his hand hold, turned round, and fell backwards down the stairs to the flag floor underneath; the height he fell was about 8 or 9 feet; when lifted up deceased was quite unconscious. John Law, sick wardsman at the asylum, deposed that everything was done for deceased that could be done, but he never regained consciousness, and died about 7 o'clock; he had known deceased to have fits. Robert Francis Potter, head wardsman, deposed that he went to the deceased after he fell, and put some water on his face and loosened his neck cloth, but finding that he did not come to, he examined him and found his arm broke; he put temporary splints on and had him removed to the sick ward, and sent for medical assistance; the stairs down which the deceased was said to have fallen are quite dangerous, the width of the tread is only 7½ inches, and in descending the heel is apt to catch the upper step. Dr. Smith deposed that on examination he found the right side of deceased's skull fractured right across, and that the injury was sufficient to cause death. Mr. Superintendent Dennis deposed that there had been a number of accidents, several proving fatal through these stairs; they were altogether too steep and the tread too narrow for infirm persons. The jury found that the deceased died from injuries received through his accidentally falling down the mess-room stairs. They added the following rider: "The jury consider the stairs to be in a highly dangerous state, and that the evil ought to be remedied as speedily as possible, to prevent further accidents."

TUMUT.

[FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.]

THE Hon. James Hoskins, on his arrival in Gundagai on Tuesday last, was most cordially received by a number of the Tumut electors. The hon. gentleman was subsequently driven to Tumut by Mr. S. M. Swift. Though arriving here at a late hour, a deputation waited upon Mr. Hoskins and presented him with a numerously signed address. It is intended to entertain him at a public dinner on Friday next.

Easter Monday was quite a gala day here. The Sons of Temperance of the Southern Light Division, and the Loyal Tumut Lodge of the Independent Order of Oddfellows' honoured the day by celebrating their respective anniversaries. Notwithstanding the counter attractions at Adelong (where, among other pastimes, a baby show was held), a number of visitors from that town, and also from Gundagai spent the day in Tumut. The temperance demonstration commenced at 1 o'clock p.m., when a long and gay procession, proceeded by Parker's brass band, emerged from the grounds of the Temperance Hall, and marched around the town. About 6 o'clock, upwards of 250 persons partook of an excellent repast in the hall. The report of the year's progress was then read, and proved satisfactory, after which the hall was cleared, and a very successful gathering closed with a ball. At 2 p.m. on the same day the Oddfellows' procession, headed by their own band, started from the lodge-room, and perambulated the principal streets of the town. The playing of the band, which has only recently been formed, was remarkably good. In the evening a party met at host M'Kay's Beehive Assembly Room, where a supper and ball was given.

Our residents were exceedingly elated on Saturday last, at the victory won by the Tumut cricketers in Wagga Wagga, at the match for A. G. Jones's challenge cup. The Wagga men scored in their first innings 74 runs, Tumut only 41. In the second innings, Wagga made 31, while Tumut obtained 65 runs; thus the latter team won the match and had four wickets to spare. The cup is to become the property of the club who shall win it three seasons in succession.

An old man named John Russell well known about Tumut, died very suddenly on Wednesday morning last under the verandah of the Woolpack Inn. At the inquest held before the coroner on the same day, it appeared that the deceased had slept out on the previous night, that when the house was opened, he came in, complained to the landlord of a pain in his chest, that he then obtained and drank a glass of rum, after which he went out and lay down upon his swag and expired without a murmur. Dr. Verschner, made a post-mortem examination. After hearing the medical evidence, the jury returned a verdict that the deceased died from nervous exhaustion produced by habitual intemperance.

At the annual vestry meeting held last night in All Saints Anglican Church for the election of churchwardens, and for receiving the report of the retiring officers, the Rev. G. Spencer occupied the chair, when a warm and interesting debate occurred on several important topics affecting the interests of the Church. The parishioners present who had not already done so signed their names to the subscription list to provide funds for the erection of the transepts of the church. The report of the past year having been received and adopted, Messrs. R. M. Shelley, F. M. Vernon, and W. Bridle were elected churchwardens for the ensuing year.

ALLEGED BRIBES TO JOURNALS BY THE NAWAB NAZIM.—A few weeks ago we published an extract from the official report in the affairs of the above Indian celebrity, in which there appeared in the financial part a large sum named as having been given as presents, but in reality paid as bribes, to certain newspapers in London, and notably £140 to Vanity Fair. The proprietor of that journal, Mr. Thomas Bowles, has addressed the following letter on the subject to the Pall Mall Gazette:—Sir,—The Gazette of India has published a statement to the effect that I, as proprietor of Vanity Fair, received in 1870 a sum of £40 as 'a donation in acknowledgment of the publication of a likeness of the Nawab Nazim,' and also a sum of £100 as 'another donation and payment for back numbers.' As these statements have been reproduced by certain publications in this country, I shall be obliged if you will allow me to say that they are absolutely and entirely false."

WIT IN COURT.—Keen and cutting words, or even trifling incivilities, indulged in at the expense of counsel, have sometimes met with swift retribution. Plunket was once engaged in a case, when, towards the end of the afternoon, it became a question whether the Court should proceed or adjourn till the next day. Plunket expressed his willingness to go on if the jury would "set." "Sit, sir, sit," said the presiding judge, "not 'set'; hens set." "I thank you, my lord," said Plunket. The case proceeded, and presently the judge had occasion to observe that if that were the case, he feared the action would not "lay." "Lie, my lord, lie," exclaimed the barrister, "not 'lay'; hens lay."—"If you don't stop your coughing, sir," said a testy and irritable judge, "I'll fine you a hundred pounds." "I'll give your lordship two hundred if you can stop it for me," was the ready reply.—Curran was once addressing a jury, when the Judge, who was thought to be antagonistic to his client, intimated his dissent from the arguments advanced by a shake of his head. "I see, gentlemen," said Curran, "I see the motion of his lordship's head. Persons unacquainted with his lordship would be apt to think this implied a difference of opinion, but be assured, gentlemen, this is not the case. When you know his lordship as well as I do, it will be unnecessary to tell you that when he shakes his head there is really nothing in it." On another occasion Curran was pleading before Fitzgibbon, the Irish Chancellor, with whom he was on terms of anything but friendship. The Chancellor, with the distinct purpose, as it would seem, of insulting the advocate, brought with him on to the bench a large Newfoundland dog, to which he devoted a great deal of his attention while Curran was addressing a very elaborate argument to him. At a very material point in the speech the Judge turned quite away, and seemed to be wholly engrossed with his dog. Curran ceased to speak. "Go on, go on, Mr. Curran," said the chancellor. "Oh, I beg a thousand pardons, my lords," said the witty barrister, "I really was under the impression that your lordships were in consultation." But perhaps the most crushing rejoinder ever flung back in return for an insult from the bench, was that which this same advocate hurled at Judge Robinson. Judge Robinson is described as a man of sour and cynical disposition, who had been raised to the bench—so, at least, it was commonly believed—simply because he had written in favour of the Government of his day a number of pamphlets remarkable for nothing but their servile and rancorous scurrility. At a time when Curran was only just rising into notice and while he was yet a poor and struggling man, this Judge ventured upon a sneering joke, which, small though it was, but for Curran's ready wit and scathing eloquence, might have done him irreparable injury. Speaking of some opinion of counsel on the opposite side, Curran said he had consulted all his books and could not find a single case in which the principle in dispute was thus established. "That may be, Mr. Curran," sneered the Judge; "but I suspect your law library is rather limited." Curran eyed the heartless toady for a moment, and then broke forth with this noble retaliation:—"It is very true, my lord, that I am poor, and this circumstance has certainly rather curtailed my library. My books are not numerous, but they are select, and I hope have been perused with proper dispositions. I have prepared myself for this high profession rather by the study of a few good books than by the composition of a great many bad ones. I am not ashamed of my poverty, but I should be ashamed of my wealth if I could stoop to acquire it by servility and corruption. If I rise not to rank, I shall at least be honest; and should I ever cease to be so, many an example shows me that an ill-acquired elevation, by making me the more conspicuous, would only make me the more universally and notoriously contemptible."—Leisure Hour.

ODDS AND ENDS FROM THE OLD COUNTRY.

As the opening of Parliament draws near, the perplexity of the political prophets seems to increase. The Ministerial Zadkiels indeed, have a comparatively easy time of it. One thing may be taken for granted; the Opposition will be an awkward team to drive. The most amusing symptom of insubordination yet exhibited has been a letter from Major O'Gorman, in answer to the usual circular from the "Liberal" whip, disclaiming all party allegiance to Lord Hartington, and declaring somewhat "in a style for Turks and challengers"—that as a Home Ruler he recognises no other leader than Mr. Butt. The support of the Home Rulers, however, though it might tell in a critical division, could hardly be a source of strength to a great party headed by British statesmen. They are too utterly visionary and wrong-headed to be safe allies, and should a perverse fit set them coquetting with Ministers it will be anything but a godsend to Lord Beaconsfield. A single step to meet them, were it an advance as cautious as Mr. Gladstone's when he declared that "he did not know what Home Rule meant," would damage him more than the failure of the Conference. By-the-bye, I wonder if the last city joke on this threadbare subject has yet reached Australia. Why did the Conference fail? Because the delegates of the Powers all laboured under the natural mistake of thinking that Ottomans were made to be sat upon. But I really must forswear everything that touches on politics, whether in jest or earnest, until mail day. The Eastern question has become a greater bore than the Tichborne trial.

Sanitary questions are at present occupying a great though not excessive amount of public attention. It has at last dawned on the English mind that it may be possible to build houses for people who are not millionaires on rational principles, and with some regard to the requirements of health. In spite of a few isolated efforts at improvements here and there, as in some of the "model lodging-houses," the domestic architecture of our town, for all but first-class houses, has deteriorated instead of improving during the last fifty years, especially in London and its neighbourhood. Ninety-nine years' building-leases have encouraged speculators to run up thousands of houses of such a flimsy structure that they are never comfortable, and suit themselves to "the seasons' difference" only by being intolerably hot in summer and cruelly cold in winter. Three pianofortes in three adjoining drawing-rooms may be heard at once, with almost equal distinctness, producing a Dutch concert of the most afflictive character; even a vigorous sneeze at No. 2 startles the inhabitants of No. 3. But these inconveniences, arising from a sordid economy of brick, are trifles in a sanitary point of view compared with other evils due to a total ignoring of the laws of health. Drainage is often imperfect and generally ill-arranged. Ventilation there is none, except by setting doors and windows open, and converting a bed-chamber or sitting-room into a cave of Æolus. The kitchen is so placed as to diffuse a "sweet succession" of culinary odours through every part of the house. You will find a bathroom in a Belgravian mansion, but in houses under £150 a year this important appliance of health, as well as cleanliness, is almost unknown; while even the water-supply, though certainly far better than at Sydney, is by no means what it ought to be, whether as to quantity, quality, or convenience of access. Even in the details of furnishing, health seems to be deliberately ignored. To take a single instance, "flock papers" are still in vogue, and even when they are free from the direct poison of arsenical greens they load the air with fluffy particles, making it only less trying to delicate lungs than the atmosphere of a cotton-factory. If these things are so in residences built for well-to-do people, what must be the state of those lodging-houses (often, to the 'shame of wealth' be it spoken, yielding splendid incomes to our moneyed men) in which sundry families of the hard-working class are huddled together with far less of cleanliness and comfort than Ponto and Rover enjoy in an average dog kennel? No wonder that what somebody calls "the deep heart of England"—though indeed it occasionally startles us by apparent shallowness—should be a good deal moved by the contemplation of evils like these. Foremost in the movement is Dr. Richardson, whose work on the "Diseases of Modern Life" has attracted so much attention. His lectures on the improvement of our domestic architecture, furniture, and even decoration considered from a sanitary point of view, promise much of ultimate if not immediate benefit, in clearing and enlarging our existing notions on the subject. The experiment already commenced under his auspices in the neighbourhood of Worthing, of a Hygieiopolis—a small knot of dwellings constructed with a careful regard to the health of their inmates—will be watched with much interest. Of course it does not follow that the man who is keenest in detecting evils will be most judicious in remedying them. Critics are not always—perhaps not generally—successful in authorship. Mr. Reid's strictures on the shortcomings of the Admiralty in naval architecture, if often overstrained and hasty, have doubtless considerable value; but when he embodied his modicum of practical wisdom in the construction of the Bessemer steamer he made an ignominious failure. There are, however, so many obvious improvements attainable in the building and furnishing of our dwellings that Dr. Richardson seems likely to have a substantial, if not complete, success in his enterprise. After all, however, the main difficulty still remains. Granting that a few new houses here and there are really well built, what can be done cheaply and easily to make the mass of those already existing fitter for human habitation? Hoc opus, hic labor est.

I remember observing in a former letter that English people can be carried to any length by a humanitarian impulse. But I certainly never looked to see the ignorance and violence of the extreme "anti-vivisectionists" emulated by English judges. There is a practice known to poultry-fanciers as "dubbing," which consists in trimming the combs and wattles of cocks, and was often resorted to by cockfighters in the days when their barbarous sport was not illegal. It has lately been permitted in preparing birds for poultry shows—not generally, but in two particular classes, game fowls and bantams — on account of their special pugnacity, and in order to limit their power of mauling and disfiguring each other. The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals laid an information against the owner of some bantams who had "dubbed" them for exhibition at a poultry show. The Sittingbourne magistrates dismissed the case as not coming within the real scope of the Act. Section 3, under which the information was laid, did not apply, as there was no question of cock-fighting. Nor could a process inflicting but slight and brief pain, with an essentially humane purpose (for the appendages thus trimmed give a terrible hold in farm-yard fights), come under section 2, directed against those who shall "cruelly abuse, torture, or ill-treat" any domestic animal. On appeal, however, the Court of Exchequer remitted the case to the magistrates, upholding the informant on grounds which I can only describe as at once absurd and dangerous. The Chief Baron, whose knowledge of poultry seems about equal to a giraffe's acquaintance with ground-spiders, took it at once for granted that Mr. Sayer intended to fight his bantams! Baron Cleasby declined to assume this without evidence, but agreed with his learned brother that the dubbed birds suffered "harrowing pain," with a view to exhibition at a prize show, which was "not for the good of the animals," and argal not a lawful object! As to the "harrowing pain," the phrase may pass as a specimen of sentimental hyperbole. It was bad logic to admit that the "dubbing" tended to fit the bantams for a prize show, and yet to ignore the only sense in which it could so fit them, viz., by protecting them from mutual injury without "solitary confinement." There was a lack of judicial wisdom in overlooking the obvious usefulness of poultry shows. But to make the advantage of the animals the test of the lawfulness of the operation! What a dictum for the vegetarians! I wonder if Baron Cleasby drives undocked horses, or abstains from lambs' fry.

Apropos of legal decisions, the Crown Law Officers have made a mull (not their first) in the prosecution of Slade and his confederate. The appeal never came to trial on the merits. They had omitted from their information those essential words of the statute under which it was laid "by palmistry or otherwise," and, when the flaw was pointed out, declined to amend. They meant, it seems, to proceed afresh against Slade and his "mate" for obtaining money under false pretence. But the birds have flown, and we are cheaply rid of them, thanks to Dr. Lankester. Some day, I suppose, we shall have Crown prosecutors trained to their work.

I have frequently made a passing allusion to the state of religion in England, but must allow myself for once to enlarge a little on a very grave subject. And first let me say, that after much, and I trust not careless observation, I do not perceive that decay of religious belief which we so often see assumed in professedly religious as well as avowedly irreligious publications. It appears to me, on the contrary, that the number of persons who think seriously of their life here, as a training for life hereafter (and without such thought there is no real religion), has increased and is increasing. The outward signs certainly favour such a belief In the Establishment alone—and I have no right to allege any failure of progress in the Nonconformist bodies—the increase and enlargement of churches proceeds with the utmost rapidity; while there is no difficulty in the endowment of new sees for real episcopal work. What is more to the purpose, the new churches fill, and the proportion of communicants is larger than of old. I observe in a November number of the Herald a complaint that the men in Sydney do not go to church, that they leave the church-going as a sort of domestic arrangement to be managed for them by those who in this case have every chance of being their better halves. In England this is not so; public worship is not an affair of bonnets. I do not suppose the average of sermons is any better here than in Sydney; but I think the duty and privilege of assembling for the public worship of the Almighty Father are more appreciated than they used to be. And this increased attendance at divine service is to my mind more and not less encouraging on account of a fact often cited as per contra. Greater freedom of opinion and practice in regard to such matters is undoubtedly allowed, and if a man does not choose to attend church there is less likelihood of his being censured or suspected for the omission. Surely this makes it the more probable that those who do attend do so because they deem it right or profitable, or both; because they feel that their spiritual being requires some spiritual sustenance. And this view is strengthened by the great increase in the number of communicants. Much has been said as to the effects of Darwinism—or as it should rather be called in honour of its boldest apostle, Spenserism. And doubtless the doctrine of "evolution" carried to its logical results involves a denial of all religious and even moral responsibility. Doubtless, too, this doctrine has met with a sort of acceptance from a large number of persons who wish to claim credit for opinions "in harmony with modern scientific thought"—to adopt the conceited language of a clique who avowedly materialise all thought and resolve it into a merely automatic movement of a "cunningly constructed clock." But, happily, amateur scientists are rarely logical in their views, and would be the first to repudiate the inferences to which they have given an implied assent. To a strictly logical evolutionist, not only such words as faith and morals, but rewards and punishments, government and education are mere absurdities. Yet neither Professor Huxley nor even Mr. Herbert Spencer—much less the mass of their followers—can be supposed really indifferent to all the means by which "conscious automata" (whatever such a phrase may mean) are endeavouring to better a state of things which they declare to be the necessary result of inexorable mechanism. Max Muller has remarked in reference to the professors of Buddhism—numbering probably one-third of the human race—that it would be a mistake to suppose these hundreds of millions deliberately acquiescent in the prospect of utter annihilation. Buddhism found acceptance because it denounced the tyranny of caste; because it inculcated meekness, charity, and social benevolence, and recognised the universal brotherhood of man. Probably only a very small fraction of its votaries receive or even comprehend the mystery of the Nirvana as preached by the founder of the religion. Somewhat similar is the case of multitudes who seem to give what Paley calls an otiose assent to the doctrines of the "Evolutionists." They are attracted by the charms of style, the minute and interesting comments on natural phenomena which distinguish the works of Darwin and Huxley. They are impressed by the confident air with which the apostles of the new philosophy put forth assertions and assumptions as matters of fact, and believe it must be a fine thing to belong to the school of such learned men. But as for accepting the theory of evolution with all its logical consequences (including, inter alia, their own inability to choose whether they will so accept it or not!) nothing so strange has ever entered their heads. Those who are terrified by the popularity of books which involve a negation of all religious belief, may, moreover, find comfort in observing the immense sale of others which are full of the most spiritual views of religious questions, and are specially addressed to the educated classes. I have just glanced at a favourite work lying beside me—Archbishop Trench on the Parables of our Lord, a very storehouse of the highest Christian thought, as well as of the widest theological learning—and I see it is the twelfth edition. It would be easy to give a dozen similar instances. But take one only, Keble's Christian Year, which my observation convinces me is one of the books most universally read, as we know it is bought, by our educated classes. Could any one draw comfort from those pure strains who believed himself to be "without spirit or spontaneity"—merely the last term in a long but uninterrupted series of developments, beginning with "cosmic gas?" A thousand times "No." If we are to witness a spiritual declension in England—and in certain strata of society there appear some symptoms of such a declension — it will not come from intellectual perversion, from the influence of any atheistic or pantheistic philosophy, but from the demoralising effect of luxurious habits and a general race for wealth. What we have to fear is not a deliberate denial of revealed religion, but a practical indifference to its teaching. For the present suffice it to say, that the temporary check to our material prosperity, which is just now traceable in so many branches of trade and manufactures, may not prove an unmixed evil. It may do England good to learn that she has not bound Fortune to the chariot wheels of her triumphal progress; that her pride is not beyond the reach of chastisement.

February 16.—The opening of Parliament last week was more remarkable as a successful spectacle than as an important political field-day. The Queen's speech was so moderately and cautiously framed, that it afforded little ground for attack. The Duke of Argyll, indeed, in the Upper House, uttered some incendiary language about the duties of Turkish subjects, which his friends loyally though vainly endeavoured to explain away; but Lord Granville was courteous and temperate, though occasionally sarcastic, and took care not to commit either his party or himself. In the House of Commons, again, Lord Hartington's cautious criticisms were in marked contrast to Mr. Gladstone's fierce demand, that the measures recommended at the Conference should be enforced on Turkey at the point of the bayonet. Neither party gained much except time. But the Royal procession was every way satisfactory. The day was warm and clear—just what thirty years ago used to be called "the Queen's weather." The gingerbread of the pageant was richly gilt, and the mere sight-seers stared to their heart's content. But there was something passing show in the reception given to her Majesty by the countless thousands, who thronged the whole line of progress from Buckingham Palace to Westminster. It was not a general hubbub; but a cheer of hearty affectionate recognition, which rose as "the Queen" came in sight and accompanied her with a steady persistence as she moved along the line. I am old enough to remember the few evil days (now almost forgotten), during which there was a passing cloud between the Sovereign and her people; when I saw her on a similar occasion pass along without a single note of applause; calm and self-possessed, yet with an indignant flush on her youthful brow. And it was with a sense of thankfulness for a great national blessing that during her progress of last week I noted the peaceful serenity of her face as she gazed around her, mature in years and honours, beholding on every side the tokens of a people's deep-rooted love. The Prince of Wales had an ample share of cheering, indeed his popularity is all that could be wished. There is a whisper that he thinks of visiting Australia, and fain would I see it done. But, oh! the milliners' bills! Apropos of the procession, was it not strange that the Turkish Ambassador was loudly cheered? Was it "Russo-phobia," or a lingering recollection of the Crimea, or merely the English notion of "Fair play for the little 'un."

Sick as I am of the Eastern question I must, ere dismissing it, briefly summarize my view of the present position of affairs. Peace and war still hang wavering in the balance. The dismissal of Midhat Pasha, due to no more recondite cause than the Sultan's jealousy of a too powerful subject, has hardly made the situation more critical. True, it has weakened Turkey and discredited her plans of reform; but it has also given Russia a plea for deferring her "independent action." Prince Gortschakoff's circular will elicit from all the other great Powers a disclaimer of any intent to civilise Turkey by force of arms, and I don't believe the Czar will declare war if he can help it. Though the fire-new Turkish Constitution is pretty sure to be a failure, yet the mere attempt to mitigate the existing despotism, watched as it will be by all Christendom, must improve the condition of the Christian population. One thing is certain. Russia will ruin Turkey more effectually by maintaining a menacing attitude and forcing her to exhaust herself in costly defensive armaments than she could count on doing by immediate hostilities. Such a cold-blooded calculation is quite of a piece with Russian policy; the sole hindrance lies in the state of the Russian exchequer.

The Parliamentary campaign will be amusing for outsiders—full of sensations and surprises. Ministers are early in the field with several of their most important measures, but they will have no time to spare. The session will probably be marked by an unprecedented waste of time. All the hopeless crotchets of private members—even the Orton humbug—are to be brought forward for the hindrance of public business. The great Biggar, proud of his last year's success in obstruction, threatens to oppose by "all the forms of the House" all those measures in favour of which Parliament is most unanimous—the Prisons' Bill, the University Bills, the Supreme Court of Judicature (Ireland) Bill, and a dozen more. He may possibly end in doing good service by compelling a change in the rules of the House. As the case stands at present it is not merely that the nonsense may, as Wilkes said, outvote the sense of the House, but that half-a-dozen reckless blockheads may find means to tire out and baffle as many hundreds of rational beings. I hardly know which is most to be pitied, Sir Stafford Northcote with his legislative responsibilities on his head, or Lord Hartington with his irresponsible crotcheteers and obstructionists at his tail! We are very proud of our Parliamentary machinery—but surely there is a terrible deal of friction!

CONTINENTAL NEWS.

[From our Correspondent "Stella."]

Paris, January 26.

THE VISIT OF GENERAL TCHERNAIEFF.

General Tchernaieff, who has been in this city for the last week (having been ordered to "move on" by the Austrian police on his arrival at Prague), is staying quietly at the Hotel du Louvre; his presence has excited but little interest here. He is tall, stout, about fifty years of age, a great gourmand, and especially addicted to cakes and sweetmeats. Those who invite him to dinner, as did the Princess Lise Troubetskoi a few days ago, take care to cover the table with all sorts of delicate dainties for his delectation. When he left Prague, he took the midnight train for Aussig, where he left his coupé and hastened to the restaurant of the station, widely renowned for the pastry and cakes of a celebrated pastrycook, Herr Coufol, which are always to be had there, and where he devoured sweet things to the amount of 17 florins and 33 kreutzers, being so intent on the operation that the stationmaster was obliged to call him three times, when the time had come for leaving the station, before the General could be got back to his place. His utter failure in Servia, and the unexpected turn of affairs at Constantinople, have somewhat disgusted the Parisians with everything connected with "the Eastern question;" and, even the announcement that Russia has ordered several hundred thousands of cloaks for her troops, the greater part of which will be supplied from Sedan, fails to awaken any special interest. The present escape of Europe from the war which seemed so imminent a few weeks ago has hardly, perhaps, been welcomed with the gratitude it deserves; and, although the Constantinopolitan "pow-wow" has not done all that was expected of it, the fact that it has at least deferred war, and led the Turkish Government to take a saner view of its position as a European Power, may well be accepted as a result that fully repays the efforts of the other Governments.

THE ANNIVERSARY OF THE DEATH OF THE MARTYR KING.

The Legitimists of the noble Faubourg "have just celebrated the return of the 21st January, the anniversary of the death of 'the Martyr-King,'" with extra zeal and solemnity. The anniversary falling this year on a Sunday, its celebration was deferred until the following day. A week previous to the anniversary, the whole of the grandees of the Faubourg St. Germain put on deep mourning, put a stop to every sort of social amusement, and assumed the air of undergoing deep affliction; the principal convents and monasteries of the region undertook a penitential season, with special preaching, prayers, fastings, &c.; the Convent of the Sacre-Cœur—the great training-school of the daughters of the old families of France—taking the lead, as usual, in this demonstrative exhibition of the loyalty of the fallen House. On Sunday a special service was held in the elegant chapel of the Archiepiscopal Palace in the Rue de Grenelle, to which only the "cream of the cream" of the Legitimist clique was admitted by letters of invitation, and where the noble auditory had the satisfaction of listening to a funeral oration on the Royal victim, of the faults of his predecessors, and to a salut, exquisitely sung to an accompaniment of harps, as a wind-up to the oration. On the following day, the services at the Expiatory Chapel in the Rue d' Anjou, which were repeated without intermission from 7 a.m. to noon, were very fully attended. The registers, in which all who enter on these occasions enter their names, were placed, for greater convenience, in the vestibule of the chapel, instead of being placed just inside the chapel, as usual; the commissaires of the affair, and the dames quêteuses, with their elegant bags for the receiving of alms, being stationed there also. The 7 o'clock mass being the specially-aristocratic one, the garden outside the chapel was crowded with people unable to gain admission. Inside, where the Duke de Nemours, Princesse Blanche d'Orleans, Duchess de Madrid, Count and Countess d'Aquila, and Count de Trapani, with the principal adherents of their house; Baron de Larcy, Duke de Blacos, Marquis de Dreux-Brézé, Count and Countess de Carné, General de Cissey, Vice-Admiral Saisset, Count de Castries, Marquis de Valfons, Count de la Rochefoucauld, Viscount de Rodey-Benavent, &c.

Among those who were present at the 7 o'clock service in the Expiatory Chapel was an old man, lacking only two years of his hundredth birthday, who is probably almost the last survivor of the tragedy of eighty years ago, who has looked on Louis XVI., and Marie Antoinette with his own eyes. This relic of the last century is a son of one of the body guards of the King, and accompanied his father when the latter was received by the captive Sovereign, on almost the last occasion on which the unhappy monarch was permitted to receive the visits of those who desired to pay their respects to him in the Temple prison. The chapel was decorated with numerous thick rings, usually of immortelles, so generally in use here on funeral occasions; most of these had been sent hither by the Legitimist committees of the provinces; they were nearly all of the same size, composed of all black beads, with an embroidery of white silk giving the inscription, "21st January and 16th October, 1793," the latter date being that of the execution of the unfortunate Queen; in the middle of these rings was a Royal crown, under glass, and surmounted with Fleur-de-lys in white beads. But the mass of the population takes not the slightest interest in this resuscitation of memories which it has ceased to regard as having anything to do with the realities of the present.

The extreme Radicals, however, are far from sharing this indifference, and while the Legitimists were airing their loyalty to a lost cause, the leaders of that fraction of the population of Paris met at a grand banquet to celebrate "the execution of King Capet," as the programme of the fête expressed it. Many of their wives and daughters were present, and toasts were drunk to "Popular justice," to Blanqui, &c. They decided to have a second dinner on the anniversary of the execution of "Widow Capet," and parted with cries of "Vive la Republique!"

ANNIVERSARY OF THE DEATH OF NAPOLEON III.

The usual mass, in commemoration of the death of Napoleon III., has also just been said, as usual, in the Church of St. Augustin, that great edifice being completely filled, and all present displaying violets in buttonholes, or otherwise. Everything passed off in the quietest manner, unmarked by anything in the shape of an incident.

SALE OF THE PICTURES OF DIAZ.

Great interest has been excited here by the sale of the pictures left by the brilliant and regretted artist Diaz, whose Eastern scenes are so remarkable for the dazzling glow of their sunshine, their wonderfully deep and transparent shadow, and the dreamy charm of their make-up. The first day's sale attracted a crowd of people, who keenly disputed the unfinished sketches, which were nearly all that were then disposed of. A study of a beech-tree trunk brought £376; a large composition, "Last Tears," sold for £488; a "Young Mother," £122; "Young Moorish Woman," £128; "Temptation," £138; "Gipsies Travelling," £208; "Moorish Woman and Child," £220; "Bohemians in the Mountains," £288; "The Presents of Cupid," £100, &c. The day's sale produced a total of £6273. The important works which remain to be sold are expected to be still more sharply contested, and will, it is hoped, realize a sum sufficient to provide a comfortable maintenance for the widow and children of the great painter of sunlight, left, for the time being, in somewhat straitened circumstances.

LUMINOUS PUBLICITY.

A curious enterprise has been lately set on foot here—that of "The Company of Luminous Publicity"—which odd title means the throwing, on the side pavement of a street, for instance, or upon any other dark surface, such as a wall, a door, &c., of luminous plaques, containing names, advertisements, shop-signs, or any other sort of description or picture, in lines of light. The system is ingenious, and of easy application, and will probably be widely adopted. The company is already overwhelmed with orders for Paris, for the departments, and even for other countries. The contrivance—a special apparatus, placed in a kind of lantern—is due to the ingenuity of two French engineers, Messrs. Bourquin et Vanheers. Paris, which has so long demanded to be allowed to become "a seaport," will now be able to boast of being a city of fire!

THE EXHIBITION OF 1878.

China has signified its intention to take part in the grand tournament of next year. Belgium has organized a committee for pushing on the preparations of that contented and flourishing little kingdom for the great affair. This committee has just held its first sitting at the Ducal Palace, under the presidency of the Count de Flanders, brother and heir-apparent to King Leopold II. His Royal Highness delivered an opening address, in which he expressed the hope that the high reputation of Belgium in art and manufactures would be worthily upheld by the Belgian exhibitors. Prince de Caraman-Chimay and other distinguished men of the flourishing little country that has so strong an objection to the idea of being swallowed up by France, are working actively under his Royal Highness to insure the success of the Belgian section at next year's gathering.

THE IMPROVEMENTS IN PARIS.

The works undertaken here with a view to making this splendid city still more splendid in the eyes of "all the world and his wife" are being pushed forward with feverish rapidity. The masons at work on the prolongation of the Rue Chauchat remain at their task every day until midnight, adding stone to stone by the light of innumerable flames of gas from tubes of india-rubber. Those who are at work under the immense hoarding on the Boulevard des Italiens are lighted by enormous lustres of gas-jets, furnished with reflectors. All over the Windmills Hillock—now being cleared of its dense mass of ugly old buildings—the beams from the roofs are being burned all night, like so many enormous torches. But another mode of lighting this region has just been adopted. On the site of the old favourite linendraper's establishment, Le Gagne-Petit, in the Rue d'Argenteuil, a steam-engine on wheels is to work a gigantic electric machine, which will light up the whole region of the hillock, so that the immense workyard will be as bright through the night as by day; so that relays of workmen will now be able to follow one another without intermission through the whole of the twenty-four hours.

The site of the new Avenue de l'Opéra is selling, as will be readily believed, at enormous prices. No. 17, containing 541 square metres, at the sale of a few days since, was sold for 703,000 francs; No. 10, fronting on the Avenue, 645 metres, sold at 484,000 francs; and so on. The great price paid for the ground, and the magnificence with which it is to be built (various details on this head being set forth in the deeds of sale, which will become void if those conditions are not complied with), will cause the rents on the new and splendid thoroughfare to be inordinately high. It is evident that no return to the Arcadian prices of the pre-Haussmann epoch is to be hoped for.

THE FRENCH REVENUE AND TAXATION.

The revenue is very elastic, and the public treasury is filled abundantly, but the pressure of taxation, enormously increased on every article of use and every department of life, is severely felt and the strain and distress are keenly felt, though submitted to as inevitable under the circumstances of the case. The dog-tax, last year, brought in a very large sum, the number of dogs declared being 1,727,443, divided into two categories; one comprising hunting and fancy dogs, 487,312, and paying 10 francs each; the second being watch dogs, paying 5 francs apiece. More than 3500 persons paid double tax for not having declared their dogs within the time specified by law; the total return from this tax, for Paris only, was over £225,000. A curious illustration of the well-known principle lying at the root of taxation, viz., that many drops make up the ocean, has just been furnished by the career of an old, well-known artist's model here, named Dubosc, who, exercising that modest calling until his 80th year (he began when seven years old!), actually amassed a sum of £8000. From having been so long mixed up with artists, his sympathies were given entirely to them; and he accordingly resolved that the fortune he had gained through them should be devoted to their assistance. He had observed the difficulty encountered by the young men admitted to compete for the grand prize of Rome, which gives to the successful competitor a three years' residence in the Eternal City at the cost of the French Government. They are cloistered for seventy-two days; the sum allowed them by the director of fine arts is only just sufficient for their keep, and they frequently have not the means of providing themselves with the models they require. Dubosc, by a will written entirely by his own hand, has left the whole of his money to the Academy des Beaux-Arts, to be invested in three per cent. stock, the interest on which is to be distributed every year in equal portions to the young painters and sculptors admitted to compete for the great prize, at the moment of their entering the rooms in which they are kept locked up, and condemned to a cellular régime, and during the seventy-two days of their solitary work.

THE GERMAN AFRICAN SOCIETY.

The directing Committee of the newly-formed German-African Society, for helping forward the plan of colonization devised by the King of the Belgians, has just held its first meeting in Berlin. A code of rules was approved, and new members were elected. A friendly letter from the Crown Prince was read, promising further support, and it was intimated that a solution would probably be given to the society by the German Government, Prince Bismarck having expressed himself in favour of that measure. A general invitation to the public to join the new society is about to be issued by the committee. Two German-African travellers—Dr. Pogge and Dr. Lenz—are on their way home, the former having reached Lisbon, the latter, Madeira. The reports of these explorers will be eagerly welcomed by the public of all Europe, now becoming generally interested in the idea of opening up the rich and mysterious southern continent to northern enterprise.

A CHINESE LECTURER.

We have in this city a learned Chinese, Mr. Ly-Chao-Pee, who is delivering, on Sundays, a series of lectures, at the Salle des Conférences on the Boulevard des Capucénes, which promises to be very successful. The subject of the first lecture was "Chinese food and cookery," in the course of which the lecturer explained the mode of cooking swallows' nests, a delicacy, however, that it will probably take a good many years to render a common dish on French dinner tables.

CAPTAIN BOYTON.

Captain Boyton, who performed the feat of swimming across the Channel with the aid of a float apparatus, and excited such intense interest on both sides of the Channel, has been exhibiting his invaluable apparatus in Rome, where his feat of swimming down the Tiber on the 22nd instant caused an immense enthusiasm to be manifested by the public of the Eternal City. The banks of the river from Ponte Mollo to the Ripa Grande, every window and balcony, even the roofs of the houses, were crowded with spectators. At the Passeggiata di Ripetta, where the banks on both sides gave to the crowd all the accommodation of an amphitheatre, he went through his feats of firing rockets, sounding his trumpet, furling and unfurling his sail, &c. He was accompanied by a small vessel, commanded by Signor Girout; and on landing at the Marmorata the people could hardly be kept from taking the horses from his carriage.

Paris, February 2.

THE PALACE OF THE TUILERIES.

It seems tolerably certain that the Palace of the Tuileries will be rebuilt—at least the greater part of a building so well known to all who have visited this city within the last few hundred years. According to the present decision on the subject, the new building will comprise the Ionic columns of Delorme, the ground floor by Jean Buliant, some important portions of the architecture of the time of Louis XIV.—that is to say, all that may be considered as the "traditional" portion of the old palace as it has existed from his day to the reigns of Louis Philippe and Napoleon III. The modifications introduced into the edifice in these reigns were due to the necessities of the case, the building serving as a Royal residence, though a very inconvenient one; but, as the restored building is to be used as a museum, those necessities will no longer exist, and the building is to be rebuilt in conformity with historical and artistic considerations only. It is hoped that the Government will take measures for having this work accomplished before the opening of the great Show of next year.

THE HOTEL DIEU.

The vast building of the new Hotel Dieu, the great central hospital of Paris, is fast approaching completion. Among the innovations introduced into the new building are two deserving of especial mention—the first being a lift, on which the sick and wounded will be lifted without jolting to the various stories; the second is a system of tramways, running throughout the entire building (which is almost a city in itself), on which travel carriages conveying food, medicines, linen, &c., everything in fact required for the service of the hospital. This last innovation, already adopted in England, allows of a great diminution of the number of persons employed, and also avoids to a considerable degree the noise of coming and going, which is usually so injurious to the patients. It is, however, a matter of great regret, and almost of indignation, to many of the more progressive members of the medical profession here, that such an enormous sum of money should have been expended in perpetuating the mischievous and fatal system of agglomerating masses of the sick and suffering within the solid stone walls that so soon become generators of infection, instead of adopting the system of treating the sick in the small groups, and under canvas, which system has been proved by all the experience of the various ambulances of the Sanitary Union to be so immensely preferable to the old way. Many of the wards of the old Hotel de Ville, saturated with the effluvia of the sick and suffering of many generations, were admittedly fatal to all who were treated in them. Certain parts of the building devoted to surgical operations were familiarly designated as "shambles" by the assistant-surgeons themselves, as in some of these it was well known that no operation had ever been performed without being followed by the death of the patient. This startling fact, and a mass of others of a similar character, and equally condemnatory of the employment of stone walls and large agglomerations in the treatment of the sick, have been loudly urged by many of the most eminent practitioners of this city; but unfortunately without effect, and the vast new hospital in question, despite the enormous amount expended on its construction, will gradually become, like its predecessor, a hotbed of infection for the unhappy sufferers admitted into it, and a centre of insalubrity for the densely populated neighbourhood in which it stands.

THE COMPOSITION OF THE AIR.

The researches of Professor Tyndall, of M. Pasteur, and of so many other eminent men of science into the composition of the air, and its variations in different localities at different altitudes, &c., are being carried on with great activity in this city, under the direction of the able investigator, M. Marié-Davy, and are having the usual effect of showing that we often breathe in such horrible stuff that the wonder seems to be, not that so many should be ill, but that anybody should be well. The researches thus made in the magnificent new barracks of Prince Eugene (which had become so fatal to the soldiers occupying it that the Minister of War has lately had them all moved out and the building evacuated) fully confirm the modern view of the dangers inseparable from the bringing together of large masses of human creatures, who begin at once, by their mere presence, to "poison the air." The dust scraped up from the flowers and window-sills of this building has been subjected to careful examination, under the direction of the learned head of the Meteorological Observatory. An artificial dew was disseminated in the sick-ward, which had been uninhabited for several days; and the operator charged with the investigation, examined the drops under a microscope, and found them perfectly pure. The floors of the ward and of the dormitories were then scraped, and the blackish dust thus obtained was treated with filtered water, which became immediately filled with filiform vibrios, endowed with a slow undulatory motion, in the midst of which were a few vibrating points rapidly changing their places. The window-sills of the third floor were especially rich in these seeds of the death harvest. The dust from some of the rooms, when moistened, emitted a nauseous smell, and the microscope revealed in it the presence of several species of algæ, with a great quantity of vibrios, bacteria, and monads. In this dust, after being kept moist for twelve hours, amœbeans were formed, easily recognisable from the facility with which they changed their shapes. During the sojourn of the troops in these barracks, and especially in dry weather, this dust must have been raised by frequent walking, &c., and mixed up with the air, so as to infect the respiratory organs of the men, as well as their food and drink. The soil of certain quarters of Paris is found to be "alive" with these elements of disease; and M. Marié-Davy considers that the typhus fever, which has been raging in them, and especially in the barracks referred to, is due to the presence of these animalculæ. The researches alluded to are considered to point to the necessity of adopting a different mode of whitening the walls, and of substituting asphalte floors for wooden ones, so as to allow of their being washed every day.

MATTERS GEOGRAPHICAL.

The votaries of geography are having it all their own way at present. Several African travellers are on their way home, and the geographical people are preparing to do them honour on their arrival. Commander Cameron has been complimented by the French Geographical Society, which has held a grand meeting in his honour, in the great hall of the Sorbonne. Three thousand people were present, and two thousand more had to go away, unable to find admission. At 9 o'clock, the chair was taken by Admiral La Roncière Le Noury, having our brave countryman on his right, with a numerous deputation of the leading members, including Mdlle. Kleinhaussen, and all the officials of the society. The president, after delivering a speech on the subject of travels in general, introduced the guest of the evening, who read, in French, an account of his explorations in Central Africa. The interest of his account was so great, and the incidents of his journey from sea to sea were so enthralling, that the auditors frequently broke out into loud applause. When he had finished, the chairman announced, amidst great cheering, that the Geographical Society had awarded its medal of honour to the intrepid traveller, to whom they had been listening. The affair terminated about half-past 10.

The city of Berlin is splendidly off at this moment for geographical lions. Foremost among these is Baron Reichthofen, busy at his book on China; Dr. Nachtigall, also busy on his narrative of his travels in Africa; Dr. Jager, just come back from India; Professor Bastian, the South African explorer, who is busy arranging his collections brought home from his latest expedition; Professor Ascherson and Dr. Gussfeldt are also in that city, with a handful of others of lesser note. Dr. Pogge, the discoverer of the legendary kingdom of Meata Yamoo, is expected immediately, also Dr. Lenz, returning from Orgowoo and the Gaboon, and Dr. Stubel, who has been spending seven years in exploring the volcanic mountains of South America. All the Crown Princes of Europe are becoming presidents or patrons of African exploring societies, affiliated to King Leopold's bantling; and Italy is now preparing to send out several expeditions to make their way into Central Africa by the valley of the Congo. The Italian Embassy in London has been purchasing scientific instruments for them in that city.

THE EXHIBITION BUILDING.

The diggings in the Champ de Mars are nearly finished, and the foundations of the Exhibition buildings are beginning to show. So immense and costly are the projects already underway for making next year's show the wonder of the world, that one is tempted to ask whether it is really worth while to expend such a vast amount of labour and money on calling into being a glory so evanescent. It is already evident that it will be impossible for any visitor to see half the marvels that are to be brought together, unless he consecrates his whole time to this end throughout the duration of the affair. There will be, besides the exhibitions of every branch of industry and art, a long avenue bordered by specimens of every kind of building, from the house of the beaver upwards; there will be models of schoolhouses, and specimens of scholars' work that are to astonish grown-up observers, the pupils of the Communal schools of Paris fully expecting to "take the shine out" of all competitors. There will be flower-gardens of every nation. The Dutch are preparing for a "tulip-garden" that is to convert the rest of the world to the worship for which the people of Holland have so long been laughed at by the riders of other hobbies. Lyons is said to be weaving a copy of Ingres' master-piece, La Source, which is to rival the most exquisite picture of Gobelin tapestry. There is to be a great clock, so complicated and wonderful, and so novel that it defies the possibilities of rapid description, one of its wonders being a sort of ball, two metres in diameter, attached to the pendulum, which is placed above the dial (or rather dials, for it is to have four, fronting the four points of the compass), and which, representing the "five quarters" of the globe, will do all manner of wonderful things up in the air. The Paris Gas Company is preparing a practical "history of lighting by gas," in a building of its own, which is to show every substance, process, and instrument, having to do with coal gas. There are to be aquariums, fresh water, and sea water, showing every fish that can be induced to go on living in the captivity of tanks. Whether sharks and whales are to be included in these collections will probably be decided by those creatures themselves. Sea water is to be brought daily, by a procession of steamers, from Havre via the Seine.

WAGNER.

Dr. Wagner, who has been reposing on his laurels in Italy, has announced his return to Germany to his "devoted admirers" in an epistle which is likely to become celebrated. He begins by remarking that there is but one real and veritable "music," viz., his own; but, foreseeing that there must be refractory spirits in this imperfect world, he proposes to chastise them by excluding from his future performances at Bayreuth all who do not wear a badge with the inscription "Wagnerian enthusiast." In this way, no critic, will again be permitted to ruffle his complacency; he "will not," he says "at any price, allow his enemies," whom he calls his "calumniators" to be present on those great occasions. He now says that the Bayreuth Theatre is to be preserved, that his "admirers" must subscribe among themselves to raise him a capital, to which the Government should add an additional amount, so as to give him a fixed yearly income of £20,000 for the developing of the music of the future. Whether the high priest of dissonance will succeed in securing this modest aim remains to be seen.

February 9.

THE RUSSIAN CIRCULAR.

Duke Decazes has not received, being probably absorbed by Prince Gortschakoff's new circular, a copy of which has just been handed to him by Prince Orloff, the Russian Ambassador here. The general feeling in this city seems to be that Russia will hardly keep quiet under the refusal of Turkey to comply with the demands of the Powers, but though France would not be sorry to see England and Russia at loggerheads, the fear of seeing such a duel degenerate into a general fight of which she is not yet ready to take advantage, leads to a general desire to see "the Eastern question" settled, at all events, for the time being, without an appeal to arms.

THE CONSCRIPTION.

The operation of drawing the young men of the class of 1876 for the conscription commenced yesterday, at the Palace of Industry. Among the 428 names of the first arrondissement of this city ought to be that of the Prince Imperial, Louis Napoleon Bonaparte, and much curiosity was excited by the reading of the list. When the first name of one of the youths, Napoleon, was read out, the supposition was that the name of the son of the late Emperor was being called out, but such was not the case. The name of the young Prince—who, with the Empress Eugenie, M. Rouher, and the other leading Imperialists now in Italy, are being made so much of by the Italian Court and people—has been struck out of the list of conscripts, in consequence of his being the only son of a widow, and, as such, exempted by law from military service.

WORKS IN CONNECTION WITH THE EXHIBITION.

The works for the Great Exhibition of next year, both in the Champ de Mars and the Trocadero are being pushed on more vigorously than ever. Twelve hundred carts and a great number of barges bring each day to the quay unhewn stone and building materials of every description, which are then transferred by tramway to the different points for which they are destined. The mortar is mixed by twenty-five mills driven by steam power. The number of men now employed is over 2000, and the foundation walls are finished at all points. The refusal of Germany and Austria to take part in the grand affair has caused immense annoyance here, and the cordiality with which Great Britain has given her adhesion to the project, and already commenced her preparations for her part of the affair, is all the more thoroughly appreciated in consequence. Mr. Cunliffe Owen, secretary of the British Commission for the approaching Exhibition, has been here making the preliminary arrangements for the English exhibitors. He is much gratified by the cordial reception he experienced on the part of the Minister of Commerce, with whose department the Exhibition is connected; the Minister of Foreign Affairs, who is, of course, the intermediary in all international relations, and M. Kranz, senator, the Commissioner-General of the French Government for the Exhibition.

THE ABSENCE OF GERMAN EXHIBITORS.

Many of the German manufacturers seem to be greatly irritated by the refusal of their Government to take part in the coming tournament, and would, it is understood, have organized a commission for themselves, but are unable to do so, as international usage renders it imperatively necessary for foreigners who would enter into relation with the Government of another country to do so exclusively through the channel of the Ministers of their own Government and of the foreign Government with which they have to do. Consequently, as the German Ambassador cannot act in a matter in which his Government has refused to take part, no German man can appear at the coming Exhibition. However much it may be regretted that Germany should not be represented in the coming contest, no one who knows the intense desire for vengeance which exists here, notwithstanding all professions to the contrary, can blame the German Government for its decision. Such a state of things is greatly to be regretted; but it exists, and the German Government could not ignore a fact that is perfectly known to all concerned.

DECORATIVE PAINTINGS OF THE GRAND OPERA.

Apropos of the Opera, the lovers of pictorial art may be glad to learn that the renowned house of Goupil and Co. has just brought out a splendid album, containing all the decorative paintings of the great foyer of this magnificent edifice, reproduced by the new process of photo-graving, and giving with wonderful fidelity the aspect of the ensemble of the artist's work. Each photograving is accompanied by photographs of the preliminary sketches, which record the various stages through which each scene may be said to have passed in the artist's mind before reaching maturity. The book in question, therefore, offers a specially valuable study to young artists, who may learn from it the world of patient research and reflection given by a painter of the eminence of M. Baudry to every detail of the scenes and personages he represents. In regard to the latter, this curious and most interesting work shows us, among other things, that every one of the multitudinous draped figures, introduced into his paintings by this conscientious artist, was carefully studied by him in the nude before taking its place, arrayed in draperies heavy or vaporous according to the requirements of the case, among the scenes conjured up by his rich and fruitful pencil. This book, unique in its way, contains a clever preface by About. It would be melancholy to think that, a dozen years hence, this work may possibly be all that will remain of the magnificent building now being brought into full relief by the opening of the Avenue de l'Opera; but such is the intensity of hatred against all that is, in the minds of too large a portion of the population, of Paris, that such a result of the entrance of petroleum into the domain of domestic politics is by no means an impossibility.

LONG-LIVED CELEBRITIES.

The apparent lengthening of human life, indicated by the advanced age attained by so many of those who have recently died, frequently alluded to in these letters, has just received additional illustrations on both sides of the Channel. While the English papers inform us of the death of a very old friend of the Queen (Lady Smith, widow of the late President of the Linnean Society), in her 104th year, the death is announced from Algiers, of Madame Cavior Cohen, born, as is positively and authentically known, in 1762, and consequently 115 years of age! This lady, who may be said with tolerable certainty to have been the oldest member of the human race since the death of old Count de Waldeck, and who was the contemporary of Louis XV., leaves behind her five generations of descendants.

seventy in number. She was the widow of an officer of the Algerian Mint.

CAST OF DANTE'S FACE.

The Cluny Museum has just made the acquisition of a cast of Dante's face taken after death. Some years ago this cast modelled on the face of the dead poet was sold at Rome, where its acquisition was warmly disputed. It was purchased by the Cavalier Morgantini, who had it carefully reproduced, and has offered a copy of it to all the principal museums of Europe.

THE VANCHETTONI.

Florence, which, like most of the Italian towns, has old and prosperous societies for tending the sick and the necessitous, has also a "fraternity"—that of the Vanchettoni—which gives a supper, once a year, to one hundred of the poor of the city. This supper has just taken place in the picturesque city of the Medici, the Archbishop being present at the festa. The repast (of a frugality truly Florentine) consisted of a plate of macaroni and piece of fowl for each person, with bread, cheese, fruit, and wine "at discretion."

PARIS, FEBRUARY 15.

THE DECAY OF "FRENCH POLITENESS."

The Cortège of the Fat Oxen having disappeared from the scene of its former splendours, Shrove Tuesday is now decidedly shorn of its glories, as far as Paris is concerned. A vast number of people turned out on that day to see if anything was going on, but there were no masks worth speaking of, nothing beyond the innocent accoutrements of a dozen children or so. One bold youth, attired in exact Louis XV. costume, but without a mask, and carrying a hat of the period under his left arm, "promenaded himself" along the fashionable boulevards and up the Champs Elysées, with a quiet air of lordly indifference to the crowd which gathered about him that won him general admiration. The Paris of a generation ago has decidedly become a thing of the past, and "French politeness," formerly proverbial, is fast giving way to a style of manners that bids fair to associate the French name with a noun of precisely the opposite signification. Those who have no special affection for the political regime of the time are asking whether it is owing to the fact that France is now in possession of her third Republic, that, at the last ball at the Elysée, the few young men who took the trouble to dance, instead of leading their partners to a seat on the conclusion of a dance, left them standing and gallantly seated themselves, so that during the evening the curious spectacle was seen of all the available seats being occupied by the inferior half of creation, while the superior sex was condemned to play the part of "wall-flowers."

THE SILK WEAVERS' STRIKE.

The silk weavers of Lyons, having forced their employers to accede to a tariff of wages which the latter warned them would ruin the trade of the city by forcing a host of manufacturers to close their establishments, are now suffering the penalty of their unwise demands. So many houses have been closed that over 25,000 weavers are now out of work, and starving, with their families, on the meagre pittance of relief that is granted them by the municipality, aided by private charity. Here, concerts, balls, &c., are being organised to obtain funds for meeting the pressing wants of this legion of starvelings; but it is sad to think how little can thus be done to supply the lack of steady employment, consequent on the dislocation of trade and the uncertainty of political affairs, and the unenlightened action of too many of the trades unions.

A CHARITY BALL AT THE GRAND OPERA.

The director of the opera, M. Halanzier, has offered the use of that splendid building to Madame de MacMahon, for a charity ball, to be given therein, under the patronage of her Excellency. The offer having been accepted, and a powerful body of lady-patronesses enlisted in the affair, preparations are being made with great spirit, for rendering the affair a brilliant success. Strauss has generously offered to lead the orchestra gratis on the occasion. The decorations are to be the same as for the Masked Midnight Balls, but with a greater profusion of flowers; "summer's darlings" being also the darlings of the Duchess de Magenta, who has made the Elysée famous for its floral ornamentation, due to the remarkable taste of the clever florist, M. Debrie.

THE ERARD CONCERT.

Among the entertainments that have been given during the past week, one of the most brilliant and successful is the splendid fête given by Madame Erard, for the inauguration of the new concert-room, just added by her to the vast and fine premises of the unrivalled manufactory founded by her late husband in the Rue du Maël, where are made the magnificent harps and pianos that are so far out of reach of the rivalry of all other makers. About 600 invitations were issued for this fete, which consisted of an admirable concert, with the unrivalled orchestra of the Conservatory, followed by an equally admirable supper. The vocal part of the entertainment was confided to Mlle. Marimon, Madames Engallé, Capoul, and Bouby, and was, of course, something very near perfection. The orchestra performed, in wonderfully brilliant style, the overture to Weber's "Freychutz," an andante and scherzo of Mendelssohn, the allegretto of Beethoven's 8th symphony, and a grand composition of Haydn. The singers gave selections from Bellini, Gounod, Meyerbeer, Verdi, and Donizetti. The new hall is of large extent, perfect in its accoustic qualities, and its decoration is a marvel of richness and goodness. Faithful to the large and generous traditions of the establishment, Mme. Erard will lend this beautiful and splendid hall, as she has always lent its predecessor, to the artistes who apply to her, for giving their annual concerts, giving them gratis the use of the rooms, with lights, attendance, a magnificent piano, &c.

PRIVATE LIBRARIES, &c.

The finest collection of books in this country is that of the Duke d'Aumale, on which that archimillionaire spent an enormous amount of money, and which, in the rarity as well as the number of its books and manuscripts, the magnificence of the buildings, and the admirable arrangement of its well nigh inexhaustible treasures, is believed to eclipse all the other private libraries of Europe. It is commonly remarked that the Duke is rebuilding the ancient chateau of the Princes of Condé, Chantilly, to give to his princely library a palace worthy of that superb collection. Formerly, people spoke of "the stables of the Grand Condé" as unique in the world. They will probably speak of "the library" of his great-nephew as being equally unique in its way. After the Duke d'Aumale, the next private library of France is that of Baron James E. de Rothschild, who, since the regretted death of M. Firmin Didot, is the most ardent, enthusiastic, and liberal of French bibliophiles, and whose library is especially renowned for its collection of old Franco-Gothic editions and waifs, the most numerous and valuable of Europe. After these princely collections come those of Baron Jerome Pinchon, M. Duhuif, Count de Lignerolles, Baron de Laroche Lacarelle, M. Bocher, M. de Villeneuve, Marquis de Ganay, Baron Seillière, M. Leopold Double, Count de Béhague, Count de Pourtalés, Baron Portalés, &c. One of the most remarkable private libraries, that of the late "Prince of Critics," Jules Janin, is about to be brought to the hammer, and all the collectors of this hemisphere are in a flutter of excitement at the news. For this collection is absolutely unique in its way, consisting for the most part of special copies of the most renowned productions of this century, presented to the critic by their authors, with dedications or short inscriptions written by them on the fly-leaf of their respective works. Many of these are superb copies, printed apart, on magnificent paper, expressly for presentation to M. Janin, enriched with paintings, water-colours, engravings, sketches in crayon, &c., superbly bound. Some of the offerings thus presented to the renowned critic, who was greatly beloved in private life, were unique. For instance, the great tragedian, Rachel, brought to him the marvellous in-quarto manuscript, in which M. Lacerent, inspector of the Theatre Francais, has mentioned, day by day, all the rôles in which she had appeared, from her debut, June 12, 1838, to March 23, 1855, with the amount of the receipts taken by each play, forming a total of £176,000; the whole so exquisitely written that each page is a caligraphic triumph. In the fly-leaf of this curious book is written a couple of lines that may be roughly Englished thus:—

Mademoiselle Rachel to Jules Janin,
My titles of nobility I leave with you.
Monsieur Jules Janin to Rachel,
Highness! Your parchments are in good hands and true.
April 25, 1855.

Delicate, witty, affectionate flattery is inscribed on all the fly-leaves of the collection. The favourite dramatist, Pousard, not content with presenting a superb copy of all his plays, each with its tribute of thanks and eulogy, brings him, from Italy, a Catullus of the first Aldine edition, with the inscription:—

"From Catullus, Tibullus, and Propertius to the friend of Horace, my dear and excellent Jules Janin, his old friend," Pousard.

Thiers, Lamartine, Jasmin, Dumas, Victor Hugo, George Sand, Mery, Beranger, every one of note in the world of letters and of the stage, is represented in this curious collection. The Provençal Theocritus, Mistral, in a copy of his great poem, Mireille, writes simply in the old tongue of "Good King René,—To Jules Janin, un poutoun de Mereio! (To Jules Janin, a kiss from Mireille!) Many of the books are presented to Madame Janin, in honour of the devoted affection for each other which made the husband and wife a proverb of conjugal happiness; and almost all of these are bound with extra splendour, gold, silver, and even jewels being employed in making "gems" of the covers.

At her husband's death, Madame Janin offered this rich collection to the Institute (of which Janin was a member), on condition that the books should always be kept together and placed in a room by themselves, to be called by her husband's name, with her own name added as the donor. Strange to say the "Immortals" hesitated so long about accepting the valuable gift on these easy conditions that Madame Janin died before they had come to any decision, and the library has therefore fallen to the heirs of the deceased couple, who are preparing to sell it at auction with all the rest of their belongings.

While bookworms are anxiously waiting for the chance of possessing themselves of the rare Aldines and Elzevirs, and the immense collection of modern works and autographs just alluded to, antiquarians have had a keen contest over the dagger worn by Henry IV. at his marriage, this relic of the Elizabethan age being finally adjudicated at £500. The sword worn by the King on the same occasion is preserved in the Museum of Artillery.

The Duke d'Aumale has not confined his collecting activity to getting possession of the rarest books and manuscripts offered for sale at any point of Europe. His immense wealth enables him to collect rarities of every kind; among others, of paintings, in regard to which he is a first-rate connoisseur. The greater part of this splendid collection is in his fine hotel in the Rue du Faubourg St. Honoré, where he has a gallery composed of works which he has been twenty-five years in collecting. It contains 3953 paintings, besides a number of valuable engravings and etchings. All the schools are represented in this truly princely collection by master-pieces; his Rembrandts, for instance, are considered to be the finest in the world. Among them is The Resurrection of Lazarus, which the Czar offered to purchase, fifteen years ago, for £28,000. The series The Conquests alone is valued at £72,000; and the entire collection is valued at £200,000. The Duke is about to throw open this gallery to the public, on certain days of the week.

Our liberal and artistic countryman, Sir Richard Wallace, is also adding largely to the fine collections of all kinds which he inherited, with the rest of his vast fortune, from the late Marquis of Hertford.

THE TALKING MACHINE.

M. Faber, the completer and owner of the ingenious "talking machine," alluded to in a former letter, has also been prevented from continuing his exhibitions for some time past by an attachment laid on the machine by a former servant, to whom he owes money, and who, while suing him, obtained an order of the Court forbidding the manager of the Grand hotel to let the famous machine be taken from the premises. M. Faber, however, has just succeeded in obtaining, from the Tribunal of Commerce, a release from this attachment, as he showed the immense injury it was doing him, by preventing him from accepting the engagements that are being offered him daily by the heads of schools, professors of colleges, and other institutions, as well as from distinguished individuals, including Marshal MacMahon, who had sent him a messenger requesting him to give a séance at the Palace of the Elysée. The Court accordingly ordered M. Faber to deposit a sum of £15, as a security for anything his suitor might eventually recover; and this having been done, the machine may now be taken about at the pleasure of its owner, and will doubtless soon become one of the "lions" of European capitals.

FEMALE SINGERS IN CHOIRS.

An important concession to modern ideas has just been made at the Vatican, the exclusion of women from the choirs of Catholic Churches having now been done away with; Rossini, though a sincere Catholic, constantly protested against this exclusion, and, as will be remembered, positively refused to bring out his mass with the aid of boys' voices, and as the Archbishop of Paris resolutely refused to allow of the presence of female singers in the churches of Paris, brought out his mass at the "Italiens," to the scandal and annoyance of the priests, who wished to have it first performed in a consecrated edifice. Clerical usage having for a wonder given way to popular feeling, 60 young-lady pupils of the Conservatoire took part in the execution of the Requiem-mass, celebrated on Friday last, at the Church of the Trinity, in memory of the late composer Habeneck, founder of that institution; Friday being the 50th anniversary of its foundation.

FASHIONS.

In the uncertainty in which we are left by the Weather Office, as to whether we are to have any cold weather before spring sets in "by the grace of the Almanack," only changes of small details are being made in the feminine toilet of this enlightened capital. The fashion now is to put on "lame trimmings," that is to say, different on the two sides of the garment ornamented; for instance, if a trimming of lace is employed, it is put on full on one side, plain on the other. The hair is worn waved or curled on one side of the forehead, plain or cropped on the other. Buttons are one side only, not in parallel lines as formerly. One pocket is preferred to two; strings are tied on one side, and a hat is supposed to be improved by being put on awry. And so on. Everything is laden with flowers, the heavier the better. Artificial flowers are stuck on, upon the shoulder, at the waist, on the skirt, on the pocket, &c., indoors and in the street. The new Maréchall belt is of three thick silk cords plaited together with three long ends, one of which has a heavy tassel, the second a hand-mirror, the third a scent bottle, mounted in gold or silver. The favourite necklet is of narrow velvet, on which is sewn a row of tiny roses of Limoges enamelled procelain, so exquisitely natural that they look as though just gathered. The present style of dress, it must be admitted, is little in harmony with common sense that the inferior sex seem unable to appreciate its charms, and has commenced a series of attacks more frank than flattering on the "style" of the day.

"Since the ladies of Paris," says one of these unappreciative mentors, "have a taste for incommodious fashions, and as they have invented or resuscitated dresses too narrow to walk in, trains too long not to be trodden on, collars too high to be able to turn the head, pockets too low for the wearer to be able to put her hand in, and too much behind for her to see if any one else does, heels too high to take a step without stumbling, bows so placed as to prevent sitting down without crushing them, we recommend to them the following gem of description by the returned African traveller Commander Cameron:—

"'Reh enneko is a populous village; I was at once surrounded by a wondering crowd of well-dressed persons, costumed like the slaves of Zanzibar. They had, also, a most singular neck ornament, a disk formed by coiling brass wire; the circle projects horizontally from the neck to a distance of two feet in diameter, reminding one of the pictures of John the Baptist's head in a charger; I was told that this troublesome decoration was worn throughout the district.'

"We are greatly mistaken, ladies of Paris, if that is not a necklace worthy of being taken into your most serious consideration."

ORDERS, accompanied with satisfactory mercantile references, will receive prompt attention.

TO ECONOMICAL HOUSEWIVES.—Your Grocer can purchase inferior Soaps 8s a hundredweight less than he can buy Allen's No. 1 Crown Soap, and he charges for them the same price per bar. He reaps the benefit, and you pay for it. You lose 8s a box; your clothes last no time, and their colours are destroyed by the adulteration. To avoid all this, see that your bar of soap is stamped "ALLEN'S No. 1 Crown."

TANKS.—400 gallon Tanks cheap, cemented, water-tight, and brass taps. W. Robison, 67, Sussex-st.

TO HOTEL KEEPERS, BOARDING HOUSE PROPRIETORS, and OTHERS.
SPECIAL NOTICE.

It is evident that the forthcoming METROPOLITAN EXHIBITION will be one of the most successful which has yet been held in Australia.

The increased interest caused by the large exhibits from the U. S. and Canada is sure to draw an IMMENSE NUMBER OF PEOPLE FROM THE COUNTRY to see new machinery and appliances of all kinds. It is, therefore, most likely that the Hotel, Boarding House, and other accommodation of the city will be tested to the utmost.

In view of this we have determined to supply HOUSEHOLD GOODS, Necessary for such an occasion, AT AN EXTREMELY LOW RATE OF PRICE, FOR CASH, to meet the extra demand, without incurring much additional expense to yourself.

We feel sure that the list that follows will commend itself to your approval.

EXHIBITION, 1877. DRAPERY NOTICE.

EDWARD HORDERN,
676, Brickfield-hill, near Liverpool-street, has much pleasure in inviting visitors to the Metropolitan Exhibition at the gay and festive season of Easter to make their Purchases of DRAPERY at his old-established and well-known Warehouse, 676, BRICKFIELD-HILL, (only).
SYDNEY,

For the benefit of Country Visitors, his GREAT SALE will be continued during the whole of the Exhibition, so that in addition to the pleasures of renewing old friendships, and enjoying the great treat provided by the Agricultural Society, advantageous Purchases of DRAPERY can be made by paying an early visit to the above address. To prevent unpleasant mistakes and disappointments, E. H. thinks a timely caution necessary to call particular attention to his name EDWARD HORDERN in full over the entrance to his establishment. He has no connection directly or indirectly with any other firm of the same name in Sydney; his GREAT CLEARING-OUT SALE is a genuine bona fide distribution of his Summer and Autumn Stock, and not got up as an "EXHIBITION SALE," for the occasion, that his only place of business is at No. 676, BRICKFIELD-HILL, near Liverpool-street.

TRADE MARKS
REGISTRATION ACT OF 1875.
RYLANDS', BROTHERS (Limited).
PIRACY OF TRADE MARK.

It has come to the knowledge of this Company that their Trade Mark, which has been duly registered in accordance with the provisions of the Trade Marks Registration Act, 1875, has been pirated, and that shipments of wire of inferior quality with such pirated trade mark, and consequently purporting to be the manufacture of the Company, have been made to Australia and New Zealand, where the Company's goods, guaranteed by their said trade mark, are in high repute, and command a corresponding market and price. The piracy of their trade mark being an injury to the credit, as well as a pecuniary loss to the Company, THIS IS TO GIVE NOTICE that proceedings will be taken against all parties concerned in such piracy, or found shipping or dealing in any way with goods bearing such pirated trade mark.

WALKER, SON, and FIELD, Founders' Hall, St. Swithin's-lane, E.C.; and THOMAS MARSHALL, Solicitor, Pitt-street, Sydney.
Agents for Field and Weightman, Liverpool; Solicitors for Messrs. Rylands, Brothers (Limited), Warrington.

I, CHARLES ARNOLD BLACKLY, of 61, King William-street, in the City of London, do solemnly and sincerely declare as follows:—

"I am the London Agent of Rylands, Brothers (limited), of Warrington, in the county of Lancaster, wire manufacturers.

"The wire manufactured by the said Company is protected by a trade mark, duly registered in accordance with the provisions of the Trade Marks Registration Act, 1875.

"It is within my knowledge that the trade mark of the said Company has been and is pirated, and that wire of an inferior quality to that manufactured by the Company has been shipped to the colonies with pirated trade marks, and purporting to be the manufacture of the said Company.

"And I make this solemn declaration conscientiously believing the same to be true.

"C. A. BLACKLY.

"Declared at London, before ALGERNON WELLS, a Commissioner.

Prince Alfred.—On behalf of the Committee of the late Oddfellows' Picnic, held at Clontarf on Easter Monday last, I beg to tender their warmest thanks and kind appreciation of your endeavours to render all the assistance in your power, and the able manner in which your officers assisted us in carrying out the arrangements. Wishing you every prosperity, I am gentlemen, yours truly,
JOHN BELL, Chairman.

WOOL, TIN, LEATHER, HIDES, &c. We are prepared to make liberal advances on Produce consigned to Messrs. Saddington and Co., Coleman-street, London, who will also undertake the purchase and shipment of all descriptions of Merchandise.
SADDINGTON and SONS, 152, Pitt-street.

GUERRE A. MORT.—The Sydney Bill Posting Company, 13½, Bridge-street, invites the attention of Advertisers to their GRAND DISPLAY of Cooper, Bailey's, Monster Circus and Menagerie, Wilson's Monster Circus, Bachelder's beautiful Drama of the American War, Theatre Royal, Queen's Theatre, Auctioneers', Drapers', and numerous other business bills on their various monster hoardings. In fact, our supporters (to whom we return our sincere thanks) have flattered us so much as to say that they never saw a finer or more artistic display of bills in the colonies, and the same remark has been re-echoed by the agents for the Circus Companies and Diorama, that our "show" will bear comparison with the largest cities in the States of America, who may be termed, without insult, "A Nation of Advertisers." All orders will receive the usual prompt attention.
I. DUNSHEA, Manager.

SYDNEY BILL POSTING COMPANY, 13½, Bridge-street.—Received from Mr. I. DUNSHEA, the sum of one guinea, half-yearly subscription to St. Vincent's Hospital. R. COVENY, Secretary.

PUBLIC NOTICE.—To Commission Agents, Grocers, Butchers, Dealers, &c.—ALFRED C. DENT, Scale and Weight Maker, 17, Park-street, is prepared to execute with dispatch all orders entrusted to his care, and guarantee the same.
N.B.—No connection with the late proprietor, J. Cook.

OMNIBUS NOTICE.—The Surry Hills Omnibuses will play to and from the EXHIBITION, via Surry Hills, every ten minutes.
J. and T. HARRISON.

I, MRS. J. COOPER hereby apologise to Mrs. T. PATISON for any offensive expressions I used to her on the 5th of April. Mrs. J. COOPER, Crown-street, Glebe.

ANILINE DYE WORKS.
Established 1839.

W. C. ELDRIDGE.
Dyer, Scourer, and Hotpresser,
137, York-street, Sydney;
and opposite Congregational Chapel, Newtown.

W. C. ELDRIDGE desires again most gratefully to acknowledge the continued liberal patronage of the public of Sydney and the Australian colonies generally, which it has been his privilege to enjoy for the last thirty-seven years; and especially thanks his patrons for the unprecedented increase of his business during the present season. W. C. E. will continue with renewed assurance of success his endeavours to merit the confidence of all who may entrust him with future favours.

At no period in the past history of the civilized nations of the world has the art of dyeing occupied the very prominent and important position that it does at the present. From the rapidity with which the fashions in costume change has arisen a corresponding demand for a change in the style of textile manufactures, and these fabrics depend upon the beauty and variety of their colours for their popularity and value in commerce, and which renders them to be the true medium for display of refined taste in the various graceful adornments of dress.

"One with a Dye is ting'd of lovely Blue,
Such as thro' air serene the sky we view.
With Yellow Lustre see another spread,
As if the Golden Fleece composed the thread;
Some of the Sea-Green waves the cast display,
With this the Naiads their bright forms array;
And some the Saffron Hue will well adorn;
Such is the mantle of the blushing morn
Of Myrtle Berries one the tincture shows,
In this of Amethysts the Purple glows;
And that more imitates the Paler Rose.
So various are the Colours, each may try
Of which the thirsty wool imbibes the Dye,
That every one what best becomes may wear,
For no complexion all alike can bear."

The results of modern chemistry have been complete triumphs. We have now a perfect scale of absolutely pure tints, which can be infinitively divided without any diminution of lustre or permanence.

Every colour, and shade of colour, is produced at the York-street Establishment of W. C. E., unsurpassed for brilliancy or delicacy of tint; and a few of the latest are enumerated as examples:—

MAGENTA, "Celestial Rosy Red, Love's proper hue."

SOLFERINO, "the tint of maiden's blush and beauty of her cheek."

AZULINE, "the Blue of Heaven's own tint."

COULEUR D'OR, "the glowing Orange to the Primrose pale."

ECLIPSE VIOLET, "the Purple of Pride, fit to adorn Emperors."

OPHELIA PURPLE, "the pale Violet's dejected hue."

EMERALDINE, "the hue of Nature's gayest universal robe."

"MAGDALA," or the new CARDINAL RED
PRUNE and PLUM COLOURS, and the NEW CERISE, or PINK SCARLET, and NAVY BLUE.

ROSINE, FUCHINE, HUMBOLDT, PICRICINE, and every other Aniline colour is dyed at ELDRIDGE'S, 137, York-street.

COLOUR LIST.—W. C. ELDRIDGE appends the following information respecting the colours most generally worn. The information given will not apply to cotton mixtures—these it is always best to leave to the dyer's discretion; they will, however, take brown, maroon, or claret:—

WHITE is dyed scarlet, crimson, green, amber, maroon, claret, brown, and black, and Australian rose-pink
PINK and sky-blue will take any colour
Rose will take rose, green, scarlet, crimson, blue, mauve, violet, magenta, and any dark colour
GREEN will generally take green, crimson, giraffe, maroon, brown, and black
LAVENDER will generally take green, lavender, crimson, blue, mauve, violet, magenta, and any dark colour
SCARLET will take scarlet, crimson, dark green, maroon, chocolate, brown, and black CRIMSON will take scarlet, crimson, giraffe, maroon, chocolate, green, brown, and black
ANILINE BLUE will take aniline blue, violet, and black VIOLET will take violet, maroon, claret, chocolate, brown, and black MAGENTA will take crimson, violet, magenta, dark green, maroon, claret, chocolate, brown, and black
DRAB will take green, crimson, blue, violet, magenta, giraffe, maroon, claret, chocolate, brown, and black
AMBER will take scarlet, crimson, amber, green, giraffe, maroon, claret, chocolate, brown, and black GIRAFFE will take giraffe, maroon, claret, chocolate, brown, and black MAROON will take maroon, claret, chocolate, brown, and black
BROWN will take brown, claret, chocolate, and black
BLACK will take claret, chocolate, brown, and black; occasionally black is quite fast, and cannot be changed
BLACK velveteens will take claret or brown; much recommended.

Could be subdivided to great advantage, and well worth the attention of speculators and others, there being no other property like it available within long distances of Sydney. Also, many choice city and suburban proprieties, yielding 10 per cent. on capital required.
JOHN BRIDGE, 177, Pitt-street.

TO be SOLD or LET, by private contract, the MANSION and Grounds of CARRARA, on the choicest site in the Harbour of Port Jackson, adjoining the grounds of Vaucluse, and facing Shark Island, with Rose Bay on the left.

The Mansion was planned and erected under the supervision of Messrs. Hilly and Mansfield, architects. No regard for cost prevented the architects from producing ample accommodation with good style and substantiality of materials and workmanship. The apartments are spacious, with commodious halls, corridors, pantries, baths, &c., and the out-offices are extensive and convenient.

The dimensions of the apartments are as follows:—

ON THE GROUND FLOOR.

Drawing-room, 65 feet x 16 feet, with a bow window in the centre, giving 11 feet extra width there
Dining-room, 27 x 19½

consists of one large apartment or ball-room.

The OUT-OFFICES connected with the mansion consists of two kitchens, laundry, ironing room, stove room, and six bed rooms, and other conveniences; with a stone-flagged court-yard, in which there is a large underground tank.

STABLES AND COACH HOUSES.

A stable of 5 stalls
Two coach-houses
A large harness room
A saddle room
Three bedrooms over these.
Also a granary and a hayloft
And another underground water-tank in front of these buildings.

There is a handsome porter's lodge at the front entrance gate.

The mansion and the other buildings are formed of the best freestone.

The water frontage is extensive. The area of the ground measures fourteen acres, and is tastefully embellished with shrubbery and handsome trees. A portion is arranged and planted as a garden and orchard.

This property as a whole can scarcely be equalled in the colonies. The situation is excellent, and commands salubrity of atmosphere, and an extensive and beautiful view of the Harbour, and the more distant scenery to the westward; and the carriage drive to or from the city, by South Head Road, is easy and pleasant.

For particulars, and for cards to view, apply to G. RATTRAY, 1 Lloyd's-chambers, George-street.

g g g g g g g g g g g g g g g g g gd Strawberry, by Mr. Jolly's bull (337).

The Prize Bull Baron Colling 2nd is perfectly sound, and has always enjoyed vigorous health. He has been used in the stud for three years, and has served cows at 20 guineas each. He is sire of the pure bull Red Duke, sold for 300 guineas to Mr. A. G. Well, of Ellerslie, Tumut: also of the prize heifers Princess Colling and Colling's Heartsease, &c.

Baron Colling 2nd was exhibited in England eight times during the season of 1872, and received six first prizes, one second, and one third. His sire, Baron Oxford, was purchased by Colonel Towneley, in 1867, at a cost of 500 guineas, and his half-brother and their dam, Lady Oxford 5th (winner of the 1st prize at the Royal Agricultural Show of England in 1863, also 1st prize at the Essex County Show, same year), made 506 guineas and 600 guineas respectively.

Baron Colling and the celebrated bull Royal Butterfly 6th (18,757) are in direct descent from Charles Colling's cow Phœnix, dam of Favourite (252), and grand dam of Comet (155), by her son Favourite, the three great progenitors of the highest strain of Shorthorns.

At Charles Colling's sale in 1810, Comet was sold for 1000 guineas.

Lady (Baron Colling 2nd's 15th great dam) at 14 years old, for 206 guineas, and Countess (his 14th great dam), when 9 years old, for 400 guineas.

Red Butterfly, the great grand dam, was sold as a yearling for 400 guineas, and her dam, Vestris 2nd, was the winner of the Gold Medal at Paris.

The Baron has been only once exhibited in this colony, viz., in 1874, when, in conjunction with Theodore, he won the Special Breeders' Prize for the best pair of Durham Bulls; and in class 22—Bulls 3 years and over—eleven entries, although young, he was placed second. Since then he has been one of the stud bulls at Nepean Towers. In 1875 he was inoculated as a protection against pleuro-pneumonia, and in consequence lost part of his tail, which, although a little disfigurement, considerably ENHANCES HIS VALUE, as he may NOW be considered safe against any attack of that fatal disease. This bull is now parted with to make room for new blood.

The above will be on view on TUESDAY, 10th instant.

EXHIBITION STOCK SALES.

LINCOLN SHEEP
from
FARNHAM PARK, VICTORIA.

GRIFFITHS and WEAVER have received instructions from the breeders, Messrs. Rutledge, Brothers, of Farnham Park, Warrnambool, to sell by public auction, at the Exhibition Ground, Prince Alfred Park, Sydney, on WEDNESDAY, April 18,

The following Lincoln sheep, which have been selected and sent up for this Exhibition:—

4 weaner rams, 7 months old, having 10 crosses of the pure Lincoln
17 two-tooth rams, having 9 crosses of the pure Lincoln
5 two-tooth ewes, having 9 crosses of the pure Lincoln
5 prime fat Lincoln wedders.

The Farnham Park flock is noted as the grandest and purest flock of Lincolns in Australia, and has competed most successfully at all the Exhibitions. These sheep are of the purest type, as none have less than 9 crosses of the pure Lincoln, and are of immense size, carrying heavy fleeces of long lustrous wool.

These sheep can be now inspected at the Quarantine Ground, Petersham, and will be delivered free of quarantine at the close of the Exhibition.

Also, on account of Mr. T. F. Knox.

7 two-tooth Lincoln rams, having 8 and 9 crosses of the pure Lincoln.

These 7 sheep are also bred by Messrs Rutledge, Brothers, and are exactly similar to the first-named lots, but, being free of quarantine, can now be inspected in Sydney.

METROPOLITAN EXHIBITION, 1877.

PURE-BRED IMPORTED LINCOLN EWES AND RAMS.

G. M. PITT and SON have much pleasure in announcing that the Annual Sale of pure-bred imported Lincoln ewes and rams will be held at the Corporation Yards, Pitt-street, during the Exhibition week, due notice of which will be given.

The sheep to be sold are superior to anything that they have ever offered at auction, and are from some of the most renowned flocks in Victoria.

They comprise about—
200 highly-bred ewes, 2, 4, and 6 tooth, and some four years old 100 ditto rams, 2 and 4 tooth.

The ewes were bred by Mr. Urquhart, and by Messrs. Urquhart, Broomfield, and Tozer.

The ewes are in lamb to very choice imported rams, and offer a chance of securing highly-bred sheep seldom to be met with.

The sheep can be seen at Homebush; and all particulars as to pedigree, &c., can be had from the agents.

Important Public Notice

Day of Sale—MONDAY, April 16, 1877.

Oriental Quartz Crushing Machine and Plant costing £7500, erected at the Junction, Macquarie and Turon Rivers.
The Government are now finishing the Road to the Machine.

For Positive and Absolute Sale.
Without the least reserve.

To parties engaged in Quartz Mining in Queensland, New Zealand, New South Wales, and other of the Australian colonies.

JOHN G. COHEN has received instructions to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, 267, Margaret-street, near corner of George-street, on MONDAY, April 16, 1877, at 11 o'clock precisely,
The Oriental Quartz Crushing Machine and Plant, as now erected at the junction of the Macquarie and Turon Rivers
Machinery and tools of the Oriental plant comprises—
1 25-horse power engine, 16 inch cylinder and 3 foot stroke, capable of driving 25 head of stampers
1 Cornish boiler, made expressly for the above, 22 feet 6 inches by 6 feet
One battery of 15 head of stampers, in three boxes
One amalgamator
Two ship's iron tanks and water piping
One fly-wheel driving-gear
A large variety of tools for engineers, smiths, and smelters.
A quantity of galvanized iron never been used.

The above MACHINE, entirely NEW, never having been in use, PLANT, and a large quantity of TOOLS. The road now being finished by the Government to the machine renders the removal so comparatively easy, that it can be done at a very small cost to the purchaser.

The greatest care has been taken of the entire property, the whole being under a shed 75 x 45, built of hardwood, and covered with galvanized iron.

There is also, with the above, a weatherboard cottage, 12 x 10, covered with galvanized iron.

The whole of which will be sold in one lot.

The Auctioneer, in directing attention of all classes and purchasers to the above valuable plant, entirely new, considers such an opportunity is not likely to occur again to those engaged in mining, positive instructions being given to sell the same

WITHOUT THE SLIGHTEST RESERVE,

thus enabling speculators and others to purchase this valuable property at almost a nominal cost as to the original amount paid, £7500. Purchasers will be treated liberally by terms which will be made known at time of sale.

☞ Intending purchasers can view the battery and plant on application to Mr. E. T. FOLEY, Weir's Hotel, Hill End, who will give every information.

Photograph of the engine and battery can be seen at the Rooms of the Auctioneer, with every particular.

ALL THAT PARCEL of land, facing the South Head Road, Paddington, and having a frontage of 72 FEET by a depth of 220, on portion of which is erected that substantial, commodious, and comfortable family residence

SEA VIEW VILLA.

The accommodation consists of nine large airy rooms, well finished, in good repair; SCHOOLROOM, BATH-ROOM, KITCHEN, STORE-ROOM, PANTRY, and Laundry; back verandah 9 feet wide, commanding beautiful views of the HARBOUR.

FRONT VERANDAH, 5 FEET 6 INCHES WIDE.

The house stands a considerable distance off the road, is therefore free from dust and other annoyances, and the ground embraces a well laid out and planted garden and large yard, abutting on which are stables, coachhouse, with loft overhead, and other conveniences.

There is a never-failing well of pure water; and in every respect the property is in excellent order, having but very recently been put in thorough repair, under the superintendence of Mr. Alexander Dean.

CAPITAL CITY INVESTMENT.

DARLINGHURST.
THREE TWO-STORY RESIDENCES, Nos. 387, 389, and 391, LIVERPOOL-STREET, west of VICTORIA-STREET.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on FRIDAY, 13th April, at 11 o'clock,
BLOCK OF LAND, having 36 FEET 7 INCHES frontage to the south side of LIVERPOOL-STREET, extending back to a lane at the rear, upon which are erected Nos. 387, 389, and 391, LIVERPOOL-STREET, THREE SUBSTANTIALLY-BUILT BRICK DWELLING-HOUSES, with handsome cut stone fronts, stone foundations, balconies front and back. Two contain each 4 rooms and kitchen, and one 4 rooms; each with yard at the rear, water laid on; back entrance from lane, drained to the sewer, &c.
☞ This is a very desirable city investment in the best and most elevated part of LIVERPOOL-STREET, a locality where FREEHOLDS seldom change hands owing to the popularity of the position and the certainty of a constant return to the holders.

Inspection of the above is invited, as instructions are imperative to dispose of the property to the highest bidder on the date mentioned.
JOHN DAWSON and SON, Pitt-street,
Solicitors of the Vendor.

NEW ENGLAND DISTRICT.

FOR ABSOLUTE SALE.

WITHOUT RESERVE.

In consequence of the Proprietor leaving the District.

That well-known highly improved station property
GARA,
situated within 10 miles of the city of ARMIDALE, together with first-class homestead, fit for the residence of a gentleman's family, many other extensive improvements on purchased land, and the following stock, viz.:—
18,800 SHEEP, more or less
800 CATTLE, more or less.
Stores, working stock, and all station belongings to be taken by the purchaser by valuation in the usual way.

The HOUSEHOLD FURNITURE and a LIBRARY of well-selected books may be taken by the purchaser by valuation, should he elect to do so, otherwise these effects will be removed.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions from MONTAGUE MARKS, Esq., for the reason stated above, to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, Sydney,
WEDNESDAY, 18th April instant,
at 11 o'clock,
The above choice and compact pastoral property.
GARA is an early selection on one of the most noted portions of the New England District, and contains about 45,000 acres of sound grazing country, principally of red gum, box, and apple tree, all well grassed, and of large carrying capabilities, every part of the run being abundantly watered by the Gara River and Coney, Pint-pot, Baker's, and other intersecting creeks. Gara is about 10 miles from the city of Armidale, and about 100 miles from the proposed Railway Station at Quirindi, which will presently be opened. It is surrounded by the well-known stations—Gostwyck, belonging to Messrs. Dangar, Brothers; Gyralla, belonging to Messrs. Legh and Anderson; Hillgrove, belonging to R. Hargrave, Esq.; and Tilbuster, belonging to George Cross, Esq.
The improvements, which are principally erected on purchased land, are of an unusually substantial character. They comprise, amongst others, at the head station, the HOMESTEAD, a well-built large-sized BRICK verandah COTTAGE, replete with all conveniences, containing eight rooms, with pantry and kitchen attached. Surrounding the cottage is a choice flower garden, containing many varieties of English trees and shrubs, and upon which great care has been expended, and adjoining it is an orchard of full-bearing fruit trees. The following shingled buildings are detached, viz.: STORE, with two bedrooms, STABLE of 6 stalls, HAY SHED, BUGGY and CART SHEDS, OVERSEER'S COTTAGE, of weatherboard, containing 4 rooms and kitchen, with stable, &c., detached. WOOLSHED quite equal to present flock. DRAFTING YARDS arranged on the most approved principles, equal to a larger number of sheep. STOCKYARD, MEN'S HUTS, WASHPOOL, and other conveniences for economically working the property, including substantial huts and yards at the outstations.
The PADDOCK accommodation encloses about 850 acres, subdivided into 7 paddocks, viz., 400, 200, 140 (newly fenced posts and rails), 60 (cultivation) cleared, and laid down in English grasses, and three smaller ones surrounding the homestead.
The PURCHASED LAND includes 868 acres in GRANTS, 150 acres provisionally secured for improvements, and 260 acres conditionally-purchased, and ready for transfer. These lands will be included in the sale, at a fixed price per acre. There are also 4195 acres of pre-emptive leased land attached to the freehold.
With GARA will be sold
18,800 SHEEP, more or less, and
800 CATTLE, more or less.
⁂ The SHEEP are all of large frame, and yield a heavy clip of fine wool. Amongst the flocks there are a large number of grown wethers ready for market, and for next season there will be at least 5000 ewes to go to the rams, of which there is an ample supply of choice breed, viz., Bettington's, Bayly's, and Marsh's, and some from the noted "Canning Downs" flocks.
⁂ The cattle are a very quiet herd, and lie close at home, and can nearly all be got together in a few days. Amongst them are 100 bullocks now ready for sale.
The above property has been worked with great advantage by its present proprietor, and would not have come into the market had not his intention to leave the district induced him to make a sale. To gentlemen desirous of obtaining a property having the advantage of being in one of the healthiest parts of the Northern districts of this colony, close to a large town, affording all requirements for a gentleman's family, and upon which a large outlay has been made to bring it to its present state of excellence, the opportunity of securing Gara should not be overlooked. A thorough inspection is invited, for which every facility will be afforded on the station.
TERMS.—One-third cash, balance by promissory notes, at 1 and 2 years' date, with 6 per cent. interest added, and secured in the usual way.

GREAT CLEARING SALE.

FIVE-DOCK HEIGHTS.
That WELL-KNOWN, BEAUTIFULLY-SITUATED, and HIGHLY-IMPROVED EXTENSIVE SUBURBAN RETREAT, DUNMORE PARK,
comprising the RESIDENCE and PARK-LIKE GROUNDS, ORANGERY, ORCHARD, and GARDEN (upwards of 59 acres), situated in LYONS ROAD, opposite the improved PROPERTIES and RESIDENCES of JUDGE FAUCETT and H. B. BRADLEY, Esq., and near DRUMMOYNDE, the Estate of WILLIAM WRIGHT, Esq.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions from the PROPRIETOR, to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street,
ON FRIDAY, 20th APRIL,
at 11 o'clock,
ALL THAT very VALUABLE BLOCK of LAND, comprising an area of 59 ACRES 3 ROODS and 6 PERCHES, being original lots Nos. 96, 97, and 98 of the well-known FIVE-DOCK ESTATE, and known as DUNMORE PARK,
having extensive frontage upwards of 2000 FEET to LYONS ROAD leading from the GREAT NORTH ROAD, together with that COMMODIOUS and substantially built brick FAMILY RESIDENCE, on stone foundations, with wide verandah in front, and containing entrance hall, drawing-room, dining-room, library, 6 bedrooms, kitchen, servants' apartments, pantry, storeroom, bathroom, and laundry; also detached dairy, coachhouse, stable, carthouse, fowlhouse, and other outbuildings.
A portion (about 2 acres) of the land is tastefully laid out as flower garden and shrubbery. On the road frontage are well-designed carriage-entrance gates, from which the residence is approached by a wide carriage-drive, planted on each side with beautiful and well-matured ornamental trees and evergreens.
There are also orangery, orchard, and vegetable garden, in all about six acres, planted with trees of the choicest descriptions of fruit, all healthy and in full bearing.
The residue (upwards of 50 acres) is well-grassed paddocks, all cleared, and separated by good substantial fences.
☞ The auctioneers, in bringing this charming and delightfully situated, and in every respect very desirable FAMILY RESIDENCE and extensive grounds into the market, would call special attention to the sale, as affording an opportunity, now so seldom met with, for securing a large and highly improved SUBURBAN ESTATE in, without exception, the
MOST BEAUTIFUL
and HEALTHY
suburb around the city.
The position is all that can be desired, on the elevated part of FIVE DOCK, and the VIEW
from the estate is charming and beautiful, embracing the waters of HEN and CHICKEN BAY, the PARRAMATTA RIVER; and for grandeur, variety, and extent cannot be surpassed in any other part of the southern hemisphere.
DUNMORE PARK is within easy distance of the ASHFIELD and CROYDON RAILWAY STATIONS, and only forty minutes' drive of THE CITY,
by a good road the whole distance; and when THE BRIDGE across
IRON COVE BAY to BALMAIN is erected, the property will be reached from the city under thirty minutes, by one of the most beautiful
SUBURBAN DRIVES
in the colony, and thereby will be considerably enhanced in value.
The PARRAMATTA STEAMERS on their trips to and from the city call at HEN and CHICKEN BAY, where a wharf is now erected, within seven minutes' walk of DUNMORE PARK.

CARDS to view may be obtained, and a PLAN of the estate inspected at the Rooms, Pitt-street.
LITHOGRAPHS now ready for distribution.
TERMS VERY LIBERAL.

CHOICE BUILDING SITE, adjoining the above, also in TUPPER-STREET.
BRICK COTTAGE RESIDENCE, and WEATHERBOARD COTTAGE, in ALMA-STREET, off STANMORE ROAD.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions from J. PERRY, Esq., (in consequence of his projected departure for Europe), to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on FRIDAY, 20th April, at 11 o'clock,
LOT 1.—SALEHURST VILLA, a COMMODIOUS BRICK-BUILT FAMILY COTTAGE RESIDENCE, with wide verandah in front, and containing hall, very large drawing-room, dining-room, and five good bedrooms, with detached kitchen fitted with stove, 2 servants' rooms, and laundry. Also wood and coal shed, 2 tanks, well of water fitted with pump; good yard, &c.
The grounds have 58 feet 10 inches frontage to Great Tupper-street, 85 feet to Alma-street, with a depth of 215 feet. In front of the villa they are laid out into orchard and flower gardens, with well-formed gravel walk from the front gate through the centre up to the residence.

LOT 2.—CHOICE VILLA SITE, adjoining the above, and having the following frontages:—
78 feet 2 inches to GREAT TUPPER-STREET, 52½ feet to ALMA-STREET, with the good depth of 212 FEET.
This site adjoins the mansion and grounds belonging to J. FRANCIS, Esq., and is admirably adapted as a SITE for a first-class VILLA RESIDENCE.
On the rear of the site are substantially-built brick stable and coachhouse, with hayloft over.

LOT 3.—BRICK-BUILT COTTAGE RESIDENCE, of 5 rooms and kitchen, in ALMA-STREET, off STANMORE ROAD.
The land has 76 feet 2 inches frontage to Alma-street, with a depth of 102 feet, the whole being laid out as orchard of choice fruit trees in full bearing; also shrubbery and flower garden planted with the choicest descriptions of ornamental trees and rare flowers.

LOT 4. NEAT VERANDAH 4-roomed weatherboard cottage adjoining the above, with garden in front, good yard, shed, &c., at the rear.
The land has 38 FEET frontage to Alma-street, with a depth of 103 FEET.
Nos. 3 and 4 will be offered in one or two lots, to suit purchasers.

☞ The above are in a favourite part of STANMORE within five minutes' walk of the NEWTOWN RAILWAY STATION, surrounded by first-class properties, and in a locality where residences are in great demand, and at all times command good rentals.

By those in search of SUBURBAN RESIDENCES or GOOD INVESTMENTS in a popular locality, these properties are worthy of attention, the instructions of the proprietor being imperative to sell, in consequence of his contemplated visit to Europe.

SPARNON,
A DELIGHTFULLY-SITUATED FIRST-CLASS MANSION, with highly-improved Grounds, STANMORE ROAD, five minutes' walk from the NEWTOWN RAILWAY STATION.

TITLE, TORRENS' ACT.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions from J. Perry, Esq. (in consequence of his projected departure for Europe), to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on FRIDAY, 20th April, at 11 o'clock,
That first-class highly-finished family MANSION,
SPARNON,
together with its improved GROUNDS, having the following frontages:—
124½ FEET to STANMORE ROAD,
202 FEET to GREAT TUPPER-STREET, situated on
STANMORE HEIGHTS,
being the choicest SITE in that beautiful favourite locality, overlooking Botany Bay, Sydney Harbour, Parramatta River, and the surrounding picturesque scenery.
THE HOUSE, built substantially of brick, cemented all round, on massive stone foundation, has a handsome elevation, with spacious balconies and verandahs; is approached in front by tastefully-designed ornamental massive stone steps. The principal apartments are entered from a wide hall. They comprise—
A well proportioned DRAWING ROOM, with oriel windows
DINING ROOM of good size, also with oriel window.
LIBRARY and BREAKFAST ROOM.
The UPPER APARTMENTS are approached by a fine wide staircase. They include four large airy and lofty bedrooms, dressing room, bathroom, linen closet, patent closet, laboratory, and housemaid's pantry.
In the BASEMENT are lofty, dry, well ventilated wine cellars, dairy, store, &c., the floors all laid with patent tiles.
The FINISH of the internal work is very superior, the fittings being all of picked cedar, highly polished. The mantelpieces in all the rooms are marble of chaste designs, and the ceilings and cornices well decorated.
The OUT-OFFICES are very complete, comprising kitchen fitted with cooking range, laundry with copper, fixed washtubs, all of which have water laid on to them, and gas ironing stove, two pantries fitted with shelves; storerooms, &c.
Above the kitchen are the servants' apartments. At the rear, in a separate yard, approached by a side entrance from STANMORE ROAD, and also by a back entrance from ALMA-STREET, are stable, coach-house, harness rack, large hayloft, groom's room, two fowlhouses, &c. The DRAINAGE from all parts of the premises is perfect in every respect.
The WATER is laid on both to house and OUT-OFFICES, and there is an unlimited supply in all seasons. In addition to eight large iron tanks in the roofs, there are two brick cemented underground tanks, fitted with powerful force pump, which throws the water into the elevated tanks if required.
The gas is laid on throughout the whole house even to the register stoves, which, in all the rooms, are fitted with asbestos, therefore requiring no coal or fuel.
On the STANMORE ROAD FRONTAGE and also in GREAT TUPPER-STREET are prettily-designed double-gate entrances, and the property is enclosed with close weatherboard ornamental fencing, well painted.
The GROUNDS attached to SPARNON in the front and on south-eastern side are beautifully laid out; and great taste has been displayed in the arrangement of them, the plants being all of the choicest descriptions of flowering shrubs and rare evergreens, whilst round the boundaries are fig, pine, and other large and [illegible] trees, forming a complete shelter to the weaker and [illegible] delicate choice plants that beautify the grounds.
Around the residence and through the garden are walks laid down in patent concrete, as hard as stone itself.
There are also fern-house, croquet lawn, ornamental rockery, and rustic summer house.
STANMORE HEIGHTS, with regard to elevation, salubrity, convenience of access, is without doubt the most favoured spot on our railway suburbs.
The distance from the city is only two miles, and the Newtown Railway Station within five minutes' walk, with the further advantage of having the Newtown omnibuses passing along the main Stanmore Road, in front of the property, every half-hour during the day, and up to a late hour at night.
This delightful and deservedly attractive property occupies the most elevated point of this charming suburb, and needs only to be inspected to be thoroughly appreciated.

CARDS to view may be obtained on application at the Rooms.

The extensive and beautifully situated FREEHOLD ESTATE, called BEACONSVILLE,
containing about 40 acres, subdivided into
THIRTY-NINE CHOICE VILLA SITES, each containing upwards of HALF AN ACRE, with frontages to the NEW SOUTH HEAD ROAD, and several WIDE STREETS, all leading down to the BAY, and within a few minutes' walk of the PRESENT STEAMERS' Wharf.

TITLE UNEXCEPTIONABLE.

Full particulars may be obtained from W. G. PENNINGTON, Esq., Elizabeth-street, Solicitor to the Estate.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions, as above mentioned, to sell by public auction,

ON THE GROUND,
On SATURDAY, 14th April,
at 3 o'clock in the afternoon,
The above VALUABLE FREEHOLD PROPERTY.

The BEACONSVILLE ESTATE as a fee simple block of land occupies one of the most charming positions on the waters of the HARBOUR that can be found between the CITY and the extreme point of the SOUTH HEAD. Commencing on the west side of the NEW SOUTH ROAD, nearly opposite the LIGHTHOUSE, it extends along that road to the Government Road leading to the WATERS of

WATSON'S BAY,
and the proposed site of the
NEW PIER TO BE ERECTED BY GOVERNMENT.

On the opposite side of the road to this estate lies the lately-granted

which, under the direction of its able trustees, has within the last few months been greatly improved, and laid out in judiciously-selected walks and pleasant places for picnic parties without destroying the rugged—and in many parts romantic—scenery, which, even in its wild state, has made the noted GAP and its vicinity the favourite resort of our holiday-loving public for long years past.

BEACONSVILLE is naturally formed into well-marked terraces, its highest point being on the South Head Road, adjoining the South Head Hotel, from whence, by terrace after terrace, it gradually descends to the bay, as previously described. Advantage has been taken of these natural features of the land, and in laying out the present subdivision it has been so arranged that each allotment has a choice site for the erection of a villa, or for terraces of houses with ample ground front and back for garden purposes; each terrace enjoys its peculiar advantages, the highest commanding one of the most delightful of the Harbour views, looking citywards, that can be obtained, while the lower parts, though equally beautifully situated, but with less extensive view, are snugly sheltered from the strong southerly and south-east winds. Altogether, this estate can hardly be surpassed for the benefits it enjoys from its delightful position, and its easy access to the city, being only little more than half an hour's drive by the most favourite road out of Sydney, and having the Watson's Bay Steamers plying between it and Circular Quay several times a day.

Divided from BEACONSVILLE by the South Head Road only, are the EPISCOPALIAN and ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCHES, the National School, and other buildings, principally erected of stone obtained from the Estate upon which there are several valuable quarries.

The subdivision comprises LOTS 30, 31, 32, 42, 43, 43A, and 44, each containing areas varying from half to one acre with frontages to the NEW SOUTH HEAD ROAD.

LOTS 22, 27, 27A, 28, 31, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, and 38 have frontages to RUSSELL-STREET.

LOTS 39 to 41, to DERBY-STREET.

LOTS 44 and 44A, to SALISBURY-STREET, leading to the BEACH.

LOTS 45, 45A, 46, 47, 47A, to GLADSTONE-STREET.

LOT 49 contains 1 acre 1 rood and 25 perches, fronting GLADSTONE and PALMERSTON STREETS, and the BAY. It has a stream of fresh water running through it, and the soil is well adapted for gardens.

The other allotments, each of large size, have good frontages to PALMERSTON and CAMBRIDGE STREETS.

⁂ LOT 46 contains an area of 1 acre and 30 perches, and on it is erected a verandah weatherboard Cottage, containing four rooms.

A PLAN of the estate is now ready for inspection at the Rooms, where LITHOGRAPHS may also be obtained. The land is plainly marked out by Mr. Surveyor Brownrigg, and, with the aid of a lithograph, the boundaries of each lot may be easily found.

⁂ The steamer
SWANSEA
has been engaged to carry intending purchasers to and from Watson's Bay on the day of sale, and will start from the Watson's Bay Wharf, CIRCULAR QUAY, at 2 o'clock, and return after conclusion of the sale.

FREE TICKETS for the trip there and back may be obtained on application at the Rooms.

TERMS LIBERAL.—One-third cash, and the balance by promissory notes, extending over three years, with interest added at 6 per cent. per annum.

BY ORDER of the ADMINISTRATRIX of the ESTATE of the late Mr. DANIEL MONGAN.

NEW HOUSES, PARRAMATTA JUNCTION,

FAITHFULLY-BUILT AND TASTEFULLY FINISHED.

BOWDEN and MILLS will sell by auction at the Land Sale Rooms, 154, Pitt-street, on THURSDAY, the 12th April, at half-past 11 o'clock,

Two 2-storied houses, built of bricks on stone foundations, on a block of land near the Junction, immediately opposite the orchard and now residence of Mr. J. G. Lackey, with frontage to Railway-street of 122 feet 6 inches, and to Daniel-street of 266 feet. Each house contains 5 rooms, hall, kitchen, washhouse, and pantry; verandah and balconies in front.

A large underground tank for water, cemented.

PARRAMATTA PARK.

SPLENDID BUILDING SITE, FRONTING THE PARK, BETWEEN PARK LODGE, the RESIDENCE of Mr. ELLISON and the NEWLY-ERECTED RESIDENCE of Mrs. C. OAKES.

☞ The only available lot in this choice locality, 90 feet x 330.

BOWDEN and MILLS have received instructions to sell by auction, at their Rooms, 154, Pitt-street, on THURSDAY, 12th April, at 11.30 o'clock,

A very choice building site, having 90 feet frontage to the Park, and running back 330 feet to good street, fronting that street 90 feet.

This allotment is without exception the finest building site in the Domain; the views are magnificent, extending over the surrounding country for many miles; the light at the South Head can be seen distinctly from the land; and this spot is the position used by the military authorities for practising the night signals to and from Waverley heights.

THE WHOLE IS FENCED.

50 ALLOTMENTS,

AVERAGING 100 FEET by 300 FEET,
with frontages to the RAILWAY LINE and DOG TRAP ROAD, near the Parramatta Junction,
known as BROOKVALE.

BOWDEN and MILLS have received instructions to sell by auction, on the ground, THIS DAY, 7th April, at 3.30 p.m.,

The whole of the above, well laid out and choice suburban building allotments, twenty minutes' walk from Parramatta Junction Railway Station, and four or five minutes' walk from the platform sanctioned and about to be erected and called the Smithfield Platform. The frontages to the Dog Trap Road and Railway are 73 feet by a depth of 200 feet; those to Lansdown-street, 100 feet by 294 feet. This street, a chain wide, cleared and stumped, connects the Dog Trap Road with the Railway, and more eligible villa sites cannot well be imagined; elevated and healthy position, good land, size sufficient for garden and paddock, and abundance of good water, the proprietor having reserved the water for the sole use of the purchasers. In the driest seasons this water was never known to fail; there was abundance during this and the last summer, although drawn largely on by the neighbours around.

As it is now intended to lay a double line of rails to Liverpool, making it a suburban station with more frequent trains, the prospective value of this land is very great.

Lithographic plans of subdivision will be ready in a day or two.

TITLE, TORRENS' ACT.

REFRESHMENTS PROVIDED, and FREE RAILWAY TICKETS.

TERMS.—20 per cent. cash, the balance in four equal payments by promissory notes, at 3, 6, 9, and 12 months', without interest. Transfers will be signed and handed over to purchasers on payment of the promissory notes, saving all expense of mortgage, and purchasers can at any time during the currency of the notes pay them, or any of them off, receiving a rebate at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum, and receive their transfer.

Intending purchasers are invited to view the land prior to the sale.

ROSENEATH, PARRAMATTA, FINE FAMILY RESIDENCE,
and large BLOCK OF LAND, facing the Park, having 818 feet frontage to O'Connell-street
83 feet frontage to Ross-street
82 feet frontage to Grose-street.

15 minutes' walk from the Station.

BOWDEN and MILLS have received instructions to sell by auction, at the Land Sale Rooms, 154, Pitt-street, on THURSDAY, 12th April, at 11.30 prompt,

A good family residence, in Parramatta, built of brick, all walls 14 inches; containing—on the ground floor, 3 rooms 25½ feet x 15 feet, 2 rooms 12½ feet x 14 feet, hall and passage 7½ feet wide; upstairs are 3 good large attic rooms.

A wide colonnade verandah on three sides, paved yard, detached kitchen, laundry, and storeroom; large supply of good water from underground tank and from a good well, both fitted with pumps.

Stable and coachhouse of weatherboard.

This property being opposite the Northern Park gate enables the occupant to keep horses and cows in the Park at a trifling expense.

TITLE GOOD. TERMS EASY.

NEWTOWN, CLOSE TO RAILWAY STATION.

A newly erected SUBSTANTIAL HOUSE, known as FAIRVIEW HOUSE, at present occupied by A. REA, Esq., at a rental of £80 per annum.

The House is two-storied, built of compressed bricks, on stone foundation, and slated roof.

BOWDEN and MILLS have received instructions to sell by auction, at the Land Sales Rooms, 154, Pitt-street, on THURSDAY, 12th April, at 11.30 prompt, FAIRVIEW HOUSE, a good family residence, built on an allotment of land having 36 feet frontage to Charles-street, by a depth of 100 feet, between the Enmore-road and the station.

The house contains 7 rooms, wide passages, kitchen, and pantry; balconies and verandahs front and back; good underground tank, fitted with pump.

The rapidly increasing value of property in this locality will make this a first-rate investment. The position is very healthy and cheerful, and being so close to the Newtown station, if not occupied by the owner, would always command a good tenant, and fair rental.

Torrens' Act Title. Terms very easy.

In the Insolvent Estate of Mr. J. J. FENNELL.

COTTAGE, ORCHARD, and LAND,
21 Acres,
CONCORD,
PARRAMATTA RIVER.

Liberal Terms.
Title under Torrens's Act.

W. PRITCHARD has been favoured with instructions from Mr. Rowe, to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, 281, George-street, opposite Hunter-street, on THURSDAY, the 19th April, at 11 o'clock,

All that piece and parcel of land containing 21 acres, more or less, situate at Concord, Parramatta River, upon which are erected a 4-roomed verandah cottage, kitchen, stable, piggery, under-ground tank capable of containing 12,000 gallons water. It has a frontage to the Parramatta River, and is bounded on the north-east and south-east by Government roads, and surrounded by the properties of Messrs. Moore, Hiles, Pope, and others. About 9 acres are planted with various descriptions of choice fruit trees, consisting of orange, apple, pear, peach, apricot, &c., &c., and the rest has been under cultivation, and produced splendid crops. It is situated about eight miles from Sydney, and about two miles from Burwood Station; consequently there is easy access to the city both by land and water.

This property is for bona-fide sale, and is worthy the attention of speculators and others. The present proprietor has realised a very comfortable income from the property, and his only reason for disposing of it is in consequence of a bereavement in his family.

Title under Torrens' Act.

Terms reasonable, viz.: 25 per cent. cash; the balance can remain for 6, 12, or 18 months, bearing 6 per cent. interest.

TO BUILDERS AND OTHERS.

BRISBANE-STREET,
OFF PARRAMATTA-STREET.

W. PRITCHARD has received instructions to sell by auction, at his Rooms, 281, George-street, opposite Hunter-street, on THURSDAY, 12th of April, at 11 o'clock,

An allotment of land, having a frontage of about 45 feet to Brisbane-street, by depths of 137 and 139 feet to the reserved land through which the new sewer runs.

The fact of a large amount of money having been expended in sewerage in this locality, and its situation being within a few feet of Parramatta-street, considerably enhances the value of this property.

Freehold title.
Terms at sale.

TO PROFESSIONAL GENTLEMEN and OTHERS DESIRING A HEALTHY SUBURBAN RESIDENCE.

MOST COMPACT SUBURBAN RURAL RESIDENCE AND ABOUT 4 ACRES OF LAND, ENFIELD,
within 25 minutes walk of the BURWOOD RAILWAY STATION,
in close proximity to the Residence of R. WYNN, Esq., Liverpool Road, and near the ENFIELD CHURCH.

The above property comprises about 4 acres of land, most of which has been tilled and cropped, upon which is erected a most substantial residence, replete with every convenience, and most artistically painted and decorated, containing on the ground floor four rooms about 13 feet 6 inches x 15 feet each (folding doors to two rooms), and lofty ceilings, spacious hall, wide verandahs all round, bathroom, kitchen, and pantry, with an ample supply of water laid on; and three upstair bedrooms.

☞ Three acres of this land has been cleared and cropped, and the remainder planted with shrubs, flowers, &c.

There is a good two-stall stable, coach-house, sheds, &c., and the land has 181 feet frontage to DEANE-STREET, by a depth of 900 feet to COOK'S RIVER, where there is constantly flowing a supply of fresh water.

Freehold Title.

W. PRITCHARD has received instructions from Alderman Green, Esq., to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, 281, George-street, opposite Hunter-street, on THURSDAY, the 12th of April, at 11 o'clock,

The above property.

⁂ This is an excellent opportunity for any one of moderate means requiring a comfortable country residence.

FIVE ALLOTMENTS OF LAND IN ONE OR MORE LOTS,
fronting Cook's River Road and CHURCH-STREET,
ST. PETER'S,
COOK'S RIVER.

W. PRITCHARD will sell by public auction, at his Rooms, 281, George-street, opposite Hunter-street, on THURSDAY, 12th April, at 11 o'clock sharp.

The above beautifully situated allotments. Lots 3 and 5 have a frontage of 90 feet 6 inches to Cook's River Road, by depths of 90 feet. Lots 2, 4, and 6 have a frontage of 143 feet 3 inches to Church-street, by a depth of 99 feet.

This property is situate on the main Cook's River Road, between St. Peter's Church and the residence of Mr. M'Kenzie, and commands a splendid view of Botany and the surrounding districts.

NORTH ANNANDALE ESTATE.
THE PROPERTY OF CAPTAIN ROBERT JOHNSTON, R.N.
EXTENSION OF THE METROPOLIS.
☞ ANNANDALE ESTATE.
ON THE ENVIRONS OF THE CITY OF SYDNEY, fronting the
GREAT WESTERN or PARRAMATTA ROAD, and extending from thence to JOHNSTON'S BAY, DARLING HARBOUR.

W. PRITCHARD has been favoured with instructions from Captain ROBERT JOHNSTON, R.N., with the responsibility of disposing of, by PRIVATE CONTRACT in ONE LINE, or by PUBLIC AUCTION as a SUBDIVISION,

All that portion of the FAR-FAMED and MAGNIFICENT

ANNANDALE ESTATE,
known as
ANNANDALE NORTH,
together with the
VALUABLE BUILDINGS
and other improvements erected thereon.

This SPLENDID ESTATE comprises about 320 ACRES, and is situated close to the CITY BOUNDARY, and bounded on the south by the GREAT WESTERN or PARRAMATTA ROAD; on the east by the ARISTOCRATIC suburbs of FOREST LODGE and GLEBE; on the north by the WATERS of JOHNSTON'S BAY, and on the west by the MUNICIPALITIES of LEICHHARDT and BALMAIN, and is the connecting link dividing the city from the Southern and Western suburbs.

This ENORMOUS ESTATE is UNEQUALLED for its ADVANTAGES, and is the only
UNOCCUPIED FREEHOLD LAND
of any extent OBTAINABLE near the rapidly-growing METROPOLIS, and in the ONLY DIRECTION the CITY can possibly extend.

The fact of about
TWO MILLIONS OF MONEY
having been expended in PUBLIC BUILDINGS to this ESTATE considerably enhances its value.

The position is all that could be desired, ELEVATED and HEALTHY,
commanding
PICTURESQUE AND CHARMING VIEWS, and enjoying from its ALTITUDE the INVIGORATING OCEAN BREEZES, tempered by distance, while at the same time it possesses such rare NATURAL FEATURES,
gently sloping on the one side to JOHNSTON'S CREEK, and on the other to WHITE'S CREEK, and thence into JOHNSTON'S BAY; that it is capable of the most PERFECT DRAINAGE IN EVERY PART, a great DESIDERATUM in purchasing land for BUILDING PURPOSES.

☞ The ESTATE being of such COLLOSSAL PROPORTIONS, the AUCTIONEER is in a position to make EXCEEDINGLY LIBERAL TERMS to meet the CONVENIENCE of speculative purchasers.

⁂ It is a recognised fact in HISTORY, both in this and other COLONIES, that immediately PROPERTY changes hands and IMPROVEMENTS are created, that the VALUE is instantaneously DOUBLED or TREBLED.

It is the great COMPLAINT and OBSERVATION of every thinking man that the SUBDIVISIONS of the CITY and SUBURBS are only to be compared to spiders' webbs, so narrow and irregular are the streets, (an error which can be avoided in this subdivision), consequently this ESTATE affords an UNPARALLELED opportunity for BUILDING AND INVESTMENT SOCIETIES, or the formation of a NEW COMPANY to build up a MODEL TOWNSHIP,
or to SUB-DIVIDE it and DISPOSE of it with such RESTRICTIONS as will command the CONFIDENCE of purchasers, and be a GUARANTEE that when they invest their CAPITAL in allotments of LAND for the purpose of BUILDING residences for themselves and families, they will not be annoyed by having any buildings adjoining that would depreciate their property.

There is an abundance of FIRST-CLASS STONE for BUILDING purposes on the ESTATE, and, as there is a considerable extent of DEEP WATER FRONTAGE, building materials can be landed on the property by ROAD or WATER.

The Auctioneer from his keen observation and experience unhesitatingly asserts that there has not been any building or investment society or banking institution established in New South Wales that will ensure such a handsome return for outlay as the purchase of the above property for building purposes.

☞ The estate will be open for private sale until TUESDAY, the 1st of May, when if not disposed of in one lot, the Auctioneer will proceed at once to subdivide it and dispose of it by public auction.

and together with the right of brand

These runs are situated on the head waters of the Gyrah and Mitchell Rivers, about half way between Armidale and Glen Innes. They embrace a large area of black soil, open ridges and flats, richly grassed, and are permanently watered throughout by numerous springs and creeks and by some fine lagoons. The carrying capabilities of these runs are estimated at fully 10,000 head of cattle in any season.

These runs have each got a complete homestead, with all necessary out-buildings erected on them, together with stock-yards, &c., &c., and about 30 miles of substantial fencing enclose and subdivide a large area of country.

The cattle are quiet and well-bred. They are Herefords and Devons; and, as Mr. Bagot is disposing of his whole herd, he includes in the sale all his imported stock and their increase, now numbering about 22 head, besides his pure-bred herd. The greatest attention has for many years been paid to the breeding and working of the cattle, and no expense has been spared in introducing the best and most fashionable blood procurable in the colony and from England.

The herd has been recently counted, and is estimated to consist of about

2200	breeding cows, including 500 broken-in milkers
1000	marketable bullocks
800	heifers, about 3 years old
3000	mixed sexes, under 3 years
40	bulls.

All more or less.

SECOND ANNUAL SALE.

WINE.

UNRESERVED SALE of
36,000 GALLONS PURE DALWOOD WINES.

GRIFFITHS and WEAVER have received instructions from Mr. John Wyndham, of Dalwood, to sell by public auction, on WEDNESDAY, May 2, 1877, at the cellars,

DALWOOD,
on the Hunter River,
The whole of his stock of matured wines,
about 36,000 gallons,
of the choicest vintages, the whole of which are all thoroughly ripe, and fit for immediate use and bottling.

The wines to be sold are all of the 1874-5 and older vintages, and comprise both Red and White fine Dalwoods, so long and favourably known to the trade and the public, as

- Fine Dalwood Red (Hermitage), gold label
- Fine Dalwood Red (Burgundy), gold label
- No. 2 Dalwood Red, bronze label
- Fine Dalwood White (Pineau), gold label
- Fine Dalwood White (Reisling), gold label
- No. 2 Dalwood White (Shiraz), bronze medal.

The whole of the above will be offered for unreserved sale on very easy and favourable terms, and will be sold in lots of about 120 gallons each.

Delivery of each lot will be given at the Branxton railway station, and, if required, arrangements will be made with purchasers to bottle and case the lots sold.

As Mr. Wyndham now confines his attention exclusively to the production and maturing of his wine, he has adopted the system of making an annual sale by auction, at his own cellars, of his matured produce in the bulk.

The wines now offered are those which would in the usual course be bottled for use in the ensuing twelve months.

The Auctioneers can with confidence affirm that no other wines in the colonies have obtained such high honours and distinction at Exhibitions, including the Silver Medal at Paris in 1867, which was awarded to the Dalwood Exhibits by the first wine experts in the world.

The attendance of the wine trade and consumers of the pure juice of the grape is solicited. Vehicles will be in attendance to convey intending purchasers from the Branxton Railway station to Dalwood (a distance of 4 miles) on the day of sale.

Luncheon will be provided on the ground.

Samples of the Dalwood wines can be obtained of all respectable storekeepers and hotelkeepers.

For samples of the lots to be sold, and for catalogues and further particulars, apply to

WESTERN SLOPES OF NEW ENGLAND.
A sound and well-grassed Station, with 9000 Sheep
1800 Cattle.
Estimated grazing capabilities, 20,000 sheep and 3000 cattle.

P. N. TREBECK has received instructions to offer for private sale a very compact and STEADILY-PAYING Station, 80 miles from the railway at Tamworth, with the above number of well-bred Stock.

Moderate capitalists, seeking for a SAFE and REMUNERATIVE INVESTMENT in a district noted for its enjoyable climate, are invited to inspect this Station and Stock. Terms very liberal.

Particulars may be ascertained from
P. N. TREBECK,
Stock and Station Agent.
Squatters' Exchange, Sydney.

FOR ABSOLUTE SALE.

In the Unsettled District of Darling Downs.

THE INGLESTON STATION, comprising 172 square miles of first-class country, with 8500 Sheep.

Grazing capabilities, 30,000 Sheep.

TERMS, LIBERAL.

P. N. TREBECK is instructed by Samuel Brown, Esq., to sell by auction, at his Rooms, Squatters' Exchange, George-street, Sydney, on THURSDAY, 3rd May, at 11 o'clock,

The well-known Station, called INGLESTON, consisting of the following blocks:—

Upper Wongle Wongle,	Cooroora,
Lower Wongle Wongle,	West Cooroora

held under lease from the Queensland Government for 21 years from 1860.

The run is well grassed and healthy for Stock, and abundantly watered throughout by the Wongle, Darr, and Parrie Moolan Creeks.

The sheep consist of 8500, more or less, bred with great care under the personal supervision of the proprietor.

20 head of milkers, 10 horses, plant, stores, &c., &c., to be taken at a valuation.

The improvements consist of a comfortable shingled cottage, woolshed, paddocks, stockyards, and all requisite appliances for working a much larger number of sheep.

☞ Ingleston is 125 miles from Dalby, and will, in a few months, be only 60 miles from the railway line to Roma. The country is sound and extremely healthy for sheep, and is admitted to be by far the best run in the district.

It is not one-third stocked, and being for positive sale, moderate capitalists in search of a profitable investment are invited by the Proprietor to inspect the run and the stock.

All other particulars may be obtained from
P. N. TREBECK,
Stock and Station Agent.

FREEHOLDS IN THE TOWNSHIP OF LITHGOW.

IMPORTANT TO ALL in search of IMPROVING PROPERTIES and GENUINE INVESTMENTS.

Sale of FREEHOLD ALLOTMENTS by public auction in the TOWNSHIP OF LITHGOW,
ON THE GROUND, WEDNESDAY, 11th APRIL.

J. F. CLEMENTS has received instructions from the Lithgow Valley Colliery Company (limited) to sell by public auction, on the ground, on WEDNESDAY, 11th April, 1877, at 1 o'clock, 62 FREEHOLD ALLOTMENTS IN THE TOWNSHIP OF LITHGOW.

It is almost impossible to convey to those who are unacquainted with the locality an adequate conception of the wealth which nature has lavished upon Lithgow Valley. Seams upon seams of coal discover themselves in the rocky precipices of the surrounding mountains, and give assurance of supplies for ages to come, while the seam now being worked is nearly eleven feet thick, and admitted to produce one of the best fuels yet discovered in New South Wales. Deposits of iron ore crop out in all directions. Immense beds of fire-clay lie close to the surface, and other deposits include clays of almost every description or quality, suitable either for the manufacture of common bricks and pottery, or the production of the highest efforts of art in terra cotta, china, and porcelain.

In its own resources the valley possesses almost boundless wealth; but in addition, the fact must not be overlooked, that Lithgow lies at the very threshold of the vast Western district, which teems with every mineral deposit known to civilized man, and which deposits must depend upon the coal of Lithgow Valley to convert them into marketable commodities, or to give them a proper commercial value.

Four collieries, two copper smelting works (each having many furnaces), a very large iron smelting and rolling plant, and extensive brick, tile, and terra-cotta works are already in active operation; while, shortly, Mr. Mort (whose plant and buildings are all but complete) will start his gigantic scheme for the supply of fresh meat to both the old world and the new. In all quarters a scene of industry presents itself too difficult to describe, and which can only properly be appreciated by visiting the spot. As this cannot fail to prove a journey both of pleasure and profit, intending purchasers are particularly requested to take a trip of inspection and form their own conclusions.

The fact that in this first sale of allotments it has been determined to part with the freeholds, is a very important feature to be dwelt upon, as nothing but leaseholds for very limited periods (and very few even then in eligible positions) can be obtained of other landowners.

ANOTHER IMPORTANT FEATURE IS THAT CONVEYANCES WILL BE GIVEN TO PURCHASERS FREE OF COST.

The township has been properly surveyed, and every allotment is pegged out and plainly marked.

TERMS:

25 per cent. cash deposit, the balance on completion of purchase. Purchasers, however, may exercise the option at the sale of paying the difference between 25 per cent. and one-third of the purchase money in cash, and giving promissory notes, dated from the day of sale for the remaining two-thirds at 6 and 12 months, with interest added at 6 per cent. per annum, the same being secured by the deposit of the conveyance and equitable memorandum of deposit.

Lithographed plans are now ready for distribution, and may be had at the Lithgow Valley Colliery, Lithgow; Mr. Goll, Bathurst; Mr. Wilton, 305, George-street, Sydney; or of the undersigned.

LUNCHEON PROVIDED ON THE GROUND.

THE EXHIBITION IS NOW READY at the ROYAL FURNISHING ARCADE, and in addition to what may be termed the valuable and attractive STANDARD STOCK, a desirable selection of Furniture from 70 cases, just arrived from London, has been purchased from the consignee under English invoice cost price, consisting of Drawing-room Suites, from £17 10s to £26, &c.; Dining-room Suites, covered leather, £22 10s, £25, £35, &c.; Oval, Loo, and Occasional Tables, plain and inlaid; Music Canterburies, Whatnots, Marble Washstands, pairs of Bedroom Toilets, Fancy Chairs, beautiful and inexpensive Marble Top Inlaid Walnut Sideboards, with plate glass back and doors. Footstools, Hassocks, Ladies' Worktables, Music Stools, Iron Bedsteads, of all sizes: Solid and Tubular four-post and Half-tester, Marble Washstands, pair of Toilets, commencing at £6 15s the pair; Marble Slab Toilet Glasses, fine large Wardrobes and other substantial Furniture. Also some beautiful Papier Maché Goods, fine Glassware, Parisian Lustres, Bohemian Ornaments, English Dinner Services, Breakfast and Tea Services, 400 cases of American Chairs, comprising all the favourite shapes, and an immense variety of other things which cannot be here enumerated. These goods, through not being imported direct, have been purchased at unusually low prices, the loss, as before stated, falling upon those home-people who used bad judgment in forcing goods upon our market. These articles are now ready

FOR THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE.

CLARKE'S
WORLD-FAMED BLOOD MIXTURE.
Trade Mark—"Blood Mixture."
THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER AND RESTORER, for cleansing and clearing the blood from all impurities, cannot be too highly recommended.

For Scrofula, Scurvy, Skin Diseases, and Sores of all kinds, it is a never-failing and permanent cure.

It Cures old Sores, Cures Ulcerated Sores on the Neck, Cures Ulcerated Sore Legs, Cures Blackheads, or Pimples on the Face, Cures Scurvy Sores, Cures Cancerous Ulcers, Cures Blood and Skin Diseases, Cures Glandular Swellings, Clears the Blood from all impure matter, from whatever cause arising.

As this mixture is pleasant to the taste, and warranted free from anything injurious to the most delicate constitution of either sex, the proprietor solicits sufferers to give it a trial to test its value.

THE BLOOD being the source from which our systems are built-up, and from which we derive our mental as well as physical capabilities, it is important that it should be kept pure. If it contains vile festering poisons all organic functions are weakened thereby; settling upon important organs, as the lungs, liver, or kidneys, the effects most disastrous. Hence it behoves every one to keep their blood in a perfectly healthy condition; and more especially does this apply at this particular season of the year. No matter what the exciting cause may be, the real cause of a large proportion of all diseases is bad blood.

CURE OF RHEUMATIC GOUT.
July 12, 1876.

Mr. John Walton, of Dogdike, near Boston, writes: "I am 64 years of age, and have just been cured by Clarke's world-famed Blood Mixture of a dreadful attack of rheumatic gout, which had confined me to my bed for eighteen weeks. My family had quite given up all hope of my recovery. I had the best of advice before I was induced to try your wonderful medium. You are welcome to publish the cure."

CURE OF A BAD LEG.
"5, Chester Bridge, Crewe, June 12, 1876.

"Sir,—I have received the following from one of my numerous customers for your justly-celebrated 'Blood Mixture.' You are at liberty to publish it.—Yours, truly,
"E. BOOTH, Chemist.

"To Mr. F. J. Clarke
'3, Liverpool-terrace, Crewe, June 10, 1876.

"'Mr. Booth.—Dear Sir,—I have for a long time suffered with a bad leg—the inflammation extending from the knee to the toes—which was rapidly breaking up my constitution. I was off work 18 weeks, and tried several of the most largely advertised remedies, and got worse under their influence. As a last resort I obtained from you a small bottle of "Clarke's Blood Mixture," and experienced so much relief from it that I persevered, and seven (7) small bottles cured me. I have recommended it to several of my friends, who are now improving rapidly under its use.—Yours truly,
"'HENRY DAVIES, Engine-fitter, Crewe Works.'"

EXTRAORDINARY CURE OF SKIN DISEASE.
"Crane-street, Chichester, February 14, 1876.

"Sir,—Having been cured by your Blood Mixture of a very painful skin disease, I think it right that you should be informed of the case for the benefit of others. For the last eighteen months my hands, arms, and face have been in a dreadful state—so much so that the pain kept me from sleeping at night or working by day. I was for six months an out-patient at an infirmary here, and have had the attendance of other medical gentlemen in the town, besides taking and using a great number of medicines; but nothing did me the least good. In fact, I was told at the infirmary that nothing more could be done for me. I was quite downhearted, and quite despaired of being even relieved, much less cured, until I was advised by Mr. Gambling, chemist, Chichester, to try your Blood Mixture, and a lady bought me a large bottle, and before I had finished it, I am thankful to say, I was quite cured, and my health is better now than it has been for years.—I remain, Sir, your obedient servant,
"CAROLINE SIMS."

CURE OF DROPSY.
"Gomersal, Leeds, September 4.

"Dear Sir,—This is to certify that two 11s bottles of Clarke's Blood Mixture cured my wife when three eminent doctors were powerless.

"Her complaint was dropsy, and she had been ill nearly ten years. You are at liberty to publish this if you please.—Yours truly,
"JOHN COX."

WONDERFUL CURE OF ULCERATED SORE LEGS OF 18 YEARS' STANDING.

Messrs. C. Mumby and Company, Pharmaceutical Chemists, Gosport, writes as follows:—

"Sir,—We have received the enclosed testimonial, and have much pleasure in forwarding it to you. As he obtained the medicine from us, we can vouch for the truth of his statement."

"27th February, 1875.

"I, Charles Luker, keeper of the Royal Engineers' Office at Gosport, having had ulcerated sore legs for the last 18 years, which broke out while stationed at the Cape of [illegible] in the way of patent medicines I could hear of, and have had the best advice, both in Government and private hospitals, but obtained no permanent relief; on hearing, three months ago, of your medicines, I was induced to try them, and, wonderful to relate, after having taken one large bottle of Blood Mixture, and applied two 4s 6d pots of your Miraculous Salve, my legs are perfectly healed.

"You are at perfect liberty to make what use you like of this, as I think all who suffer from similar diseases should try the same.
"CHAS. LUKER, "late Sergeant R. Engineers.
"Witness,—W. J. Sparrow.
"To Mr. F. J. Clarke, Lincoln."

SKIN DISEASES, eruptions, blotches, spots, pimples, pustules, boils, carbuncles, ringworms, scald heads, sore eyes, erysipelas, itch, scurfs, discolourations of the skin, humours and diseases of the skin of whatever name or nature, are literally carried out of the system in a short time by the use of this world-famed medicine.

IMPORTANT ADVICE TO ALL.—Cleanse the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

CLARKE'S WORLD-FAMED BLOOD MIXTURE is sold in bottles, 2s 6d each, and in cases containing six times the quantity, 11s each—sufficient to effect a permanent cure in the great majority of long-standing cases.

BY ALL CHEMISTS and PATENT MEDICINE VENDORS throughout the world, or sent to any address on receipt of 30 or 132 stamps, by the Proprietor,

F. J. CLARKE, Chemist,
Apothecaries' Hall, Lincoln.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. PAGE WOOD stated publicly in Court that Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE was undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne, that the whole story of the defendant Freeman was deliberately untrue, and he regretted to say it had been sworn to.—TIMES, July 13, 1864.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.—The Right Hon. Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians and J. T. Davenport that he had received information to the effect that the only remedy of any service in cholera was Chlorodyne.—See LANCET, December 31, 1864.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne "is prescribed by scores of orthodox practitioners. Of course, it would not be thus singularly popular did it not 'supply a want and fill a place.'"—MEDICAL TIMES, January 12, 1866.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne is the best and most certain remedy in coughs, colds, asthma, consumption, neuralgia, rheumatism, &c.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne is a certain cure in cholera, dysentery, diarrhœa, colics, &c.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.—Caution.—None genuine without the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne" on the Government stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle. Sole manufacturer, J. T. Davenport, 33, Great Russell-street, Bloomsbury, London. The immense demand enable the proprietor to reduce the price; it is now sold in bottles, at 1s 1½d, 2s 9d, 4s 6d, and 11s, containing double quantity hitherto.

HOCKIN'S IMPROVED PATENT SEIDLITZ POWDER, for immediately producing Seidlitz Water without the slightest trouble.

It differs from the Seidlitz Powders usually sold, in having all the ingredients in one bottle, is quite TASTELESS, and may be taken by PERSONS OF ALL AGES as a COOLING BEVERAGE, MILD APERIENT, or BRISK PURGATIVE, according to dose. Its extensive use during nearly half a century proves its superiority over all other Purgative Salines, and the fact that the Powder retains its properties for any number of years, if the bottle is kept corked, renders it an indispensable necessity to every family, traveller, or emigrant.

TESTIMONIAL.
12, Norton-street, Surry Hills, Sydney,
August 8, 1869.
Messrs. MYERS and SOLOMON,

GENTLEMEN,—I have for six years suffered from ulcerated lungs, difficulty of breathing, and spitting of blood, and have not been able to do any work the last three years. I could scarcely get about at times, and had to keep my bed for weeks together; I have been reduced to skin and bone through this distressing complaint. I have tried almost everything, but to no avail. Saw your advertisement of Lingard's Cough Linctus; got a small bottle, gave me instant relief. I have now taken four bottles, one each week, and, by God's blessing, I am now getting stronger every week, breathe easier, can eat hearty, and sleep well, and shal continue to take it, as I find it puts new life into me.

Yours, truly,
JOHN ROBERTS.
